THE DECATUR DAILY REVIEW

FORTY-FIFTH YEAR—NO. 102. DECATUR, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1924. 24 PAGES—PRICE THREE CENTS

Official Canvass To Decide Deneen, M'Cormick Race

Former Governor Holds Lead; Charges Hurled Between Rival Camps; Small Has Over 50,000 Lead.

Chicago, April 11.—United States Senatorial, 5,699 out of 5,744 precincts in the state:

Deneen, 353,919; McCormick, 349,656. Plurality, 4,263.

Division—Downstate, 3,344: Deneen, 184,493; McCormick, 188,208. Cook county (Chicago), 2,355 precincts: Deneen, 169,425; McCormick, 161,448.

These returns present complete and rechecked figures in 90 of the 101 counties, five complete, but unchecked counties and six counties incomplete.

Thirty-two of the unreported precincts are in six counties downstate. Thirteen precincts are still out in Cook county.

Chicago, April 11.(AP)The official canvass of votes cast in the Illinois primary Tuesday will be necessary to determine whether former Governor C. S. Deneen or Senator Medill McCormick won the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator.

With only 54 of the state's 5,668 precincts missing the former governor had a 3,450 lead. The total vote was Deneen 353,742 and McCormick 350,292. Thirteen of the unreported precincts are in Cook county (Chicago) and 41 down state.

While the Deneen camp made the charge that an attempt was to be made to tamper with the belated returns, McCormick adherents questioned the returns from heavily supported Deneen precincts in Chicago and claimed that the final count would show McCormick a winner by between 5,000 and 10,000. Both mobilized forces of agents in counties where missing precincts are located.

Returns from some of the missing downstate precincts will not be available until after the meetings next week of the official county canvassing boards, the ballots having been sealed and turned over to county clerks without any reports on the result.

In one missing Chicago precinct the ballot box containing nearly 300 votes, was stolen and was thought to have been thrown into the river.

As slow returns were reported yesterday the tide turned in opposite directions several times. Deneen's lead at one time was cut to 1,029 votes and then rose to 4,040, later dropping back to 3,450.

President Coolidge's lead over Senator Hiram Johnson in the Republican presidential preference stood at over 118,000 when 5,116 precincts had reported.

Advantages of winners for state offices were merely increased as additional precincts reported. With 5,518 precincts reported Governor Small had 501,294 and Essington 447,681, a lead of 53,613 for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

William G. McAdoo, unopposed for the Democratic presidential preference, had 116,374 in 3,208 precincts.

ARE UNINSTRUCTED.

An uninstructed Democratic delegation at large was elected.

For the Democratic senatorial nomination, Col. A. A. Sprague had a lead of more than 90,000 over William McKinley, his nearest opponent, with over 2,000 precincts unheard from. Norman L. Jones, winner of the Democratic nomination for governor, with 2,000 precincts yet to report, had an advantage of more than 60,000 over Lee O'Neill Browne.

Hiram Will Not Desert "Crusade"

Washington, April 11—Declaring his purpose is to rid the Republican party of "corrupt and reactionary control," Senator Hiram Johnson, California, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, says in a statement published today that he is "neither discouraged nor dispairing."

He makes no specific mention of the reports that his campaign is to be curtailed.

UNHOLY ALLIANCE.

Senator Johnson's statement, issued after a number of conferences, with friends and supporters, asserts that he will "continue trying" to smash the "unholy alliance between crooked big business and crooked politics" so that the Republican party may be "revitalized" and "regenerated."

DEMOCRATS PLAN STATE PLATFORM

Chieftains Meet Saturday in Chicago.

Chicago, April 11.—With the primaries out of the way, a number of Democratic chieftains of Illinois are coming to Chicago tomorrow to confer on platform planks for the state convention at Springfield, Friday, when a platform will be adopted and candidates for University of Illinois trustees named.

REPARATIONS BODY O.K.'S DAWES PLAN

Debates Calling Germans for Hearing.

Paris, April 11—(AP)—The reparations commission today officially approved the report submitted to it by the expert committee on the German reparations question.

Paris, April 11—(AP)—Members of the reparation commission have made themselves fairly familiar with recommendations embodied in the Dawes report, although they have not finished study of it, are ready for their first exchange of impressions at the unofficial meeting today.

The first question to be decided is whether the Germans should be summoned for a hearing. After that the commission's attitude must be defined on the broader issues arising from the experts' conclusions.

By the time the meeting opens some of the delegates already will be in possession of the views of their respective governments.

PAPER'S CRITICISM.

Paris, April 11—"An exchange Soviet" is what the Paris Midi dubs the transfer council of five proposed by Brigadier General Dawes and his fellow reparations experts.

It declares the scheme is very interesting but also very disquieting because the president of the council "will be absolute dictator of European exchanges, endowed with power to grant or refuse the manna of credits to all the states creditors of Germany.

CARDINAL HAYES TO TAKE RESPITE

Rome, April 11—Cardinal Hayes left for San Remo to rest a week before returning to the United States.

GENUINE RUBENS SOLD DIRT CHEAP

Canvas, Worth Fortune, Is Found in Paris.

Paris, April 11—A Rubens valued at more than a million francs has been discovered among fifteen old canvases purchased for a few hundred francs by an antiquary at Roubaix, according to the Petit Parisien correspondent there.

The pictures were inherited by a local man who stowed them away and just recently sold them at a low price to M. Agre, antique dealer. Looking them over with an artist friend he was struck by a tiny picture, ten inches by seven which looked like a Rubens. They cleaned it and were astonished to find the signature "P. P. Rubens."

MARENGO KEEPS ON TRYING FOR SCHOOL

Marengo, April 11—The fourth attempt within three years to vote bonds for a new community high school has been started here and the petitions are being rapidly signed. Fist fights in public places, charges of night riding and in some instances lasting disagreements between members of the same families have resulted from the two previous attempts to vote the bonds, a difference of opinion concerning the location of the school having made the question a bitter one.

AIR RAIDERS KILL WOMEN

Honduran Aviators Raid Tegucigalpa; Non-Combatants Suffer.

Washington, April 11.—Air pilots of Honduras revolutionary forces have been raiding Tegucigalpa, the capital and have killed a number of women and children.

Four bombs were dropped near the grounds where members of the American landing force from the cruiser Milwaukee at Amapala were exercising, but dispatches to the navy department today from Rear Admiral Dayton made no mention of casualties among the American naval forces.

Rear Admiral Dayton said the aviators evidently had mistaken the American sailors for enemies. The report to the navy department said the army was to bomb the jail at Tegucigalpa but that the missiles landed on residences.

HUGHES OUTLINES GENTLEMEN'S PACT

Washington, April 11.—The famous "gentlemen's agreement" under which Japanese immigration into the United States was curtailed, has been reduced to concrete terms for the first time in an exchange of correspondence between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Hanihara.

The diplomatic exchange, calculated to clarify the issue over Japanese exclusion which has been raised in congress during discussion of the new immigration legislation was forwarded by Mr. Hughes today to Chairman Colt of the senate immigration committee.

M'CRAY JURY IS STILL UNDECIDED

Indianapolis, April 11.—The jury in the trial of Governor McCray, charged with embezzlement of state funds, unable to reach a verdict last night, resumed deliberations today.

The case was given to the jury at 2:20 p. m. Thursday and deliberations were in progress until 10:30 p. m.

8,000 STATIONS PHONE MERGER

Headquarters of New Company At Taylorville; $400,000 Stock Issue.

Mattoon, April 11.—A big telephone merger with 8,000 stations in Central Illinois affected, was consummated Friday by the filing of articles of incorporation for the Illinois Consolidated Telephone Company with the secretary of state in Springfield.

The petitioners are R. A. Lumpkin and the C. W. Thompson Company of Mattoon and O. M. Burgess of Pana. The directors include R. A. Lumpkin and C. M. Thompson of Mattoon, O. M. Burgess of Pana and Troy Long and E. A. Purcell of Taylorville.

TAYLORVILLE HEADQUARTERS.

An immediate issue of $400,000 common stock is authorized. The head offices of the company will be in Taylorville.

SADORUS BOY FALLS IN TROUGH; DROWNS

17 Months Old Babe Accident Victim.

Sadorus, Ill., April 11.—Kenneth Farley, 17 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Farley, was drowned late yesterday afternoon when he fell into a watering trough.

The child wandered away from the house and it was several hours later that the body was found.

WARDEN DISCOVERS TUNNEL IN PRISON

Philadelphia, April 11—An attempted jail delivery was frustrated today at the eastern state penitentiary by Deputy Warden Santee, who discovered a tunnel leading from a cell to within a few feet of the outer wall of the prison. The tunnel extended under the prison yard and probably would have been completed tonight when it is believed that an exodus of many convicts had been planned.

SEIZE $40,000 IN SPURIOUS MONEY

Bayport, N. Y., April 11.—Federal officers seized $40,000 in counterfeit $20 bills and arrested four men and two women.

Army Tanks Patrol Mine Warfare Zone

Kentucky Guardsmen Start Campaign Against Liquor Law Violators As Well As Labor Rioters.

Pineville, Ky., April 11.—Two army tanks from Covington today were occupying commanding positions on the property of the Liberty Coal and Coke company at Straight Creek, the scene of a week's warfare between soldiers and persons who would prevent the operation of the mine.

Heretofore guardsmen were exposed to the direct rifle fire while standing beside their posts at the machine guns.

GUARD MADE SAFE.

With the tanks in position the guardsmen can sit within with safety and command the entire situation.

Major J. K. Dillon is in charge of battalion headquarters. The tanks were brought here on a flat car.

START RUM ACTION.

Guardsmen have enlarged the scope of their activities and have begun a war on liquor law violators. The troops after a series of raids in the camp and in its vicinity returned with a quantity of moonshine.

The camp was quiet today.

DANVILLE HANGS NEGRO MURDERER

Confesses After Small Refuses Pardon.

Danville, Ill., April 11—George Barber, colored, 23, was hanged at the county jail here this morning at 9:04, for the murder of W. E. Mourer, a grocer, last November 26.

Elgin Watson also colored, Barber's accomplice, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Barber confessed yesterday that he fired the shot that killed Mourer, after word was received here that Governor Small had refused to interfere in his case.

OKLAHOMA ENTERS COOLIDGE CAMP

Oklahoma City, April 11—Endorsement of the candidacy of Calvin Coolidge was recorded at virtually all county Republican conventions held throughout the state yesterday. Many conventions favored an instructed delegation for the president.

The county delegates elected yesterday will choose the state's national delegation.

SIGNORA MARCONI SECURES DIVORCE

Rome—Signora Marconi granted a divorce from William Marconi, wireless inventor, married the Marquis Liborio Marignoli and resigned as lady in waiting to the queen.

SENATE PARTY LEADERS BUSY ON TAX SLATES

Main Controversy to Settle on Income Rates.

Washington, April 11.—Party leaders in the senate finance committee were busy today preparing reports on the tax reduction but which will be submitted tomorrow or Monday and will form the basis of the contest expected to begin next week on the floor.

The main controversy will center on the income tax rates.

The committee will resume consideration of the soldier bonus bill tomorrow with Republicans supporting the measure adopted by the house providing for 20 year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credit.

RACE TOWARD ACTION.

Washington, April 11—The senate and house raced today toward action on their respective immigration measures. The house met an hour earlier to resume consideration of the Johnson bill and the senate renewed discussion with a vote on the Japanese provision of its measure in prospect before adjournment.

Representative Longworth, Republican leader, served notice that the house will be kept in session tomorrow until a vote is reached.

STINNES, MONEY WIZARD, DIES

German Industrial Leader Victim of Disease Complications.

Berlin, April 11—(AP)—Germany's "strong man of industry" is gone with the passing of Hugo Stinnes and speculation is rife today as to the effect on the internal situation and in reparation settlement.

It was characteristic of him that even in the final hours he asked for the details of the Dawes report on reparations problem and expressed gratification at recommendations made by the experts.

SON TO CARRY ON.

Next to the loss of his leadership over the industrial group interest centers in the policy to be followed in his business interests.

The administration of these interests will devolve on his sons, Edmund and Hugo Jr., both of whom have been in close touch with their father's enterprises during the last five years.

THREE OPERATIONS.

Three major operations had been performed, the first about four weeks ago for gall stones, and it was owing to the impossibility of keeping the patient quiet, according to the surgeons, the complications arose, necessitating further operations, the last one on Sunday. It was also reported that pneumonia developed.

BOASTED OF FORTUNE.

Hugo Stinnes was spoken of in Continental Europe as the German who owned everything in sight, and from the peculiar pleasure he found in confiding the size of his fortune to all who would listen, the details of his vast industrial enterprises, and the extent of his mining, shipping and newspaper holdings were never left very much in doubt.

In addition to owning outright a score or more of the largest hotels in Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen, Stinnes shared control of the iron and coal industry of Germany with his friend August Thyssen and a few others, and occupied a dominating position in the entire inland navigation of that country. He also directed several big ocean shipping concerns, owned most of the potash deposits of Central Europe, and in 1920 was reported to have purchased 60 newspapers, as well as several paper mills and pulp factories.

KRUPP FORTUNE.

Before the war Frau Bertha Krupp was said to possess the largest personal fortune in Germany. She paid taxes on property worth nearly 300,000,000 gold marks. At that time Stinnes' fortune was estimated at 30,000,000 marks, which, according to competent calculations, increased during the war and the revolution to more than 1,000,000,000 marks.

Although Stinnes proved himself to be perhaps the greatest industrial organizer Germany ever produced, he was never graduated, so to speak, from the working class. He had the appearance and bearing of a worker, and could go about in the clothes of a foreman or a miner without attracting attention. He was once described as like a piece of coal wandering about among his own coal mines.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE.

His external appearance was devoid of pose, and he seemed heavy and solid. His massive head was set upon a stocky trunk. His black hair was cropped close, his face was pale and expansive; his nose was decidedly hooked, his eyes heavily underlined, and his beard as black as coal.

A German newspaper became popular over night by calling him the "Assyrian King."

STINNES' PASSION.

Novelties and toys were passion with Stinnes. He would be captivated in the street by the sight of a peddler's pack, and if he discovered a new kind of fountain pen or safety razor among the man's wares, his excitement was almost boundless.

Stinnes, like most men of action, was a person of few words except when asked to discuss his financial affairs, and then he was verbose to a degree that tried the patience of

DENY HUGE 1920 GIFTS

G. O. P. Finance Committee Chairman Answers Stories.

Washington, April 11.—Returning to its inquiry into possible oil companies' contributions to campaign funds the senate oil committee today sought information about a $3,000,000 loan made by the Chase National bank, New York, in 1919 to William B. Thompson, former chairman of the ways and means committee of the Republican national committee.

Declaring his client too ill to appear, W. Wallace, Jr., attorney for Thompson, testified that the $3,000,000 loan was secured by Sinclair Oil stock but had nothing to do with campaign funds. He said Thompson had no part in Republican financing until after the 1920 campaign and that the Chase bank loan was repaid in 1919.

CUT FREE IN 1921.

The lawyer read a telegram from Thompson saying he had been "wholly out of the Sinclair interests since 1921."

Wallace denied Thompson had borrowed large sums to wipe out the Republican national committee deficit after 1920. He testified concerning Thompson's transactions in Sinclair stock in 1922.

The committee called E. J. Costello, a Chicago newspaper man, once employed by the late Jake Hamon as publicity agent. The witness said he met Hamon at the Chicago convention and was told "it was all fixed" that Harding was to be nominated, that "Governor Coolidge was to be vice president" and Fall a member of the cabinet.

BE TAKEN CARE OF.

"What was Hamon to get out of this," asked Senator Walsh.

"He said he would be taken care of."

John Smith, a Paris, Texas, business man, testified Philip E. Baer, U. S. marshal for the eastern district of Texas, had told him of a talk with Hamon in which the latter said he was to be the secretary of the interior.

WHEELER AND BROOKHART.

Columbus, Ohio, April 11—Senators Wheeler and Brookhart of the Daugherty investigating committee arrived here this morning and left immediately for Washington Court House, by automobile.

H. M. Daugherty, former attorney general who came to Ohio on the same car with Senators Wheeler and Brookhart, left the party here. He was expected to drive to Washington Court House later.

STORM WARNING KEEPS U. S. GLOBE FLIERS AT SITKA

Cordova, Alaska, Next Goal of Air Pioneers.

Sitka, Alaska, April 11—(AP)—Warned of an approaching storm off the gulf of Alaska, four United States army aviators on a flight around the globe, were resting here today.

The aviators were scheduled to hop off today for a 475 mile jump to Cordova, Alaska, but Major F. L. Martin, commander, asserted no attempt would be made to continue the flight until conditions were favorable.

The elapsed time for the 300 mile flight from Prince Rupert, B. C., was four hours and twenty-one minutes. The time here is one hour later than at Prince Rupert.

'PHONE CALL EVERY 5 MIN. FOR DAY

Chicago, April 11.—What police declare to be a telephonic record was uncovered yesterday with the arrest of John T. Murray, 601 Diversey parkway, who admitted he had phoned Mrs. Lottie Tucker, 4883 Kenmore avenue, every five minutes for nearly twenty-four hours.

Mrs. Tucker, who caused Murray's arrest, said their relations during the last two years had been very friendly, but several days ago a quarrel caused her to issue an ultimatum—and that was that she would never talk to Murray again.

BRIGHTON BEACH HOTEL MUST GO

New York, April 11—The Brighton Beach hotel, famous haunt of leading sportsmen of a past generation, is to be replaced by a new $5,000,000 hotel and convention hall, according to plans made public today.

M'ADOO CARRIES FIGHT TO TEXAS

Oklahoma City, April 11—W. G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was in Texas today after a dash yesterday into Oklahoma delivering addresses at Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

President Tells Senate to Keep Within Rights

Coolidge Issues Message Bearing on Mellon's Protest Against "Over-Stepping of Authority."

Washington, April 11.—President Coolidge in a message to the senate today advised that body to maintain its "constitutional and legal rights" in conducting investigations.

The message, couched in direct language, was occasioned by the action of the senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau in employing Francis J. Heney of California, as special prosecutor at the instance and at the expense of Senator Couzens, Michigan, Republican member of the committee.

MELLON'S PROTEST.

The president supplemented his message with a letter from Secretary Mellon in which the treasury head declared that should "unnecessary interference" with the proper exercise of his duty be continued, "neither I nor any other man of character can longer take responsibility for the treasury."

Employment of Heney was declared by the president to be in conflict with law and a procedure likely to throw the government into disorder.

KEEP WITHIN LAW.

"It is time that we return to a government under and in accordance with the usual force of the law of the land," the president said. "the state of the union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

SHOULD CO-OPERATE.

"There exists, and always should exist, every possible co-operation between the executive departments and the senate. Whatever may be necessary for the information of the senate or any of its committees, in order better to enable them to perform their legislative or other constitutional functions ought always to be furnished willingly and expeditiously by any department.

"The executive branch has nothing that it would wish to conceal from any legitimate inquiry on the part of the senate. But it is recognized both by law and by custom that there is certain confidential information which it would be detrimental to the public service to reveal. Such information as can be disclosed, I shall always unhesitatingly direct to be laid before the senate. I recognize also that it is perfectly legitimate for the senate to indulge in political discussions and partisan criticism.

SOME OTHER MOTIVE.

"But the attack which is being made upon the treasury department goes beyond any of these legitimate requirements. Seemingly the request for a list of the companies in which the secretary of the treasury was alleged to be interested for the purpose of investigating their tax returns, must have been dictated by some other motive than a desire to secure information for the purpose of legislation. The adoption of the resolution referred to is apparently subject to the same criticism.

GUARANTEES BREAK DOWN.

"Under a procedure of this kind, the constitutional guarantees against unwarranted search and seizure breaks down, the prohibition against what amounts to a government charge of criminal action without the formal presentment of a grand jury is evaded, the rules of evidence which have been adopted for the protection of the innocence are ignored, the department becomes the victim of vague, unformulated and indefinite charges and instead of a government of law we have a government of lawlessness.

"Against the continuance of such a condition I enter my solemn protests and give notice that in my opinion the departments ought not to be required to participate in it. If it is to be continued, if the government is to be thrown into disorder by it, the responsibility for it must rest on those who are undertaking it. It is time that we return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land. The state of the union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

MELLON'S LETTER.

The letter of Secretary Mellon, addressed to the president under date of yesterday follows:

"On March 12, 1924, by senate resolution 168, the senate appointed a special committee to investigate the bureau of internal revenue and suggest corrective legislation. Senator Cousens was the moving spirit in the resolution.

"In urging the appointment of the committee his purpose was ostensibly to obtain information upon which to recommend to the senate constructive reforms in law and in administration. With such a purpose I am entirely in accord. From the line of investigation selected by Senator Cousens and by the atmosphere which he has seen fit to inject into the inquiry, it is now obvious that his sole purpose is to vent some personal grievances against me.

SOUGHT OUT INTEREST.

"All companies in which I have been interested have been sought out. I have aided in obtaining from them the waiver of their right to privacy and in the delivery of their income tax returns in complete detail to the committee. This investigation has disclosed that no company in which I have been interested has received any different or better treatment than any other tax payer.

"The inquiry so far as showing that, I favored my own interests has failed completely. Any constructive purpose of the committee has now been abandoned.

CARRIES RESOLUTION.

"At a meeting of the committee yesterday Senator Couzens carried a resolution, against the objection of the two Republican members, empowering F. J. Heney to assume charge of the investigation and to conduct the examination of witnesses with its understanding expressly stated in the resolution that neither the committee nor the government pay Heney's compensation.

"In effect, a private individual is authorized to investigate generally an executive department of the government. This individual is paid by, not the senate or its committee, but Senator Couzens alone.

CHARGE OF FINANCES.

"As secretary of the treasury I have charge of the finances of the nation. The treasury touches directly or indirectly every person and in the sound conduct of its business affects the industrial life of the United States. Already the present investigation has greatly enjoyed the efficiency of the income tax organizations and the sufferers is not the government but every tax payer. Attacks such as these seriously impair the morale of the sixty thousand employes of the department throughout the country.

"Government business cannot continue to be conducted under frequent interference by investigations of congress, entirely destructive in their character. If the interposition of private resources be permitted to interfere with the executive administration of the government, the machinery of the government will cease to function.

MELLON'S DUTY.

"I owe to you and to the people of the United States the duty to see that the treasury conduct efficiently and faithfully the great tasks continuously presented to it, that its integrity be preserved and that its future be insured.

"This has been my sole thought as head of this department. When through unnecessary interference, the proper exercise of this duty is rendered impossible I must advise you that neither I nor any other man of character can longer take responsibility for the treasury. Government by investigation is not government."

LIGHT SNOW IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 11.—A light snow fall here today and in northern Iowa and other sections of the northern plains with predictions of snow tonight or tomorrow in northwestern and midwestern states is attributed to a western storm moving eastward.

Rain or snow within 36 hours between the northern Rockies and lower Ohio valley is predicted. Little change in temperature is predicted.

ARCOLA MAN BURNED IN STUBBLE FIRE

Miscalculates Speed of Blaze.

Arcola, April 1—Romeo Hamilton, a well known young farmer, was painfully burned about the face and hands in a stubble fire which he had started to burn the dead grass and rubbish off a stubble field.

Starting the fire at one end of the field he went to the other end to plow a furrow across the field to check the fire and keep it out of the fence or adjoining field. He found, however that the fire traveled faster than he had calculated and was caught about the mid-way across the end of the field. Heading his team into it he drove through it and sustained painful burns, his face being scorched and blistered and his hair singed. His right hand was pretty badly burned.

Hazel Laughlin, an Arcola high school girl, is confined to her home northeast of Arcola, suffering from an attack of scarlet fever. Her case seems to be progressing favorably so far.

Mrs. H. Leckner went to Mattoon Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of her grandchild, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Vanhorn, born Tuesday. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon.

CLEARED $50.

The young people of the Baptist church, who produced the comedy, "The Old Maid's Club," Tuesday evening at the Arcola theater, cleared something over $50. The theater was well filled but the prices charged were small.

Next Thursday evening they will go to Hindsboro and give the show in the high school auditorium there. The same company and the same specialties will be given there as here, except that the "Tout Swete" orchestra will furnish the music instead of the high school orchestra.

Mrs. Mina Lyons, of this city, has been confined to her home for the last week as the result of a fall on a sidewalk at her home in which she sustained painful bruises.

B. & L. OFFICERS.

There was a meeting of the stockholders of the Arcola Building and Loan Association Monday evening at which B. Reinheimer and L. G. Eagle were elected directors for a term of three years. At the meeting of the directors of the Association the following officers were chosen.

President—B. Reinheimer.
Vice-president—J. C. Ludolph.
Treasurer—O. H. Woodworth.
Secretary—Arthur B. Dimond.
Attorney—Guy R. Jones.

ROBERT ROOT GUEST INNES STUDY CLASS

Painting By His Paris Teacher Is Shown.

Shelbyville, April 11.—Mrs. Paul Shortridge, who is conducting the Innes Study Class, gave her first lecture in the Woman's Club room of the Free Public Library here Wednesday night. Owing to the lack of suitable lighting only a few canvasses were shown. The hour was devoted to a study of the foundation and theory of color.

Much enthusiasm was shown in the work. The exhibition of pictures will be open to the public Friday and Saturday. The exhibition is to be given in the Woman's Club room at the Library and will be in the afternoon and evening.

One of the chief objects of the organization is to provide for a rotation of paintings in the schools. Robert M. Root was the guest of the class Tuesday evening, and Mrs. Shortridge presented a painting called "Morning Glories, which was made by Mr. Root's teacher while he was studying in Paris.

A Clean Cool Scalp

Parisian Sage Stops Itching, Keeps the Scalp Cool—Prevents Dandruff.

Almost everybody nowadays knows that Parisian Sage is guaranteed to remove every trace of dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, and stimulate new hair to grow.

But you should know more about this marvelous hair saver, grower and beautifier. You ought to know that it immediately destroys all odors that are bound to come from the excretions of the scalp, and in five minutes after an application, no matter how hot the weather, your head will feel cool and comfortable.

Everyone should have a bottle of Parisian Sage handy because it is such a pleasant and exhilarating hair treatment. Ladies like it because it's daintily perfumed, not sticky or greasy, and surely does make the hair beautiful, silky and abundant. Here's what a New York woman writes: "I have used Parisian Sage two weeks only, yet in that time find my hair has wonderfully increased in beauty, thickness and luxuriance, but what surprised me most was the disappearance of all dandruff."

A large bottle of Parisian Sage can be obtained from Decatur Drug Co., or at any good drug or toilet counter—it's not expensive.

FIGHT LIGHTS ON WEST DECATUR

TO PAVE FIFTH STREET

Board Postpones Action on Others.

Six improvement petitions were heard by the board of local improvements at the meeting Thursday afternoon, but in only two instances did the board pass a resolution in favor of the improvement. Property owners were there with a remonstrance for every improvement on the program. Mayor Elder was in St. Louis and Commissioner Harry Ruthrauff was confined to his home by illness, so the three remaining members of the board of local improvements decided that it would be best to have all of the council present when it came time for a final decision in some of the matters, so with one exception all numbers on the program were postponed.

MANY OBJECTORS PRESENT.

The meeting was held in the county court room, because there were more objectors in attendance than there was room for in the council chambers. After the first number on the program, however, most of the crowd left, or, rather, the board and the minority adjourned to the council rooms, leaving the majority still talking at a forty-mile clip in the court room.

Acting Mayor Arthur McNabb hammered the table with his gavel in vain. The women who had come to object to the ornamental lights on West Decatur street kept right on talking after that matter had been postponed to 2:30 o'clock next Thursday afternoon, so the board and the remainder of the audience went down stairs.

FIGHT AGAINST LIGHTS.

The remonstrance against the lights proposed for West Decatur street represented about 60 per cent of the property owners, said Attorney T. B. Jack, who was there to represent the objectors. County Treasurer B. F. Coffman, who started the petition for the improvement, said that misrepresentations had been made to some of the property owners in regard to the cost, and he asked that the city engineer state the estimated cost. The reply was that it would cost, according to the estimate, only $1.05 a front foot.

PAVE FIFTH STREET.

One improvement for which a resolution was passed was the paving of Fifth street from Wood to Eldorado street. There was a remonstrance from property owners, some of whose lots run the long way of the improvement. Commissioner Phil Mayser, who has 150 feet frontage, was in favor of the improvement, and Deputy Sheriff Ted Hill also spoke in favor of it.

The proposition to pave East avenue from Wood to William street was postponed till next Thursday afternoon, and the proposition to pave Second street from Wood to Eldorado street was postponed till next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

EAST AVENUE PAVING.

J. R. Doyle headed the remonstrance against paving East avenue. He declared that this improvement, with the paving of Wood street, would make his burden greater than he could carry. He figured that the two improvements would make his assessments something over $1,700.

Henry Bolz spoke in favor of the improvement and told of the difficulties encountered by the fire department in answering calls to that vicinity. He also submitted the official report of Assistant Chief Lowry to Chief Platt of the fire department in regard to the fire apparatus getting stuck in the mud on that street once last winter.

TO PUT IN WATER MAIN.

The petition for a water main in Leafland avenue from Water street to Broadway was attacked by property owners who already have city water. They were told that this fact would be taken into consideration in spreading the assessment roll and that they would not be assessed beyond the benefits they would derive. The resolution was adopted.

The petition to resurface North Water street from Division street to the Illinois Central railroad was met by a remonstrance representing 1,047 feet of the total frontage of 1,652 feet. The property owners declared that the pavement is not in such bad shape, that it is not an emergency proposition and that the pavement could be repaired and made to last for several years. They said that the present condition of the pavement was caused by the heavy wagons of a circus during a parade a few years ago. Commissioner Pitner suggested that the property owners get together and adopt a plan for repairing the asphalt on that street. Then the hearing was postponed until 2:30 o'clock next Friday afternoon.

SELECT NAME FOR NEW RADIO CLUB

Constitution and By-laws Are Adopted.

Selection of a name and adoption of constitution and by-laws took place at the meeting of the radio fans' club Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. The name for the club will be "The Radio Club of Decatur." The club will meet on the second Thursday of each month, at 7:30, in the Y. M. C. A. library. The charter will be kept open until after the next meeting, May 8, so that all who wish to join may become charter members.

JUNIOR SECTION.

All persons in Decatur and vicinity over eighteen years of age who are owners or operators of radio sets are eligible for membership in the club. Dues will be paid. Provision is made for a junior section of the club, to be composed of radio fans under eighteen years old. Both the junior high school radio clubs will be included in this section.

ILLINOIS MEN TO ASK TAX CUT

Chicago, April 11.—Actuated by the expressed approval of hundreds of manufacturers throughout the state, a committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association will leave for Washington within the next ten days to work for the adoption of the Mellon tax plan.

It was unanimously decided to back the adoption of the original Mellon plan.

It is held that a revival of industry followed presentation of Secretary Mellon's tax solution, and that a corresponding slump accompanied the success of the Longworth measure in the house.

MRS. P. F. GERMANN DIES FROM INJURIES

Had Received Fall in February.

Mrs. P. F. German, wife of Rev. P. F. Germann of 1721 N. Edward street, died at 4:30 a. m. Friday at the Decatur and Macon County hospital, from injuries received by a fall in her kitchen on the twenty-eighth day of February.

Mrs. Germann was born in Baltimore, Md., Feb. 20, 1851, a daughter of the Rev. Ernest G. W. and Amalia Vogel Keyl. Her maiden name was Emilie Caroline Keyl. Her father was one of the Saxon emigrants who in 1837 left the old Fatherland on account of religious intolerance and sought this country of religious liberty, settled down in Perry county, Mo., and became one of the founders of the Lutheran Missouri Synod.

She was married to Rev. P. F. Germann on May 12, 1874, at Monroe, Mich., and moved with him to Kansas, where he was a traveling preacher and missionary. She was a Christian woman and a devoted wife and shared with her husband all the joys and sorrows of a preacher's wife. She always took great interest in church work and as long as she had her health she was an able assistant to her husband. Since 1909, when she lost her only daughter in a tragic way, her health had been broken and she had been constantly under a doctor's care though it was the accident she suffered in February which brought about her death. In every charge which her husband held, she made and held scores of friends to whom the notice of her death will be a distinct shock.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Will F. Germann of Braggs, Okla., and Paul G. E. Germann of Chattanooga, Tenn., but who will now locate in Decatur; three grandchildren Charles William, Dorothy and Paul Jr., Germann, one brother, G. C. Keyl of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Maria Koerner and Mrs. Julia Glaeser of Brooklyn, N. Y.

THAW IS EXILE FROM GOTHAM

Still Fugitive from Justice; Rumors See Sanity Ruling.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL.

(Copyright 1924)

New York, April 11.—News comes from Philadelphia that Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, is about to be declared sane by the five alienists who were appointed by the court to examine him. This means that the court proceedings in his behalf, to be held in the Quaker city next week, probably will result favorably to the young Pittsburgh millionaire whose career has been watched the whole world over.

It all means that within a very short time Harry Thaw will be a free man so far as Pennsylvania is concerned.

BROADWAY FORBIDDEN.

This does not mean by any stretch of the imagination, however, that Harry Thaw will be free to come back to the white lights of Broadway, or to the moaning jazz bands that mark the night life of the great city.

He may be able to smuggle himself into and out of New York occasionally, but any idea that he will be able to resume the gay life which led up to the shooting of Stanford White some 17 years ago is quite amiss.

STILL FUGITIVE.

So far as the New York state records go, Harry Thaw is a fugitive from justice. He stands committed to the state asylum for the insane at Matteawan.

His escape from this institution several years ago and his flight to Canada were incidents of national importance. If Thaw convinces the Philadelphia court that he is sane, entitled to his freedom and to the control of his estate, which is said to have increased in value about $1,000,000 since his incarceration, he will still be barred from New York state unless he chooses to go back to Matteawan and take his chances of being pronounced cured by a tribunal in this state.

THAW'S INTENTION.

It is Thaw's intention, according to the reports here, to proceed at once to Pittsburgh and take up his residence there with his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, and to lead a life as nearly approaching usefulness and normalcy as his condition will permit.

TOO MANY EGGS, PRODUCE MEN SAY

Chicago, April 11—Overproduction is the cause of the present situation in the egg market, where extra fresh and miscellaneous firsts are being quoted at from 19 to 23 cents a dozen, according to Harrison J. Jones, secretary of the National Poultry, Butter and Egg association. Existing prices here are lower than any on record since June, 1916, when firsts were quoted at 17.2 cents.

The production of eggs has increased 33.3 per cent within three years, Mr. Jones said. "The population of the country has increased but 5.3 per cent in a corresponding length of time.

COOLIDGE SURE OF TWO MORE VOTES

MEMORIAL TABLETS FOR WAR VICTIMS

To Be Erected By Legion Auxiliary.

Bronze tablets in commemoration of the men and women of Macon county who gave their lives in the World war will be erected by the American Legion auxiliary, one in Nelson park and the other on the William street road. It was reported at the meeting of the auxiliary held Thursday afternoon in the G. A. R. hall, that the contracts for these two tablets have been let to the Faries Manufacturing company.

INSCRIPTION.

Each of these tablets will bear the names of the ninety-nine men and women who lost their lives in the war. They will read:

"Supreme Sacrifice:
Erected by Castle Williams unit,
No. 105, American Legion
Auxiliary
In memory of the men and women of Macon county who gave their lives during the World war, 1917-18."

The names of the ninety-nine men and women will follow and the quotation from John 15-13, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend."

PLANTING TREES.

The work of planting the trees on the East William street road was reported as having started Thursday, with Roy DeNuer in charge. The auxiliary has purchased red oak trees for these plantings and has the money to put out fully 200, but the plantings in Nelson park will be delayed because the road is not yet in condition for them. Plantings will be made as long as the weather continues seasonable.

One bed of fifty-six shrubs was set Thursday. This had mock orange in the center, then spirea, deutzia, barberry and small evergreens.

The place of meeting for the auxiliary was changed from the G. A. R. hall to the Modern Woodmen hall on West Main street. The time was changed from the second Thursday afternoon of each month to the first Thursday afternoon.

CARE OF SERVICE MEN.

Mrs. C. C. Clements gave a report of her visits to the hospitals in Atlanta, Ga., where service men are cared for. She did not speak highly of the way the government is caring for these men and believes that this gives the auxiliary much to do.

It was announced that the district meeting of the American Legion auxiliary will be in Clinton, May 9. The next social meeting of the organization will be held, April 17, in the home of Mrs. Mont Peniwell, 334 West Macon street.

LIGHTNING STRIKES CHILDREN'S BED

Newman House Damaged in Storm.

Newman, April 11 — The house of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Swickard was struck by lightning during the storm Tuesday night. The current entered the house beside the bed where Junior and Virginia, children of Mr. and Mrs. Swickard were sleeping setting fire to the bed clothes.

The fact that Mrs. Swickard was awake when the crash came probably saved the children from being burned to death.

It is thought that the greater part of the current passed off on the light wires and bed springs, otherwise they would have been killed instantly.

A crowded house greeted "A Womanless Wedding" at the opera house Tuesday night. It was given under the auspices of the Christian church most of the prominent men of the town were in the cast whose impersonations of well known people were very clever.

BACK AT THE BANK.

Charles Burgett is at his old position in the Newman National bank the first time for three months having been in Indianapolis with Mrs. Burgett, who has been seriously ill in the Methodist hospital. Mrs. Burgett will be able to be brought home in about ten days if she continues to improve.

Seaton Vandine of Millikin university was the guest of Mrs. Lulu Vandine Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hopkins and daughter Jean returned to their home in Decatur Sunday.

Miss Helen Sudduth and Burle Franklin of Oakland were the guests of friends here Monday evening.

C. H. Rice is in Indianapolis, where he has a position in a shoe store.

Mrs. T. S. Lydick and daughter Elizabeth were Danville visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. Jay Burgett and daughter Eleanor Jane are visiting in Paris.

Miss Maurine Moore returned Wednesday from a short visit in Indianapolis.

W. S. Burgett of Camargo was a Newman visitor Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert F. Cotton and baby of Tuscola were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Young Wednesday

Mrs. Scott Burgett will go to Indianapolis Friday to remain a few days with Mrs. Charles Burgett.

FORGET THE CLOCK, FORGAN'S ADVICE

Chicago, April 11.—Just as long as the tendency prevails to "watch the clock" and get home, the number of successful men is bound to be limited, according to J. B. Forgan, chairman of the board of directors of the First National bank, who is seventy-seven years old today.

A native of Scotland he began his banking career at the age of seventeen and came to Canada in the seventies. He came to Chicago in [illegible].

SOMETHING TO THINK OVER.

Democrats who are studying the returns from the recent primary from the standpoint of party success should take note of the result in the Republican ranks.

It bears directly upon the chances which the Democrats have of making Judge Jones governor of Illinois.

That particular phase of the Republican quarrel is the mastery of the field which was won by a compact, solidly fighting organization—the party machine of Governor Small.

While it is true Governor Small had hundreds, yes thousands, working for him whose jobs depended upon his success in the primary and in the election the plain fact remains that the Republicans of Illinois have had saddled on them a continuance of a bitter partisan quarrel of which the Democrats, if they show good political sense, will now take advantage of by organizing for a state wide battle along lines which will lead to concerted and careful campaigning.

It is no secret that Republicans are heartily tired of the situation within their own ranks.

If they could have dropped all parties to the prolonged state quarrel which has been weakening the party in Illinois they would have been glad to have made a fresh start in 1924.

But, Governor Small, in a sharply divided party, has managed to build up a machine against which the assaults of Republicans opposed to him beat in vain.

The reason for division among the Republicans remain just as they did before the primary.

The fuss of Tuesday was the preliminary skirmish. The real battle is coming in November and it behooves the Democrats to study the terrain carefully for they may be sure that their opponents will know every point of vantage.

Republican solidarity is very weak. The Democrats should unite solidly behind Judge Jones.

THE "WET" AND "DRY."

Tuesday's primary gives small encouragement to those who profess to believe that a repeal of the eighteenth amendment is desirable.

Lee O'Neill Browne, the outstanding advocate of the platform which would lead to the re-establishment of the liquor business made a valiant battle, and a noisy one, in Chicago and other points where it was expected that the sentiment in favor of the return of light wines and beer, at least, would be strongest.

But in a campaign which did not call out the full strength even of the Democrats Mr. Browne made a very poor showing although his campaign was apparently liberally financed and certainly very active.

So much noise did his supporters make that even experienced politicians believed that he would be a factor in the Democratic race but when the votes were counted he was far to the rear.

The candidates for state office in Illinois will keep their feet on the soft pedal when it comes to the liquor question.

The signs do not indicate that it is safe for the "wet" candidate even in the cities.

THEY WILL NOT WORRY.

Among the interesting things to watch in the next few weeks will be the action of the Cook county Republican committee in trying to decide where it is "at." The committee decided that it could nominate [illegible] and made a bitter fight against Small. Now the committee has to decide what it can do in the situation that confronts it.

Among other things it got out a campaign text book in which it said:

"If Small remains in power and continue, division and factionalism in the party are inevitable."

Our guess is that the Cook county Republican leaders, like Republican leaders and so called Republican leaders in other districts, will do just as they have done under other circumstances—forget all about the text book and the fight on Small and line up for him wherever they can get a chance.

USED THE EQUIPMENT.

Patrick Crowley has been named president of the New York Central railroad. Patrick isn't his first name, or wasn't at the baptism; but about fifty years ago when he was a messenger boy they began to call him "Pat," because they were taken by his manner and style; and the men along the line have known him as "Pat" ever since.

When he was made president of the road this week, reporters couldn't make themselves familiar enough to write it "Pat," but they didn't have the name with which he started. They compromised the matter by writing him down "Patrick." And now that he is president, maybe some along the line will follow the lead of the reporters and call him "Patrick" for short. Of course for the few old-timers of forty and fifty years ago he will remain "Pat."

There is something in this man's story. Fifty years ago as a small shaver he left a little farm and went to railroading. Since then he has occupied many positions, each being an advance on those formerly held. We don't understand how he ever found time to perfect himself in the many positions he held, but one is sure he must have made a good showing in each and all of them.

Of course he was a poor boy fifty years ago, and now has gone to the top in railroading—they tell us his salary is $100,000 a year; and perhaps he is cheap at that price.

His is one of the cases that disposes of the assertion that a poor boy has no chance to advance his fortunes in our time and country. Looking over the land, you will find a good many names of those who have done as well or nearly as well as Patrick Crowley.

Of course this man had unusual talent, also energy. It takes this to go up in competition, the thing to which he was always subjected. But with this combination of talent and energy the stepping can be done, as is demonstrated every day.

We shall continue to hear many complaints that it can't be done, for in all the world are not a great many people who have the equipment with which to do it.

Some will say Patrick Crowley's showing could not be made in any other country in the world. We need not be in a hurry to get too sure about this. Talent and energy are hard to beat, wherever you find them. They should be, and probably are, in demand everywhere in the world. With us they may have just a little better opportunity to count; more than this we should not claim.

AND THEN THE FIGHT BEGAN.

A member in the House of Commons in London was making a speech in behalf of the evicted in quarters of that town.

Another member proclaimed this to be "sob stuff."

A member from Glasgow exclaimed, "You dog!"

The original sobber got in with, "Never mind that swine; he is only a little gutter snipe."

And then the fight began.

It reads like a short page from the books that told of engagements on the part of fishwives.

It may be the House of Commons is no longer the greatest debating body in the world.

Also it is observed that it doesn't appear to improve the situation to have several lady members present.

In fact we begin to fear these ladies will find themselves disappointed, for they got into this thing with the expectation of injecting some wholesome gentleness into the deliberations of the rude men folks.

Five alienists say that Harry K. Thaw is sane; and if they let him go at large he will promptly proceed to show the five are foolish men.

The only one we can recall who ever spent as much money as the late Jake Hamon was our own late Dick Harkness.

Maybe some of the ballots in the 29th were marked in cipher and had to be decided.

They tell us that Hiram may withdraw, but it strikes one this has been pretty thoroughly attended to by others while he waited.

Now and then a billiard match gets close for a little while, perhaps all through a single session; but alway Willie Hoppe noses out in front.

If looking for road improvements what we have had for more than a week—and we needed it.

Hawaii Republicans are a few thousand miles from the main show, but they didn't have any difficulty in finding the Coolidge pulse.

For some reason Hiram doesn't seem to go well with other brethren of the party. As he is a good talker, it must be he grabbed the wrong system.

It is strange that none of our radio fans ever hear and report some of the squeaks, squawks and whistles.

The editor of the Dearborn Independent once remarked that W. G. N. should be changed to W. P. G., meaning the World's Poorest Guesser, he insisting it hasn't been right in ten years.

Scott Gulliford may be all right for chief of police, but make sure he isn't carrying around with him an old 1923 model cold.

Little Benny's Notebook

Mary Watkins went away a week ago, and she was ony going to be gone a week so this aftirnoon I went erround to her house to see if she was back yet, wich she wasent, her mother saying she was going to stay a exter week on account of having rote home and asked to be allowed to.

Me wawking away thinking, G, good nite, I guess she dont miss me very mutch, or elts she wouldent be so darn anxious to stay another week gosh shang it.

Wich jest then I saw Puds Simkins setting on his frunt tseps, me saying, Did you know Mary Watkins aint coming back for another hole week?

Puds starting to look mizzerable and saying, She aint? G, wats you know about that, holey smokes I gess she dont give a darn if she never comes back, wat does she care, heck. O well, then I dont give a darn eather, if she dont care I dont care about enything, I was going to fix the stamps in my stamp album this aftirnoon but now darn if I will, he sed.

Sure, me either, I wouldent care 2 pins no matter wat happened, it wouldent intrist me eny, I sed. I was going erround to see my cuzzin Artie today but if he's erround there ixpecting me he can jest keep on ixpecting for all I care wat do I care? Its a good thing I havent got a gun or enything, Id libel to shoot myself jest as libel as not, I sed.

Me too, its a luck thing for me I dont happin to have eny poison or enything erround, Puds sed.

Him keeping on setting there and me starting to wawk home, and as soon as I got erround the corner 2 fire engines went past to beet the band, me thinking, G, fire. And I started to run after them to find out ware it was and in about 3 blocks somebody cawt up with me, being Puds Simkins, and we ran about 3 more blocks and the fire engines went past us going back the other way slow on account of it ony being a falts alarm, me saying, Good nite, thats a heck of a note, wats you know about that, and Puds saying, Holey smokes, can you beet that, that awtent to be allowed, that awtent.

Proving you may think you dont care wat happins, but thats ony wat you think.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY IN DECATUR

APRIL 11, 1914

W. E. White, credit manager for the Linn and Scruggs store and W. W. Doane, head of a department in that store, made a change to the Osgood and Heiner store.

Forces of the Decatur Railway and Light Co. were busy reconstructing all of the gas and electric meter records for Decatur homes, the old records having been destroyed in the Powers building fire.

George Allen, one of the main boosters of the ball club, started out to sell and place in stores, Booster club membership cards at 10 cents each.

Although the year was less than half over, local auto dealers were receiving word from their companies saying they could fill no more orders on practically all models during the year. The factories did not have the capacity to fill their orders.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Judge W. E. Nelson spoke to the high school senior class about his early days and gave advice for the present day.

Two hundred and fifty pounds of lead pipe were stolen from the Central Church of Christ.

E. G. Koutzahn, secretary of the American League for Civic Improvement, of Chicago, asked for some of the Chamber of Commerce folders about prizes of Beautiful Decatur so he could distribute them around the country and show what Decatur was doing.

The Apollo club held its regular dance.

The reopening exercises of the R. R. Y. M. C. A. were attended by 200 railroad men and others.

The Story Of Decatur

By E. T. Coleman

CHAPTER 131.

HAPPIER TIMES FOR THE HOCKADAYS

Through Incredible Effort Prosperity Arrives in Second Year in Macon County.

Before beginning the second installment of Benjamin B. Hockaday's letter it is worth remembering that while coming here in 1857 and he was really a pioneer, yet he had some things that the Macon county pioneers of 1829-30 did not have. He had mills, saw mills, roads and railroads, although eight and a half miles from a store he could buy anything that he wished or had money to buy. He also had a market for his produce.

To any man who has ever lived on a farm the outstanding thing revealed by this letter is the tremendous amount of work which that family of Hockadays must have done. There were three boys in the family but at that their accomplishments in two and a half years are almost incredible. They are all recited in this letter, not boastingly but in a matter of fact way to indicate that they were finally getting pretty comfortably fixed.

THE LETTER.

"But to continue our last year's crops: We hired the breaking of forty acres of prairie last May, thirty of which we planted in corn. It made about twenty-five bushels to the acre.

We rented twenty acres adjoining us that had been broken the year before. We broke it up deep and in every third furrow dropped the corn and covered it with the next furrow, and so on till the whole was planted. We then harrowed over it before the corn came up. We only plowed the corn once before we quit for harvest. The ground was so wet that we could not begin to plant before June and finished in July.

I have never seen such a crop for the work done to it. I have no doubt that it made from fifty to sixty bushels to the acre. We made about 1500 bushels of corn last year. It being late much of it was soft and fit only for hogs. Some rotted after a hard frost. We sold some 600 bushels at 50 to 60 cents, paid off nearly all of our debt, fattened 2,000 pounds of pork, made our own bacon, wintered our horses and thirty head of hogs and saved wheat enough to bread us until we thresh again.

THE THIRD YEAR.

Last fall owning to sickness we did not sow above one half the ground in wheat that we calculated on doing and what we did sow was done entirely too late. The winter thinned it out one half.

The twenty acres of winter wheat has been harvested two weeks ago. It is a half crop but the grain is large and good and it may yield us about 300 bushels. We sowed about twenty acres of spring wheat which our boys are now harvesting. It was somewhat injured by chinch bug but it is thick on the ground, the grain is good and I think it will produce 300 bushels.

PRESENT PROSPECTS FINE.

We have this year about forty-five acres of corn, thirty acres of which was planted in May. It has been plowed three times and it is as fine corn as I ever saw. It is shooting and tasselling all over the field but it is now suffering from drouth. We have fifteen acres of later corn which looks well.

If rain comes soon and the weather continues seasonable I have no doubt that we will make over 2,000 bushels of corn this year.

We have over two acres in Irish potatoes which look promising but the dry weather is hard on them. Our early planting is nearly done for but we have had fine potatoes for nearly a month, some of them as large as goose eggs but few in a hill.

We have some four acres in white beans and black-eyed peas, a patch of sugar cane, pumpkins, water melons, cantaloupes, sweet-potatoes, etc., all of which look promising. We had some roasting ears a week ago and tomatoes today, the first.

WONDERFUL GARDEN.

We have had the earliest and best garden I ever remember to have had with an abundant supply of all kinds of vegetables—onions, beets, peas, pieplant plenty and fine, but the drouth and extremely hot weather has altered the face of it. We have had nearly three months of as hot weather as I think I ever saw for so long a time. The termometer goes in the shade from 90 to 108.

THE PRAIRIE SUBDUED.

Now we have this year 100 acres in cultivation on our own farm.

Most of the land has been replowed and is therefore thoroughly subdued. We have more than nine and one quarter miles of fence made and a half mile more to fence and will do our part of fencing our quarter. We have the posts ready for that.

We have a pasture fenced of eight acres in our grove and want all our fence up before next spring.

We have over eighty rods of beautiful osage hedge growing and wish to extend it around the farm as soon as possible. We have some 200 fruit trees growing finely, some seventy of them large enough to begin to bear. Our peach trees look more promising than any I have ever raised. Our grapes, apples and cherries have grown vastly this year. Also our trees about the house give the place the appearance of a young forest surging up around us when looked at from a half mile away.

HAPPY CHOICE OF FARM.

But the best of all we have the prettiest and best farm when once fixed that I have ever sen in any other country. The land beyond all dispute is rich and fertile beyond anything I ever saw or dreamed of before coming to this state.

It is proved that although the country was a wilderness when we made this selection that it was a most fortunate one for us. Our house is within twenty rods of [illegible] line. On the east just outside our yard runs the state road to [illegible]ington. A little over a quarter of a mile farther east runs the [illegible] Central railroad north and [illegible] with a beautiful view for [illegible] er way.

A couple of wealthy Yankees had bought a farm a mile east of the railroad opposite to us. They have within a few weeks bought all the land between them and the railroad, making their farm nearly two whole sections. B—— who owns the land between us and the railroad has joined and they are going to have a switch right opposite our house with a warehouse and store.

A TOWN COMING.

They also intend to lay off a town on both sides of the railroad and propose to give alternate lot to actual settlers but mechanics are preferred. The location is a beautiful one on a high, dry ridge and I have no doubt that the place will rapidly improve.

With unfeigned love, my Anna and children join me in fond remembrances and love to yourselves and children.

Benjamin B. Hockaday.

Just Folks

THE MYSTERY

We live and ponder the why of it,
And what is it all about,
The world and the arching sky of it,
The battle, the gain, the rout;
The man who has dabbled his years in paint,
The man who has suffered to be a saint,
The boy held fast by a flaming dream—
Are they all a part of this mortal scheme?

We live and share in the sigh of it
And slowly the march moves on;
We join in the hue and cry of it,
Yet, steadily, one by one,
Each to a curious urge is bent.
In the trade of words this life is spent;
And that one fashions in steel and stone
The thing he dreams when he sits alone.

But back of the glistening eye of it,
And back of the hammer's blow,
And the towers men fling to the sky of it,
The great souls greater grow.
Men paint and write, and build and sing,
To the urge of that strange mysterious thing
Which whispers that death is another birth
And the whole of this life isn't lived on earth.

HOW I MADE MY MILLIONS

BY E. L. DOHENY

"I'm Not Worried," Is Boast of E. L. Doheny

This is the last chapter of E. L. Doheny's "How I Made My Millions," his own story of his life. Doheny's oil activities have been under the scrutiny of the Senate.

(Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY E. L. DOHENY.

Oil scandal or no oil scandal, I'm not going to waste my time worrying. For I have too much to keep me happy—and I am not writing of money.

I have my wife, my son, my grandchildren—there are four of them now, and each is prettier than the other.

My boy is in business with me; and he has foresight. Three years before we got into the war, he hunched that we would be dragged into it. So he organized a battalion of California Naval Militia, hired a drill hall, procured the use of two navy ships for training, and was all set when the war came. The whole battalion enlisted. My boy later worked himself up to the commission of a lieutenant, senior grade.

It's such a family that makes life worth living.

The family—and my work, without which there could be no happiness for me. I do not believe in retiring, and I hope to die with my boots on—working.

It is the way of most real prospectors, I guess. I recall Bill Hope, an old crony, with whom I teamed up at Canto Basin while I was prospecting along back in '77. We went it together for two years—a long time in the wilds—part of the time we spent looking for the Adams Diggings; part of the time we prospected around the headwaters of Salt River.

There was a saying in those days that a man who was out of luck "has gone up Salt River." We went up the river—both literally and figuratively. For we were without food for six weeks, living on wild turkey and sour corn meal, without salt.

But eventually we got out of it all right. I went my way; and Bill went his. He later made a fortune, but lost it and died broke—after he went off on trips to Alaska and Guatemala.

So I am staying right on my job. My greatest sport is riding a good lively horse. That's real exhilaration. Brisk walking is good, too.

I like yachting. But it's inertia occasionally gets me.

And although I am 68, I don't yet feel old enough to play golf!

About Town

MR. GOLFER entered a sports shop Thursday with a broad smile on his face. "Trot out your clubs," says he, "Nothing like preparedness." Some of Mr. Golfer's brothers spend each evening after work practicing up on their strokes, and smoothing over the rough spots. Golf clubs are being added to the old set ready for the opening of the links.

Mr. Golfer's family is a large one and their habits are queer. Wifie, who in most cases is not a member of the brethren, cannot understand the pleasure Mr. Golfer gets when he brushes the dust from the golf bag and drags out the old familiar clubs to get the "feel" of them once more. The thrill that comes once in a lifetime comes to the man who did not get to go away for the winter and play golf but who has the pleasure of the return of the old enthusiasm when the smooth handle of the driver fits into the palm just so for the first game after a winter of idleness.

Frank Torrence has his men busy working on the greens in Nelson park and getting the links in shape.

SPICES OF 1923

Decatur theater goers may be too particular as to the quality of shows which they approve but the audience which attended the performance of "The Spice of 1922" at the Lincoln Square theater Thursday night was bored and wearied by the mixture of mediocre dancing and vaudeville skits which go to make up the bill of this so-called revue.

Arthur Corey, who has appeared in more pretentious attractions as a gilded dancer, is with the company and his two dances attracted considerable interest and applause.

But revues are much like eggs—there are no moderately good eggs. They are either good eggs or the other kind.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN MOUND TOWNSHIP

Altamont, April 11—In the recent election in Mound township the entire Republican ticket was elected. The new officers are Rudolph Moll, clerk; J. S. McCoy, assessor; John Stuemke, commissioner; T. C. Clow, school trustee.

Dr. William Florin, who was engaged in the drug business at this place for a number of years, is leaving Altamont this week for Highland to make his residence. He had been a resident of this community for more than forty-five years. Before engaging in the drug business he was a school teacher at Highland and Belleville.

George F. Sapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sapp of this place and Clara M. Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn of Laclede, have announced their marriage at Vandalia, April 8. The bridegroom is employed at the Model Glove factory here and they will reside in Altamont.

HOME FOLKS BACK HARRY DAUGHERTY

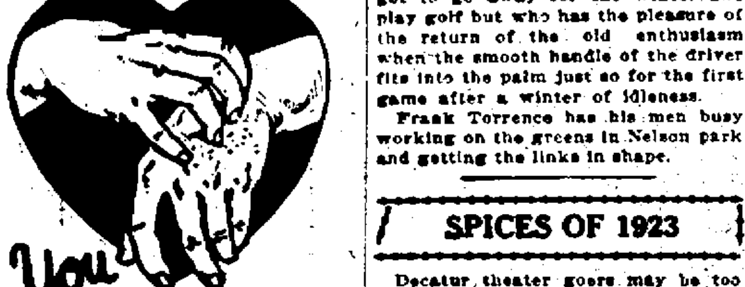
Washington Courthouse, O., April 11—Confidence in former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and his brother, M. S. Daugherty, was expressed at a meeting of more than 100 leading citizens called for that purpose Thursday night.

Sending for M. S. Daugherty, E. L. Bush, the spokesman, said:

"Your acquaintences who know you best, assure you of their utmost confidence in your honesty and integrity and are with you heart and soul."

FIVE PERSONS DIE ON RAIL CROSSING

Charlotte, N. C., April 11—Five person were killed when Southern Railway train No. 38, New Orleans to New York, struck a motor bus at a crossing near Kings Mountain, N. C.



You can be free from Eczema!

WEIRD, creeping, annoying sensations — scratch — scratch — scratch—eczema and other skin eruptions, spoiling your complexion—causing you uncalled for embarrassment—anguish—ruling your temper. All because of impurities that are rampant in your system—because your red blood cells are dormant.

S. S. S. clears up skin eruptions through its power of cleansing the blood. Herbs and barks, carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned, which make up the ingredients in S. S. S. are the most feared and dreaded enemies of skin disorders. Eczema, pimples, boils, blackheads and other skin diseases pack up and leave the system when S. S. S. sends new rich blood coursing through your veins.

Have a general house cleaning for your system. Let S. S. S. rid you of those impurities which tend to keep you in a run-down condition. Skin disorders are nothing more than billboards announcing that the system is "off color." S. S. S. is sold by the leading drug stores. The large size bottle is the more economical.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

BY HOWARD V. MILLARD.

Decatur baseball fans will get their first chance to see manager Harold Irelan's Commies in actual combat tomorrow when Marty Becker brings his Kalamazoo club of the Michigan Ontario League over from Crawfordsville, Ind. for a pair of contests this week end.

The team from the Wolverine state is training with Wabash College and according to the Kazoo manager is in pretty good shape for so early in the season.

HURLING IN DOUBT.

With the possible exception of the hurling selections the Commie lineup is certain. If Saturday turns out to be a good day Jim Sullivan will take the mound for at least three frames while Wells the Oakland recruit and Fort the big southpaw will be the others to work. Manager Irelan desires to give at least five of his hurlers work in the two contests and if any of the three named to start Saturday do not see service they are sure to be on the rubber Sunday.

SWENSON AND WALSH.

Swenson and Walsh here to battle the veterans Irelan and Brant for positions will draw the assignmet in the opening contest. Irelan is very anxious to see quite a bit of Swenson while Walsh draws the short stop position for two reasons, first Irelan knows just what Harry Brant can do and the second is that the king of Three Eye shortstops has a bad hand which kept him off the field Thursday.

The flingers have started to cut loose a little more each day and Thursday found several of the boys hooking them to the batters in the long hitting drill that was staged.

AFTER COMMIES.

According to word received from manager Becker of the Kazoo club he will probably use Michaelson Saturday against the locals as the former White Sox recruit appears to be in good shape. He expects a hurler to join him here from an American Association club and he will probably be sent into the Sunday game.

Becker will also have pitchers Sherman and Hughes who were with him last season as well as McHale and Hipp other 1923 veterans.

The Kalamazoo club will arrive in Decatur this evening or early in the morning the party consisting of 18 players and several war correspondents.

President Wylie announced today that the contests would start at 2:30 o'clock instead of the usual starting time of three and three thirty during the season. Manager Irelan desires to have the games played during the heat of the day hence the change in time. The usual exhibition game prices of fifty cents for any seat in the park will prevail.

WILLIE HOPPE IS STILL 18.2 KING

Crown Safe Until Next National Tourney In The Fall.

New York, April 11—Willie Hoppe's title of world's 18.2 balk line billiard championship will not be endangered again until the annual championship tournament in the fall. The veteran Thursday night exhausted the eligible challengers by defeating Edouard Horemans 1,500 to 958 although the latter won the final block 518 to 500.

Hoppe first won the championship in 1908 but resigned it in the same year. He won it again in 1910 and has had an unbroken tenure since that time with the exception of 1921 when Jake Schaeffer won.

ILLINOIS STAR TO TURN PROFESSIONAL

Urbana, Ill., April 11.—Jim McMillan, star wrestler and football player of the University of Illinois, will turn professional, now that his college athletic career is drawing to a close. Promoters Paul Prehn and Jim Brown are attempting to arrange a match between McMillan and Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, the heavyweight wrestling champion. That is, the match will be made providing Lewis will bar his dangerous head-lock.

McMillan's shoulders have not been pinned to the mat by an opponent during his time with the university team and with Lewis barring the head-lock, McMillan would give the champion a real fight.

FINISHED TEAM IS THE RESULT

After Majors Spend Weeks in Training Work.

Chicago, Ill., April 11—(AP)—Into the south a month ago flocked a mass of questionable baseball material, veterans, rookies and would-be major league luminaries.

Today, out of the land of cotton emerges the finished product, major league baseball machines minus the unsuccessfuls. Practically every team is making its last stand in exhibition games.

CUBS GOING GOOD.

The Chicago Cubs, who trained in the west, are at Kansas City, with three more exhibition games to be played before opening the season at St. Louis next Tuesday. The Cubs swamped Kansas City yesterday and also took the opening game of the series. The Blues got six runs in the first inning when Elmer Jacobs, a Seattle recruit, walked five men and allowed three hits. Wheeler finished the game for the Cubs.

Manager Frank Chance of the Chicago Americans comes to Chicago today after a battle against ill-health which delayed his joining the team in spring training quarters. Conferences with owner Comiskey in a hospital recovering from an operation, and Secretary Harry Grabiner, are to be Chance's first acts here.

DEAN IN FORM.

The White Sox and the Giants renew hostilities today at Indianapolis after playing a sloppy game at Terre Haute yesterday where the Giants won. The teams play here Saturday and Sunday. Wayland Dean, purchased from Louisville for $50,000, held the White Sox to three hits and one run in five innings.

The New York Yanks and the Brooklyn Dodgers loafed at Roanoke, Va., because of rain.

George Pipgras, Yankee relief pitcher last year, was called to his home at Slayton, Minn., by the death of his mother.

BROWNS HIT HARD.

The St. Louis Browns found their batting eyes yesterday, humbling the Tulsa team thereby revenging defeat Wednesday. Thirteen hits including five two sackers, represent the Browns' attack. The Browns bid farewell to Dixie last night with 14 victories and three defeats as their exhibition record against six class A minor league clubs.

The Cardinals ended their stay in the south by a victory over the Nashville, Tenn., Volunteers.

Just nine men faced Sothoron for the three innings he held the mound.

INDIANS PLAY COLLEGIANS.

The Cleveland Indians were at Tuscaloosa today for an exhibition game with the University of Alabama.

The Detroit Americans and the Cincinnati Nationals are scheduled to play the last game of their exhibition series at Knoxville, Tenn., today.

Two rookie hurlers, an infielder and an outfielder are on their way today to the Worcester club of the Eastern league as the result of a cut in the Boston Nationals squad yesterday. They are Kyle Graham, drafted from Little Rock, Hunter Lane, of Knoxville, Bob Emmerich, Worcester, Mass., and Ike Kamp, Boston.

Rain prevented the Braves-Washington game yesterday.

At Louisville, Ky., yesterday the Boston Americans came from behind and defeated the Louisville American Association club.

Bellflower to Have Team.

Bellflower, Ill., April 11.—The Bellflower post of the American Legion is putting a baseball team in the field this season and are anxious to book a number of games, through their manager, Harold W. Brandon. The team will play Sunday and other special days and believe that they will have a formidable organization from home products alone. The first game will be played here May 4, but the opponent is yet unselected.

ROTZ ANNOUNCES LINEUP FOR GAME

Decatur High Meets Maroa Saturday At J. M. U.

Lawrence Rotz, coach of the Decatur High school baseball team has announced his starting lineup for the opening game of the season Saturday with Maroa High. The contest is to be played Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Millikin Field.

Captain Mitchell will be behind the plate with the other positions as follows: Sattley, 1b, McFadden, 2b, Andres, 3b, Henebry, ss, Jones, lf, Lehn, cf, and Bromley, rf. Either Nichols, Hankins or Newman will do the flinging in the opener. Issy Newman, Flint and Jack Earle are expected to see service during the contest.

Coach Rotz has not been able to give his men much work to date but expects to make a good showing for so early in the season.

The schedule has not been completed but two games with Blue Mound. The locals go there April 19 and Blue Mound comes here May 1.

BOOK TRACK MEETS.

With Rotz working on baseball coach Crooks is giving his attention to track. A number of meets have been booked but the turnout to date does not justify such an extensive program according to Crooks and more men will have to come out for the team.

The first meet will be staged April 26 when the red and white men journey to Urbana for a duel clash. Springfield is to be met here May 3 while on May 10 the locals will take part in the Millikin interscholastic.

Crooks plans to have an all school meet Wednesday April 16 while on the 19th he may stage a trial meet in order to select the men for the Urbana trip.

CARTWRIGHT SIGNS FOR THREE YEARS

Definite Athletic Program Is Assured for Wesleyan.

Bloomington, Ill., April 11.—At the annual banquet given the Illinois athletic policy for the Methodists Wesleyan basketball team Thursday night President Davidson of the local school announced that athletic director Cartwright had signed a three year contract. This means a definite athletic policy for the Methodists, the first time in the history of the school a coach has been given a long term contract.

It was also voted that all letter and sweater awards will be given at commencement week in June so that it will be necessary for an athlete to remain in school and carry his work for the entire year before being permitted to wear a "W."

No basketball captain was named at the meeting. Ross Anderson, the freshmen center from Fairbury and Russell Golden, the Bellflower forward, being tied in the voting. Both are first year men, Oliver, Gottschalk, Zinser and Dunham being seniors.

Ingwersen Loses One.

Iowa City, Ia., April 11—Griffen, 235 pound center of the Iowa football team last fall, will not be in school next year, it was said unofficially here yesterday. It is understood financial conditions will force the big Sioux City boy to leave school for a year, but he declares he will be back in 1925.

YALE BOXER'S RECORD CLEAN

CAPTAIN B. F. FUNK.

This young husky, Captain B. F. Funk of the Yale boxing team, son of Representative Funk from Bloomington Illinois, is one of the outstanding mitt stars of eastern intercollegiate circles. Funk has yet to lose a single sparring match in competition.

STONINGTON BOY IS ON ILLINOIS TEAM

T. C. Ponting Listed Among 15 to Take Southern Training Trip.

Urbana, Ill., April 11.—Coach Carl Lundgren will take fifteen University of Illinois baseball players on the annual southern trip for the team when he leaves here Friday evening. But three men, Captain Wallie Roettger, and F. E. O'Connor, both of whom are pitchers and outfielders, and L. B. Schlapprizzi, shortstop, are veterans. Coach Lundgren has had to rely on fresh material to fill the gaps left by graduation last spring when he lost nine letter men.

Among the recruits is "Red" Grange, all-American half back, who is on the squad as a pitcher and outfielder. The other men to make the trip are: J. T. Barta, F. W. Kinderman, J. M. Hult, T. C. Ponting, C. V. Erickson, former catcher in the army; E. K. Jestes, L. J. Simonich, R. H. Harper, C. E. Binger, Ralph Margolis and A. E. Paxton.

LOGAN COUNTY TO HAVE PREP LEAGUE

Lincoln, April 11.—High school baseball in the county is being revived this spring on a larger scale and so far six schools have signified their intentions of playing. According to present plans each team will play five games in a series of the county.

Elkhart, Emden, Beason, New Holland, Hartsburg and Lincoln are the schools that are organizing teams. Mt. Pulaski will not have a nine this season and its place was taken by Lincoln.

WANT STONE TO BOX STRIBLING

New Jersey Is Trying to Promote Light Heavies.

BY FAIR PLAY.

(Copyright, 1924)

New York, April 11—Talk is heard in Newark, N. J., of a project on foot to bring Ad Stone, a native Jersey man, now residing in Philadelphia and Stribling together in a 12-round bout. This inspires a Philadelphia fan to speculate why New York and New Jersey should grab off all the plums, with Philadelphia more or less out in the cold.

This is a hard question to answer. There is no keener sporting center than Philly and a good bout there would attract as many fans as anywhere else in the country. Perhaps the answer is that the promotion end of the game is not characterized by the initiative, the willingness to take a chance on a big money proposition that are shown in other places where real fights are held.

WILL DECIDE TITLE.

The summer will certainly settle the question of world's light heavyweight supremacy. Mike McTigue's hands are bad and his right forearm seems to have gone flooey. But, injured or not, Mike will have to fight and take his beating or else step aside when the pot gets to boiling. First of all Tunney will defend his American title against Carpentier and the winner of the battle will surely be on the warpath for the world title held by McTigue. And by the time Tunney and Carpentier are through, Tommy Gibbons may feel that there is enough interest in the cruiserweight situation to warrant his going after the title.

MICHIGAN NINE ON WAY TO SOUTHLAND

Only Hope For Even Break—Have Not Had Outdoor Work.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 11—Coach Fisher and fifteen Wolverines left Friday on their baseball tour of the south. An even break in the games is hoped for, since Michigan has not had much outdoor practice.

The University of Kentucky will be played Saturday followed by two games with Georgia, one with Alabama, Poly Tech, one with Mississippi, two with Mississippi A. and M., and one with Cincinnati.

Among the all around stars accompanying the team are:

Catcher Blott of All-American football fame: Center Fielder Kipke, All-American half back, and Third Baseman Haggerty, high point scorer in basketball.

American Association Teams in Great Shape

Foster Says Indianapolis Club Looked Better Than Some Major League Teams.

BY JOHN B. FOSTER.

New York, April 11—The American association never approached a season with better prospects of success than this year. It looks as if the excellent training and general fine condition of that league's players which has been brought about by their training in Florida, will give them a start that will be only a little short of major league baseball.

How long the Indianapolis club will hold the form it displayed in Florida remains to be seen, but in the games it put on at Plant City, the club looked better than some of the major league teams the writer has seen this Spring, and not so far removed from the best of them.

THREE STRONG PLAYERS.

There are three players on the Indianapolis team today who would fit into any major league club. They are Brown, Campbell and Fitzsimmons. Brown is better than one fourth of the major league centerfielders and would hold his own in the outfield of any team. Campbell is a coming third baseman who will be a prize for the big league team that gets him. He is a good and sure fielder, young and just beginning to hit his stride. Fitzsimmons is a lot better pitcher than some that are carried by the big leaguers.

BREWERS POLISHED.

The Milwaukee club probably will present a more polished appearance than Indianapolis, but perhaps is not so dangerous when it comes to a display of strength. Milwaukee will be chock a block with teamwork. The players are fast and they will be in the fight all the time, although they probably will not hit very hard.

Columbus has a team that is not so strong in fielding as some of the others, unless there is a change in their infield, but it is a team that will keep on pursuing a settled policy of teamwork, because its manager is a team driver. If Molesworth is permitted to have his own way long enough he should put a team in Columbus that will bring baseball back to old standards there.

MIKE KELLY BUSY.

Mike Kelly has been busy trying to get some players for Minneapolis and he has had success. His infield looks pretty strong and his outfield, while problematic, may do well too.

St. Paul has a task to build up. She has some players from other teams to help out, but has lost so much of her pitching staff—one of her strongest points last season—that she may not be able to make the campaign against the other teams that she did last year.

The Kansas City nine, with its infield weakened by the loss of excellent players, one of them one of the best batters in the American Association, is not going to have an easy journey to win another championship. That is certain. Most of the experts say they will be mighty lucky if they do win it.

BIG ADVANTAGE.

The teams that are expected to start out and set the pace are those that have been in Florida, with the exception of Toledo, which has more strength than it had last year. Jimmy Burke will manage the team and he is a hustler, but his players are not quite strong enough to pull him through to a pennant this year, especially, when teams like those of Indianapolis and Milwaukee are to be met.

Louisville has been hardest hit of all, because it lost two high class players when Dean went to the Giants and Combs to the Yanks. Wonder how much they would have gone for if the draft had not been taken on by the American Association. As it is Louisville made more by disposing of them than any of the teams will make that have taken players from the major leagues on option, only to turn them back when the show is over.

The Bethany College baseball team opens its season Saturday with the University of Virginia at Morgantown. Earl Zook is performing at second base according to a letter received from Roy Adkins today.

Zook was selected as Tri State center at the close of the basketball season having succeeded Hank Gill at that post. Sid Gepford was named as guard on the second team.

Hubbard Shoemake, well known here, is to captain the 1924 Bethany football team. Adkins, Gepford and Zook graduate this June.

Most of the Three Eye clubs will stage exhibition games this week-end. The Commies have Kalamazoo, Bloomington is to meet the Union Giants of Chicago, while Peoria and Flint tangle. Evansville and Bay City of the Michigan Ontario League are to play and Danville fans will see their team in action against the Toledo club of the American Association.

Four more Bloomers reported to Manager Pat Harkins Thursday. Lundeen, an outfielder; Paul Stewart, former Illinois U. captain; Krause, also an infielder, and pitcher Keeting from Chicago Heights, were the ones to check in.

Eddie Wright's regulars got revenge on Forest Cady's Yannigans when they handed them a 10 to 1 lacing in a practice game. Manager Dixon of Waterloo is in Danville to pick up several players in the deal which brought Andy McKewan to Danville. The latter was given a trial with the Bloomers several years ago and found wanting at that time.

◆

Evansville has season tickets good for 10-20-30 or 40 games and 16 teams of fans in the Indiana city have been recruited to put on a drive to sell them.

President Wylie has books of ten tickets each that he expects to put on sale to accommodate the fans who do not desire to wait in line at the park on big days.

However the important thing right at this time is being mapped out by vice president Jake Hill. It is the campaign to dispose of all the tickets for the baseball show "Heads or Tails." That chance for a season ticket has appealed to many of the fans who are confident they will be the fortunate one.

Warren Giles, former president of the Moline club and now secretary of the St. Joseph club of the Western League was injured several days ago when a taxi in which he was riding was wrecked at Galveston Texas. It collided with a street car and was then hurled into a ditch. He was thrown through the glass partition between the drivers seat and the rear seat and besides being cut around the face and arms received a wrenched back and an injured kne.

The Millikin baseball team will get a pretty good idea of what kind of a foe Bradley is going to be in the opening game after Monday. The Peoria team opens its season on that day with Eureka College.

◆

Says Bob Poisall in the Peoria Journal:

Manager O'Leary believes that the team which finishes in front of Decatur this season will win the pennant. He has not seen the Commies this year but he is acquainted with practically every player on the squad and O'Leary thinks they have real class. As far as that goes, O'Leary stated last evening that Decatur would have a good club as long as they played in professional baseball. O'Leary was asked why he thought that way and he replied: "Pres. Wylie of the Decatur club is a smart business man. He knows baseball and the whole city of Decatur is back of the club at all times. When they want a good ball player they step out and buy him. That is the reason why Decatur will be formidable for years to come." Decatur certainly has proven that they do business on a large scale when referring to Three-Eye league baseball.

The Kalamazoo club which opens the season here Saturday will return to Crawfordsville after the Sunday game for another week of work against Wabash College. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday they meet the Bloomers and then go to Danville for a week's drill against the Vets.

Ranny Young was an interested spectator at the Commie practice Thursday. In fact the former Millikin star has been out a number of times to watch the locals. When asked what his baseball plans for the season are Ranny didn't have anything to say.

◆

How is this for ambition:—Pitcher Johnson of the Flint club is a ball player who really has his heart and soul in the game. He resides in Western Canada and paid his own transportation to Peoria for a chance to try out under O'Leary. A manager will usually find a player like Johnson to be one who will listen to advice where the majority of the rookies in a spring training camp have an idea that they know more than any manager who ever handed out a release.

◆

Don't forget the starting time of the Commie-Kalamazoo games Saturday and Sunday. It is 2:30 o'clock and not 3:00 or 3:30. The first game the Staley club played with the Lawrenceville Havolines several years ago saw the bat boy wearing ear muffs. Here is hoping they will not be necessary this week-end.

◆

The Thursday drill was the same routine work that has been going for the last few days. Several of the athletes are bothered with a soreness in their arms, legs or hands that is slowing up the work somewhat. However, all of the ailing ones should be in trim very shortly.

Daniels, the newly acquired hurler secured from Birmingham, was still in the southern city Thursday evening but is expected to leave there some time today which would get him in Decatur Saturday. He is in shape to go nine innings at this time the Birmingham scribe of the Sporting News giving him quite a little boost the other day.

◆

President Wylie and Manager Irelan are working on several deals that should be good news for the fans whenever they are able to spring them. The Commies are not ready for the opening of the flag chase right at this time but they sure will be when the old gong rings.

Louisville, Ky., April 11—Candidates for the golden jubilee running of the Kentucky derby quartered here have been unable to step out at top speed in workouts this week as local tracks were heavy from recent rains.

◆

Annapolis, Md., April 11—Swimmers from a dozen colleges and universities will compete today in the opening events of the first annual national collegiate athletic association swimming championship at the naval academy here. The meeting has received recognition as an official Olympic tryout.

The program includes 100, 200, 400 and 1,500 meter free style, 300 meters breast stroke; 100 meters back stroke and fancy diving.

◆

Des Moines, Ia., April 11—Athletic Director K. L. Wilson of Drake university today took out $5,000 rain insurance covering both days of the fifteenth annual Drake relay meet April 25 and 26. The insurance will indemnify the 1,500 competing athletes for part of their expenses.

◆

Milwaukee, April 11—Ernie Goozeman, coast featherweight and George Butch of St. Louis, meet here tonight in a ten round match, the winner of which is scheduled to meet Benny Bass, Philadelphia, here April 25.

◆

Appleton, Wis., April 11—Young Stribling, the Georgia school boy, who arrived here yesterday, is to meet Gunner Joe Quinn of Minneapolis tonight in a ten round no-decision match.

Although Stribling is expected to win Quinn may go the distance through his ability to take punishment."

PUT BLAME FOR CRASH ON LINES

Washington, April 11—Lax operating practices on the Union Traction company's lines were blamed for the accident Feb. 2, near Ingalls, Ind., which resulted in the death of 16 and injury of 36 persons in a report today to the bureau of safety of the interstate commerce commission.

GAS TRACTOR FOR TUSCOLA STREETS

Hiring of Machine Proves Unsatisfactory.

Tuscola, April 11—The city of Tuscola is now the owner of a new I. H. gas tractor, which is being used for scraping and leveling the dirt streets. A shed for housing the tractor and other street working machinery belonging to the city, has been built on the city-owned lots south of the Collins Grain company's elevator. The new machine was tried out Thursday, when it was given a full day's work at pulling the street scraper.

It has been the custom in years past to hire a tractor for that purpose, but it has not been satisfactory, as often a tractor could not be had just when the streets were in the best condition for work. A movement was started in the council some time ago toward the purchase of such a machine, and the movement met with favorable action and was pushed to the point of purchasing.

DWIGHT MOODY WEDS.

Mr and Mrs. J. W. Moody were in Chicago and Hammond, Ind., Thursday to attend the wedding of their grandson, Dwight Moody, to a Hammond young woman. The name of the bride to be, was not given by Mr. Moody to Tuscola relatives, but the wedding was to take place in Chicago.

Young Mr. Moody is a son of O. N. Moody, who formerly lived just east of Tuscola and is very well known here. He recently has been working in Hammond and making his home with an aunt, Mrs. Ethel Pierson. It is understood that the young couple will make their home in Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cummins have leased the Niles avenue property of John C. Koen, Jr., and are occupying it as a home.

CAMARGO P. M. LEAVES.

Charles Naylor who until recently was postmaster at Camargo, apparently has abandoned the office, as well as his young wife and child and departed for parts unknown. A post-office inspector is at present in charge of the office and is engaged in checking up the affairs of Mr. Naylor, in connection with the postoffice.

STILL ON CRUTCHES.

Mrs. Emma L. Jones, who has been spending the winter with her daughter in the western part of the state, has returned to her home at the Old Cook house on South Main street. Mrs. Jones suffered a broken hip as a result of a fall nearly a year ago, and is yet able to get about only by the use of crutches.

Vernon L. Cooch of the Tuscola Car and Tractor company went to Indianapolis Thursday evening to drive to Tuscola a Ford car for filling a sales order. Mr. Cooch took the motor bus line to Mattoon and went from there via the Big Four.

SHORTAGE RUMORED.

While no definite figures have been given out by the postoffice authorities, it is rumored that there is a considerable shortage in the accounts of the office. The former postmaster is an ex-service man and was in the marine corps during the war. Snowden Fetherolf, who temporarily had charge of the office, has resigned to take up his other work, and a permanent successor to Mr. Naylor has not yet been named.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church is arranging for a bazaar which will include a food market, to be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Saturday of this week.

Roy Trigg and family of Waukegan, Ill., are visiting with Tuscola relatives this week.

DOCTOR AND NURSE ARE SOON TO MARRY

Dr. Armstrong to Wed Miss Alice Hicks.

Taylorville, April 11—It has been reported that Dr. G. L. Armstrong of this city and Mrs. Alice Hicks of Decatur, at one time the Red Cross nurse in this city, will be married in the near future.

They have leased the G. F. Shumway residence from May 1 to Dec. 1, when Mr. and Mrs. Shumway will return from their Mississippi plantation.

DARWIN FUNERAL.

The funeral service for the late Mrs. Cordelia Darwin, wife of C. G. Darwin, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the A. M. E. church. The Rev. George Brown of Springfield and Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor of the local A. M. E. church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

INSTALLATION.

Installation of officers for the ensuing year were held at the Elks club Wednesday night. The following officers were installed:

Exalted ruler—Julius Herbst.

Esteemed leading knight—R. R. Simpson.

Esteemed lecturing knight—John Jones.

Secretary—Alvin Trisch.

Treasurer—Floyd Baughman.

Tyler—Ed Turner.

Trustee—M. Rosenski.

Don't let that cough run on

ITS much easier to check it now than after serious complications develop. Nothing like Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey to stop coughing quickly. Just those medicines that up-to-date doctors prescribe for loosening heavy phlegm and soothing throat tissues are in it—combined with the old reliable remedy—pine-tar honey. Keep it on hand for all the family.

All druggists. Be sure to get the genuine.

DR. BELL'S Pine-Tar Honey

Joint-Ease
For Swollen Joints

Most remedies fail but Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's for joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers up stiff, inflamed painful creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished.

Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask Decatur Drug Co. or any reliable druggist.

Have You Piles?
Then You Have Something to Learn.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Decatur Drug Company today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

Red Crown
The High-Grade Gasoline
for Your Car

When you buy Red Crown Gasoline, you buy service.

We have been refining gasoline for thirty-five years. We have incorporated in Red Crown all those essential elements which experience has taught us are necessary to make an efficient motor fuel.

Red Crown Gasoline is as nearly right chemically, scientifically, physically and mechanically as we know how to make it.

Red Crown will give you as good service from your motor as any gasoline you can buy—no matter what you may pay.

With Red Crown in your tank your car will start easily, summer or winter—get away quickly—accelerate smoothly—develop sustained, rhythmic power, tremendous speed, and maximum mileage.

This we accomplish by uniformity of quality which we guarantee whether you buy Red Crown in Southern Indiana or Northern Minnesota. The uniformity of Red Crown is of major importance to the tourist. With Red Crown Gasoline in the tank the tourist's motor is friendly, no matter how much of a stranger the driver may be to the people or the land.

Stinnes, Money Wizard, Dies

his auditors. His egotism was no less pronounced than his juvenility and his love of toys.

NEVER READ BOOKS.

The magnate himself took no delight in food, had no ear for music, never read books, saw nothing interesting in nature, and seldom was seen at the theater, although he numbered several of them among his possessions.

"My business", he would say, "so entirely occupies my mind that there is no room for anything else."

FIRST EVENING SUIT.

He owned his first evening suit in 1917, and was persuaded to purchase it by Albert Ballin, creator of the Hamburg-American Line. Before that he always appeared at dinners and banquets in what he termed his working clothes. He was seldom asked to speak in public, for he invariably drifted into a battle against the aristocracy, which he hated with all the fire of his complex nature.

BORN IN 1870.

Yet Stinnes himself did not start with nothing. He belonged to an eminent Jewish family long in commerce, and received substantial aid from his father after completing his studies in a technical school. He was born Feb. 12, 1870, and from earliest boyhood was trained in the principles of commerce and trade.

When the World War broke over Europe, Stinnes was transacting some business in Gastein. He read Austria's ultimatum to Serbia and instantly recognised it as war. He hurried to his Muelheim home, spent 11 hours in the telephone cell of his private apartment, and when he emerged all his enterprises were on a war basis.

PEOPLES' IDOL.

Politically, Stinnes was an idol of the German People's Party, formerly the National Liberals, which he was said to have financed after the revolution. During the Inter-Allied discussions on the German indemnity at Spa in the summer of 1920, Stinnes' defiant stand as a National Liberal was blamed for the failure to come to immediate terms.

PECULIAR HABITS.

The industrial prince of Germany cared nothing for luxury, and had no personal extravagances. He owned several motor cars, but usually walked or rode in a trolley car. He was often seen dunning through the streets of Berlin like a school boy, but no one more than glanced at him, for all knew Stinnes and his eccentricities. If his presence were required at one of the mines, he might be seen plodding along the street with a group of blackened miners, or else clinging to a strap in a street car surrounded by his workers, who treated him as one of their number.

MODEST HOME.

His apartments were modest, although he owned the hotel in which he lived. His country place outside Berlin was a simple cottage with a little garden. He bought no pictures or statues, for they were worthless, so he thought.

Hugo Stinnes had two favorite boasts. One was that he could buy anyone in Central Europe "without missing the money", and the other that he never had seen the former German Emperor, and wouldn't have turned his head to look at him on the street.

MISS ALIAS

BY DOUGLAS GRANT

© 1924 NEA SERVICE INC

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Sallie Peck, employe of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curtis. That night Sallie goes into the yard to take down a washing for Ma Brennan, with whom she lives. A crash shakes the earth and something strikes Sallie a blow on the head.

When she regains consciousness, the girl finds herself in strange surroundings. A French maid calls her Alva Copeland and Madame Copeland, a tall, richly gowned woman, claims her as her stepdaughter. Sallie discovers that she has fallen into the hands of crooks and is being substituted for the real Alva Copeland.

A man servant things he recognizes in Sallie a member of a gang of diamond thieves and helps her escape from the house at night. Michael Curtis and his friend, Captain Trevor, are trailing Sallie and Alva.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Dear Mrs. Jennet:

"Sorry not to have let you know last night but I met an old friend of my family and am visiting her now. Please give my bag to the bearer.

Yours sincerely,

"Alice Smith."

"Well?" Trevor looked up.

"'Well?'" Mrs. Jennet repeated. "I went straight out to that elegant-looking chauffeur and told him that the bag had been taken away not half an hour before by a young man from the police station!"

"But why in the world—?"

"Because the handwriting wasn't the handwriting of the 'Alice Smith' who'd come to my house the day before! I'd remembered it from the torn-up pieces of that letter she'd started to write, that I'd brought down from her room and stuffed in that vase, and after that chauffeur had driven off—and he went mighty fast— I took the scraps up to my room and placed 'em together, pasting 'em on a sheet of heavy paper. Your friend's got that, too."

"Trevor," Mike spoke in a suddenly hoarse tone, "I'd rather not show you this now but it is necessary if you want to question Mrs. Jennet further."

He held out the large sheet of paper with the irregular scraps pasted upon it edge to edge and as Trevor's eyes fell upon it he shook and grew white.

"Carin, my dearest," he read.

"Come, to me quickly at the address above and take me away for I am in great danger. I escaped from mother in the wreck of the train this morning to go to you, but a terrible man is following me and has twice threatened me. He insists that I am a woman named 'Diamond Bess,' of whom I have not heard. I dared not go directly to your rooms, for I feared mother would wire ahead to have them watched when she found I had run away from her, so I came to this boarding house, and within the hour that terrible man has followed me and taken a room here also. Come and take me—"

The letter, the delicate handwriting of which had been growing more and more agitated, ended in a great blotch as though a tear had fallen upon the wet, spreading ink and a groan of despair came from Carin Trevor's set lips. He raised haggard eyes to his friend.

"Mike, am I going mad! This is Alva's writing, the little notes she used to smuggle me on shipboard, and the dear, quaint way of expression— seen her three times this week at her window!"

"You have seen a girl with golden hair who didn't even recognize you or understand your signals and who finally waved to you to go away," Mike reminded him. "Miss—Alva's hair has been dyed black, remember!"

"But the scoundrel who followed her here! In heaven's name, madam, why didn't you have him arrested after you had read this letter?"

"Because he never came back either," Mrs. Jennet responded simply. "His bags had nothing in 'em but a couple of bricks apiece and the bags themselves he'd bought at a pawnshop 'round the corner the night before, as I found out later. I've got the young lady's two hid up attic. Do you want to see 'em?"

"Not now; we haven't time." Mike rose and dragged Trevor almost bodily to his feet. "You know who this Diamond Bess is, of course?"

Mrs. Jennet nodded.

"I never miss a case in the papers! She's the Delapierre jewel thief, ain't she? Bleached headed fine-looking hussy! How them society women'll take that kind into their homes as trusted servants beats me!"

"'Bleached?'" Trevor, still dazed from the shock, eyed his friend vaguely. "Alva's hair was bleached a trifle, too. That wretched stepmother of hers made her have it done in Paris and she grieved like a child over it. That is another reason why I should have known that girl at the window was not she, for her hair is a ruddy gold."

"What!" roared Mike. "Come man! Let's get out of this, for we've work to do at last! Goodby, Mrs. Jennet. Thanks for your information; you'll hear from me again."

No attempt was made to molest them on the way back to Trevor's rooms and once there the latter burst out:

"My God, Mike, if she finished a second letter to me and went out to mail it, it never reached me and she disappeared! Do you know what that means? It means that she has fallen into the hands of that gang of thieves, the worst band of criminals in the country! Five days have passed since!"

"You're going to be a lot of help in getting her out, Trevor, if you go to pieces like this!" Mike clapped him on the shoulder. "If you could only think where it was you saw that 'Fred the Ferret' whose mug you recognized at Headquarters yesterday—?"

"But I can! I do! He's one of the new servants at the Copeland house!" Trevor sprang to his feet. "I saw him two or three times last week, when the place was put in order for the family to come home!"

"And he's one of the gang that Diamond Bess belonged to!" Mike supplemented grimly. "I'm going to get Long Distance on your wire—thank the Lord, it's a private one!—and then we'll be ready to act!"

"Long Distance?" Trevor repeated.

"Shaftstown." Mike nodded. "My captain told me before I left that if I found out I wasn't the whole cheese to get word to him and he'd help. Headquarters here owes him a favor over a certain murder case and it pays its debts. It'll do for him what it wouldn't for me and I want a full raiding squad tonight!"

"What for?" demanded Trevor. "A few plainclothes men could go to the Copeland house and nab the Ferret, but if he doesn't know where your girl is or — mine either —Great Scott! That girl in the window!"

"Exactly. There are three girls missing from the wreck of the Gotham Arrow; Miss Copeland, who was known to have been on board, Diamond Bess, who is supposed to have gotten on at Philoppolis, and Sallie Peck—my Sallie—who was out in the yard when the derailed train crashed in upon her. The poor creature who lies buried in Sallie's grave was identified only by her hair—and it was bleached, although the old woman who made the identification was too grief-stricken to notice it. That's what started me on this hunt, for Sallie's hair is natural and ruddy gold! Miss Copeland's was dyed black the same day, so that lets her out even if we didn't know any more. The third girl—the girl at the window— is Sallie, and she never left Shaftstown of her own free will! The police of the city here wouldn't take a chance on raiding a family of such prominence for the sake of a little shopgirl from a small town, with no real proof that she's there, but by the Lord, I will! I'm going to raid the Copeland's like a den of thieves and we'll make them talk!"

"BECAUSE HE NEVER CAME BACK EITHER," SHE SAID.

CHAPTER XI

Therese Speaks.

To the anxious Mike it seemed an unconscionable time before he was put through on the wire to Police Headquarters at Shaftstown and meantime Carin Trevor plied him with questions which tried his soul.

"You don't suppose she's dead, Mike? That they've killed her?"

"Great heavens, no! If you want to know the truth I don't think it was she they were after at all, and I'll bet that gang would be mighty glad to get her off their hands right now if they could do so with safety to themselves!"

"What do you mean, old man?" Trevor's eyes brightened.

"Did you see Miss Copeland's hand luggage on board ship?" Mike inquired. "Was there a black traveling bag amongst it such as we've heard described?"

Trevor shook his head.

"Well, I happen to know it was Sallie's home Miss Copeland ran into after the accident with only a blanket wrapped about her and that black bag in her hand, and Sallie's clothes that she wore when she stole away to try to reach the city and you. I think she picked that bag up at random, dazed by the shock of the wreck and perhaps imagining she was clutching one of her own and didn't discover her mistake till she got up in Sallie's room. It was Bess Hilker's bag of course, and there must have been some distinguishing mark on it that any member of the gang could tell. It's known that she hadn't disposed of four of the largest Delapierre diamonds, worth a small fortune in themselves, and surmised that she had them with her in the wreck of the Gotham Arrow. Common sense would tell you that she'd probably wear them in a belt or about her neck, but her gang must have been wild when one of their number saw her bag in a ... hands and dared anything ... back, realizing the remote ... that the diamonds were ... it."

"Would they dare let her ... though, after once abducting ..."

It was the question which ... had been dreading but he was ... the necessity of a reply by the ... phone bell summoning him to ... call. He returned with a ... twinkle in his eyes.

"The captain doesn't know I ... here to find Sallie; I wouldn't ... him why I wanted leave, but ... now when I mentioned the ... pierre case he went up in the ... We'll hear fireworks from ... quarters now, pretty soon!"

"I hope so!" Trevor exclaimed. ... be with you and if the Ferret ... talk and the police can't make ... I can! But how did you ever ... the Jennet woman, Mike?"

Wabash Engineers To Start Viaduct Survey Monday

Decatur Men Feel Great Results Secured by St. Louis Visit to President Taussig.

Wabash civil engineers will be on the ground next Monday and careful surveys of the Decatur yards at Seventh street will be made so that the tracks to be laid for the re-built shops can be located and all data in regard to the kind of a viaduct that the Wabash would want, should it want any, at that street will be gotten together and submitted to J. E. Taussig, president of the Wabash, and the latter will come to Decatur on May 5 to go into the subject again in detail.

Not until then will a decision be reached as to whether or not the Wabash will consider joining with the city, the township and the A. E. Staley Co. in the construction of the proposed structure which is to carry the traffic over the Wabash tracks at that point.

This was the actual net result of the day's trip to St. Louis which was made Thursday by a group of Decatur men to talk over this Seventh street viaduct proposition with Mr. Taussig, president of the Wabash, in his office in that city.

GOOD DAY'S WORK.

But the Decatur men, Thursday night, felt that they had done a good day's work.

The situation was clarified and while Mr. Taussig made the same objections to the plan of separation of grades that he had made at different times in Decatur before wherein he showed that no railroad could survive and make the non-paying expenditures that grade separation involves should even a fraction of the demands be met. Still it was evident that the proposition interested him from the traffic production standpoint.

STALEY'S PLANS.

This was unquestionably caused by the statements made by A. E. Staley, head of the Staley Manufacturing Co. in which he laid before the head of the railroad the plans which have been made for an enormous expansion of the company's business through a building program and the development of new lines of business which will run the shipments of the company up to hundreds of carloads a day—all of this expansion, however, being dependent upon the ability of the Staley Co. to use the $200,000 worth of property that it has bought east of Seventh street and for which the viaduct is necessary for access to it.

M'EVOY'S OPENING.

J. H. McEvoy, president of the Association of Commerce, after the Decatur men and the Wabash officials had assembled in the conference room at Wabash headquarters on the fourteenth floor of the Railway Exchange building, made a very brief talk on the object of the meeting, which was to present to the Wabash the plans for a Seventh street viaduct.

Mr. Taussig said that the company had been unable to make the shopmen use viaducts which had been erected for their use in Moberly and Toledo and that one had been taken down and the other was about to be because the men preferred to cross the tracks rather than climb to the safer roadway.

Charles Becker, township highway commissioner, in whose territory the north end of the viaduct will be located, said that the township is ready to do its part.

HUGE STALEY EXPANSION.

A. E. Staley was then asked to tell why that company felt the absolute need of the viaduct and the starch maker went into details of a program of expansion for the future that surprised even those who were more or less familiar with the plans of the company.

Construction of a huge concrete grain elevator of 5,000,000 bushels capacity at the beginning with plans for increasing that capacity to 10,000,000, the building of feed mills, plants for packing products, mixing and storing feed, new office building, enlarged switching yards and other changes which could be made only by being able to have unobstructed access to the property which the company has been buying east of Seventh street, were laid before the railroad head and others present.

The vast increase in tonnage which will come to the railroad through this expansion was shown to Mr. Taussig.

CHANCE AT PEORIA.

Mr. Staley said that the company had eighty acres at Peoria where it would be compelled to go if it could not expand in Decatur, that Peoria stood ready with a fine offer on financing if the Decatur company would move but that he preferred very much to stay in Decatur.

Mr. Taussig said that as soon as the word of the fire in the Decatur shops had reached some of the other cities on the system these cities had made attractive offers to the Wabash to move their shops to their places.

WABASH LIKES DECATUR.

Mr. Taussig also said that he had not even given the subject a moment's consideration. The Wabash likes Decatur and the new shops will be built here, a structure costing $400,000 taking the place of one that cost $100,000.

A. O. Cunningham, chief consulting engineer of the railroad company, was asked a number of questions by Mr. Taussig and the need of the longer arches over the tracks was stressed by him.

FEDERAL PROBLEM.

Mr. Taussig, who said that he had these delegations asking for grade separations coming from many cities on the system, said that the problem had reached such proportions that he believed that the entire subject would be taken from the hands of the municipalities and states and put into the hands of a federal commission. The financial load cannot possibly be borne by the railroads at present rates, he said. The need for separation of grades, the actual necessity, not the convenience of it, has, he thought, been over emphasized.

The meeting lasted for more than two hours and at the end the decision to go into the subject at once, secure the definite facts about the lay-out of tracks for the new shops and the kind of structure needed, with a close estimate as to cost, was agreed upon, the Wabash engineers to start next Monday on the work in Decatur.

DECATUR MEETING MAY 5.

Mr. Taussig's own suggestion was that Mayor Elder, Commissioner of Highways Charles Becker, Mr. Staley and himself meet in Decatur May 5, study the actual cost figures and then agree upon a division of the burden if it developed that the project is feasible from financial and railroad standpoints.

Among those who attended the meeting were Mayor Elmer Elder, J. H. McEvoy, president of the Association of Commerce, Charles Becker, township highway commissioner, A. E. Staley, president of the Staley Manufacturing Co., and G. E. Chamberlain, his plant superintendent, M. C. Nelson, chairman of the civics committee of the Association of Commerce, B. B. Burns, chairman of the industrial committee of the same organization, W. F. Hardy, chairman of the City Plan commission, J. E. Stumpf, superintendent of the Decatur division of the Wabash, Morgan O'Brien, city engineer, R. D. Wood, chairman of A. of C. railroad track committee, President Taussig, A. O. Cunningham, chief engineer, S. E. Cotter, vice president and general manager, and a number of other members of the Wabash official family.

NAZARENE PASTORS ORGANIZE ASSOC'N

Rev. L. G. Milby President-Publish Paper.

About twenty-five pastors of Nazarene churches met in the Springfield church Thursday afternoon and organized a Central Illinois Nazarene Ministerial association. Rev. L. G. Milby, pastor of the First church, Decatur, was elected president and Rev. J. L. Cox, pastor of the West Side church in Decatur, was elected treasurer. The other officers are vice-president, Rev. J. D. Roach of Tallula and secretary, Rev. Ed Gallup of Springfield.

PUBLISH PAPER.

In this first meeting a number of important things were discussed and decided. One is that the association will publish a four page paper known as the Nazarene News, ten thousand copies to be printed the first time, and this number to be increased until 25,000 copies are published. The paper is to be paid for by donations and distributed throughout the district free of charge. Rev. Ed Gallup is editor of the paper, Rev. Mr. Milby is business manager, and Rev. Mr. Cox treasurer.

MEET IN DECATUR.

The association will meet once each month in the different churches and afternoon and evening meetings will be held at which time an evangelistic meeting will be held in the evening. The next meeting will be in the First church, Decatur, May 2, and the sessions will be at 2 and 7:30 p. m.

Fifteen hundred tent seats will arrive in Decatur about April 15 from the Home Mission board of Chicago for the county campaign which the First church expects to put on throughout Macon county this summer.

BOYS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER E. Z. GLIDERS

"Never Had So Much Fun in My Life," Says One.

The boys that have been fortunate enough to earn one of The Review E. Z. Fly Mono-plane gliders have certainly "gone bugs" over the great manner in which they "take the air."

Little fellows have come in the office turning in one sub without signed contracts, have gone away with their gliders and have reported the hours of fun which they have had with these on vacant lots.

EASY TO LEARN.

It surprises everyone how easy it is to learn to throw them so as to go from two to three hundred feet, under favorable wind conditions and as they are constructed to withstand the shock of landing, very few have been broken up to the present time. After a little practice a boy can make them loop-the-loop just as gracefully as the big machines.

IS NEIGHBORHOOD HERO.

One enthusiastic boy came in and said:

"Say, why didn't you folks have those things to give out to us kids a long time ago? Never had so much fun in my life. Every kid in the neighborhood thinks I am a great hero as I was the first one that earned it, and, of course, they treat me mighty nice because they want to be the first one to throw it.

"I am flying mine every evening as soon as I get out of school and it hasn't busted yet, but believe me if I do and can't fix it myself, I am going to turn in another new sub to The Review and get another one because I never had so much fun in my life."

FOR NEW SUBSCRIPTION.

Boys, remember all it takes is a new subscription for The Review in Decatur or if you live in a town where we have an agent turn your order over to the agent and he will send his increase to The Review and we will forward the glider to him to give to the person turning in the new subscription.

Every boy that has seen and used them has been very enthusiastic and it is certain that several hundred more boys will "go bugs" over them as soon as they earn one. Try it, it is not hard to get new readers for The Review.

WAGNER DIAMOND BEING IMPROVED

Haul in Dirt to Fill Low Spots in Ground.

The Wagner Malleable Iron company has a force of men at work fixing up the company's ball diamonds at the corner of Sangamon and Charles street. Many loads of dirt have been hauled in in the last few days to fill up the low spots. The ground has been dragged and rolled. A number of outbuildings that stood [illegible] rear of houses owned by the company on Lowber street are being torn away to make room for the outfielders.

NORTH SEA FERRY SOON TO OPERATE

Harwich, Eng.—(P)—The first North Sea train ferry will soon be running from this port to Zeebrugge, a distance of 84 miles, in nine hours. It is planned to run three boats, each of which will accommodate 54 railway trucks standing side by side on two sets of rails.

The cost of loading and unloading each boat is estimated at four shillings per ton of merchandise, as compared with 15 to 25 shillings per ton when the contents of each individual truck have to be transferred between train and boat.

SCHOOL PAGEANT SET FOR MAY 16

Miss Hannah Gevirtz Has All Plans Ready.

SYMBOLIC FIGURES

Each School to Have Different Character.

One of the most beautiful pageants ever seen in Decatur and the one involving more children than have ever been seen on a field here together will be given May 16, when Miss Hannah Gevirtz, director of physical education for schools, directs all fourteen of the grade schools in the Pageant of the Nations on the Field at Fairview park.

Each school on the field will be represented by a symbolic figure. They are:

French—Columbia.
Jasper—Uncle Sam.
Pugh—Education.
Gastman—Progress.
Dennis—Civilization.
Oglesby—Faith.
Ullrich—Hope.
Roach—Charity.
Jackson—Loyalty.
Riverside—Sympathy.
Warren—Love.
Oakland—Truth.
Durfee—Justice.
Lincoln—Peace.

Each of the schools is led onto the field by its symbolic figure, dressed in white. The little girls all will be dressed in white except for the touches of color put in by the use of crepe paper.

GRAND ENTRY.

This grand entry will come first on the program, and will be spectacular as all of the thousands of children march into place, the music being by the high school band. Each school will be known to the spectators, for back of the symbolical figure will come the banner bearer.

"The Spirit of Youth" is the second number performed by the little tots of the first grades of all the schools, and all dressed in white.

The children of the second grades will give the Danish greetings.

An Indian dance will be given by all the children of the third grades, and a Norwegian Mountain march by the fourth grades, while the fifth grade pupils will follow with a wand drill.

A Swedish folk dance, "Reap the Flax" will be the work of the girls of the sixth and seventh grades.

BOYS TO DRILL.

The boys of the sixth and seventh grades of French, Roach, Oakland, Durfee and Lincoln schools will give a marching drill.

A St. Patrick Day dance will be an attractive number by the girls of the sixth, and seventh grades of the French, Roach, Oakland and Durfee schools.

A Grecian sport drill will be given by the sixth and seventh grades of nine schools, Jasper, Gastman, Dennis, Oglesby, Roach, Riverside, Jackson, Warren, Lincoln.

The girls of the fifth grades of all the schools will have a Russian folk dance.

FOUR MAYPOLES.

One of the features of the afternoon's program will be the winding of the four May poles in the colors of the schools. This will be done by the pupils of the fourth grades. The finish will be a flag drill and all the schools singing Columbia.

The program will open at Fairview park at 2:30 the afternoon of May 16, and Miss Gevirtz requests that the mothers keep this date in mind so that none of the children will be missing. The children themselves are not likely to allow the mothers to forget the date for they are entering into the spirit of the work very heartily.

It will be a surprise to those who are at all interested in the methods used in handling as large a number of children as will be represented here that Miss Gevirtz plans but one grand rehearsal at Fairview, and then only two or three children from each school will do the practicing. These of course, will be the leaders.

Only two schools are practicing with the high school band, and yet this demonstration will be as perfect and as beautiful as can be imagined for each child is drilled in his part in the home school.

MRS. J. R. TELFORD TO HEAD PARENTS

High School P.-T. A. Names Officers.

Mrs. J. R. Telford was elected president of the Parent-Teachers association which met Thursday afternoon in the high school. Other officers elected were:

First vice-president—Mrs. George Flint.
Second vice-president—Mrs. W. A. Pownall.
Secretary—Mrs. Harry Lilly.
Treasurer—Mrs. Arthur Wait.

NAME DELEGATES.

Two delegates were selected to attend the state convention in Springfield next week. They are Mrs. Telford and Mrs. Lilly.

Thursday had been set aside as visiting day for the mothers to the high school sessions. Luncheon was served to the mothers in the cafeteria. The women inspected the first aid room which had been fitted up by the association and the teachers' rest room.

A program by the pupils of the school preceded the business meeting. A number of readings and musical selections were given, also a dramatization of "A Tale of Two Cities."

MRS. L. O. BRICKER THIRD DELEGATE

To Represent H. B. Durfee Mothers' Club At State Meeting.

At a called meeting of the H. B. Durfee school Mothers' club Thursday night, Mrs. L. O. Bricker, the president, was chosen as the third delegate to represent the club at the state Parent-Teachers' meeting in Springfield next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Wickersham and Mrs. Samuel Thornton are the other delegates. The meeting Thursday night was entirely for business and beside the election of a delegate several bills were allowed. Thirty people attended the meeting, all the teachers being present.

TAILORED SUIT IS CORRECT IN PARIS

Paris, April 11.—The tailored suit is seen as much on the streets of Paris as on the Avenue of New York at present, but the coats are several inches longer. The dressmakers here prophesy that by mid-summer all coats will be three-quarters length.

—:—

London, April 11.—The London shopkeeper is already preparing for the forthcoming exposition, exemplified by the charming window displays one sees in Bond street. One day last week Liberty showed a beautiful display of hand-made jewelry; East Indian silver and semi-precious jewels from the eastern countries.

—:—

London, April 11.—Late spring in London finds the woman of fashion in furs and heavy fabrics. Not until May or June does she capitulate to lightweight silks and laces.

—:—

Paris, April 11.—All the hats here today are big; but one doubts that the American woman will relinquish the small comfortable turban.

EMBROIDERY TRIMMING

Wool embroidery in shades of golden brown trims this straight-line frock of brown poiret twill. A unique short cape goes with the frock and is lined with a lighter shade of brown. The upstanding collar is unique.

Summer Wear.

Two and three-piece suits for wear later on in the summer are of silk poplin in bright shades of rust, American Beauty or green.

Sandals.

Many sandals and pumps of this season's make have heels of a contrasting color. Red and green heels are particularly well liked.

Rubberized Flowers.

Gorgeous and exotic flowers of rubberized silk trim bathing hats and form corsage bouquets for bathing suits.

Standing Collar.

The standing collar is seen on the newest cloth dresses, particularly coat dresses.

Colonel Bullington Speaks in Monticello.

Monticello, April 11—One hundred and one were present at the Community Club luncheon Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian church parlors. The American Legion, Ray Hamm Post No. 101, were guests. Colonel Bullington, State Commander of the American Legion, gave an interesting address. Attorney Carl R. Reed spoke in behalf of the Community Club and M. C. Long in behalf of the American Legion.

A marriage license was issued in Decatur April 9 to Miss Arnesta Elder and Arthur F. Fought, both of Monticello.

The J. U. Club were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Dresback.

The regular meeting of the Mooseheart Legion was held in the L. O. O. M. rooms Tuesday evening. Several candidates were initiated. A miscellaneous luncheon served.

Dan Clark of Decatur spent Wednesday here with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell and little son of Chicago are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Cleve Coakley and family and his father, Jack Bell of Greeley, Colo., who is a guest in the Coakley home.

Fred Dresback was a business visitor in Decatur Wednesday.

Henry Niace and family expect to move soon to Michigan.

A marriage license was issued in Decatur Wednesday April 9 to Everett J. Shrieves and Miss Bonnie Tapscott, both of Decatur. Mr. Shrieves is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shrieves of Decatur, former Monticello residents. He is a grandson of Mrs. Elizabeth Gire of this city.

J. D. Duffey and family moved Thursday to the England property on East High street which they recently purchased. Will Phillips and family who have been living in the England property moved to the house vacated by Mr. Duffey, on Greeley street.

A Good Sign to Follow

Leaf Lettuce Goes Higher; Strawberries To Go Lower

Home Grown Rhubarb Expected Saturday; New Potatoes at 11 to 12½ Cents Per Pound.

Leaf lettuce is about five cents higher on the pound just now, selling at twenty cents a pound. When merchants were asked why this is just at this season of the year when head lettuce is losing its place, and a really good head can be had for little less tha twenty-five cents, they only shook their heads and said "It's higher because its higher." One of them said further, however, that the last lettuce of the season is in the green houses at this time, and that as home grown lettuce will come in a short time now, the growers simply decided to boost the price.

Oranges are up a trifle. It amounts to thirty cents on a case of oranges but as the ordinary customer wants to know how much this means per doz., it runs according to size, from five to seven cents a dozen. Oranges are now selling from twenty-five to sixty cents a dozen.

STRAWBERRIES SAME.

The strawberry market remains practically the same. Merchants are expecting a change not under two weeks, when they think the price will begin to break. They remain at thirty-five and forty cents a pint box, two boxes for sixty-five cents, and have stuck there for weeks.

Berries are now coming from Florida and Louisiana, the greater number from the latter state. They will get up a little farther north before much change is found in the price. It will be Arkansas, Tennessee, then Missouri and Illinois.

Kohlrabi is on the market this week, the first seen for a long time. It is a vegetable which grows more popular year by year. It sells for ten cents a bunch.

New cabbage is plentiful and the heads much more solid than when it first came into market this year. It sells for six and seven cents a pound. One merchant predicted a raise in price.

NEW RHUBARB.

Home grown rhubarb is expected for Saturday and once this strikes the market the price drops way down. Rhubarb is now fifteen cents a pound.

New potatoes are much better than at any time of the spring and the demand for them is better. They sell at eleven and twelve and a half cents a pound. Celery begins to show the effects of the warmer weather but the fairly good bunches can still be purchased for seventeen and twenty cents a bunch.

Eggs and chickens remain the same as last week. Eggs twenty-two and twenty-five cents a doz., and chickens forty and forty-two cents a pound full dressed.

Butter is down a little and may be had from forty-two cents a pound to forty-eight cents, both creamery and country.

A new cottage cheese is in the maket which is a good keeper, according to the reputation the merchant gives it. It sells at twenty-three cents pound.

Lake fish is scarce this week. There is little white fish and trout to be had but the river fish are plentiful and very fine.

COOLIDGE ASKS FOR PUBLIC SENTIMENT

Washington, April 11—President Coolidge, addressing members of the Women's National committee for Law Enforcement from the south portico of the White House Thursday told them successful law enforcement depended primarily upon the measure of public sentiment for observance of the law.

"I sometimes wish," the president said, "that people would put a little more emphasis upon the observance of the law than they do upon its enforcement. It is a maxim of our institution that the government does not make the people, but the people make the government. That is why the gathering of this is encouraging to me."

Brazil Juggles Coffee In World's Markets

Prices, Supply and Quality Uncertain As Battle For Control Goes Merrily On.

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1924)

New York, April 11.—Practically every housewife in the United States knows what she is accustomed to put into the breakfast coffee pot daily. But indications exist that she will not be able to tell what she can put into the pot some months hence or what it will cost her. Already coffee drinkers all over the country are complaining to grocers, wholesalers and roasters of the inferior grade of cup coffee.

Brazil holds the dominating influence in the coffee market at present and dealers are giving that government full credit for its cleverness in handling its coffee problems. The coffee market of America is practically based on Rio coffee. Mocha and Java, once names to conjure with when the steaming coffee cup was considered, now are names only in the trade.

SEEKS HIGHER PRICES.

Brazil is endeavoring so to control the marketing of the supplies from her plantations as to obtain high prices. This government effort at valorisation, which simply means the maintenance of arbitrary values by government action, is dependent for its success largely on the results of efforts by the Brazilian government to obtain a loan from Great Britain.

Negotiations for such a loan are known to be in progress, but the Brazilian government is steadfast in its policy of refusing to announce how far the matter has progressed.

RECEIPTS SMALL.

In the meantime, receipts at the Brazilian ports continue small. Shipments to this country likewise are of nominal proportions. Roasters here are buying very limited amounts in the hope of lower prices and stocks throughout this country are relatively light. The statistical position of this great commodity is unprecedentedly strong. Stocks of Rio coffee in this market are estimated by one authority at not above 20,000 bags, of which the bulk is owned by roasters. Stocks afloat are not large.

RIO'S SUPPLY.

The amount at Rio itself totals only approximately 267,000 bags and it is estimated there remain only about 365,000 bags of the last crop to come forward from interior points, making a total supply of 632,000 bags to meet demand until the new crop comes on the market July 1. Forecasts of the 1924 crop available so far indicate that the Brazilian supply will be moderate, probably in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 bags.

Against this supply, world requirements of Rio coffees between now and July 1 are placed at 1,592,000 bags or a deficit of 960,000 bags. Requirements for the annual period beginning July 1 are estimated at 4,776,000 bags, or a probable deficit of 1,776,000 bags. The amount of Rio coffee required cannot be supplied from other sources except at a higher price. The next grade to Rio is Santos, which relatively is 2½c a pound higher than Rio.

In addition, the experts of the trade are convinced that coffee now may be regarded as an indispensable ingredient of the world food supply and that it will continue so even though the economic conditions in general here and abroad should take a turn for the worse.

Household Suggestions

Chocolate.

When your molasses is too light colored to give the right brown tone to your gingersnaps or gingerbread a tablespoon of ground chocolate added with the spices will do the trick.

Oven Thermometer.

An oven thermometer more than pays for the expenditure because with it one need not worry about over or underdone food.

Croquettes.

When making croquettes shape them and set in a cool place for a while, then fry in hot deep fat, with five or six, never more, croquettes in the frying basket at once.

Sift Soda.

If you are not dissolving soda in hot water always sift it through a fine wire sieve before using.

Apricot Pie.

A delicious apricot pie is made by filling a baked pie shell with sweetened whipped cream and halves of canned apricots on that.

EAT AND—

Lose Weight

One large orange, 2 tablespoons rolled oats, stuffed beet salad, 4 tablespoons baked shrimp and tomatoes, 1 cup spinach, 1 cup fruit salad, 4 ounces leaf lettuce, 2 thin slices gluten bread, 1 whole wheat roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1092. Protein, 245; fat, 146; carbohydrate, 801. Iron, .024 gram.

STUFFED BEET SALAD (INDIVIDUAL).

One medium sized beet, 2 tablespoons cottage cheese, salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, lettuce ribbons.

Wash beets and boil until tender. Dip in cold water and slip skin. Scoop out center and fill with cottage cheese mixed with salt, pepper, lemon juice and paprika. Arrange on a bed of shredded lettuce and serve very cold. Bits of the beet scooped from the center can be used to garnish the top of the cheese.

Total calories (exclusive of lettuce), 82. Protein, 43; fat, 4; carbohydrate, 35. Iron, .0003 gram.

The rolled oats are eaten without sugar or cream. Skimmed milk can be used. If the oats are cooked several hours the natural sweetness of the grain will make the lack of sugar quite unnoticeable.

The fruit salad has no dressing but the fruit juices and the spinach is seasoned with salt and pepper and lemon juice.

Gain Weight

One large orange, 1 cup rolled oats with six chopped dates, 1 soft boiled egg, 1 cup cream of vegetable oyster soup, stuffed beet salad, 4 tablespoons baked shrimps and tomatoes, 2 rice croquettes, 1 cup spinach with 1 hard boiled egg and 4 tablespoons cream sauce, 1 cup fruit salad with 2 tablespoons whipped cream dressing, 4 ounces leaf lettuce, 2 pieces whole wheat toast, 2 whole wheat rolls, 2 slices raisin bread, 1 pint whole milk, ½ cup cream, 3 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons croutons, 1 raisin puff pudding, 2 tablespoons nut and date pudding with 1 tablespoon whipped cream.

Total calories, 5970. Protein, 458; fat, 1502; carbohydrate, 2010. Iron, .0281 gram.

BAKED SHRIMPS AND TOMATOES.

Two cups canned shrimp, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery pepper, 3 drops onion juice, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup coarse whole wheat bread crumbs.

Rub tomatoes through a colander to remove seeds. Cook until thick. Add seasonings. Remove the little black vein from canned shrimps and put them in a buttered baking dish. Pour over tomato sauce. Melt butter and stir in crumbs. Put buttered crumbs over mixture in baking dish and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown and the mixture is hot through and through. Serve with rice croquettes.

Total calories (exclusive of croquettes), 765. Protein, 515; fat, 180; carbohydrate, 70. Iron, .0003 gram.

The stuffed beet salad for this menu has cream and nuts in the cheese and a rich mayonnaise masks the whole.

HUMANE SOCIETY AFTER NEW MEMBERS

Discuss Coming Membership Drive at Meeting Thursday.

The Humane society board discussed ways and means of holding the membership drive at the meeting held in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon. No definite date was set for this drive, but it will be within a few weeks, and plans are to make it very extensive. The membership now is about 150.

One new director, R. J. Hinkle, a veterinarian, was made a member of the board.

Fruit Pies.

An interesting variation for fruit pies is to put the fruit in the bottom of the pan and use only a top crust.

He laughed at Kellogg's Bran!

Now read this letter of thanks from Mr. Kane. It speaks for itself. Remember, it is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran that it was so effective in his case—just as it has been in thousands of others. Only ALL bran can produce 100 per cent results.

My dear friend:

Imagine a young man weighing 145 pounds in the course of a few months perched in bed, a weakling weighing 94 pounds. An elderly lady whom I knew since I was a kid paid me what she thought was a last visit. Upon being told of my plight she immediately mentioned your product for such an ailment. Maybe some of us didn't look upon her views very lightly . . . it was to laugh!

My dear friend, I am still laughing . . . not at your product, but because I am able to. I am telling you and the world at large, "Eat Kellogg's Krumbled Bran!" It should be called "Constipation's worst enemy." I owe you my heartfelt gratitude. I can talk, and whenever the opportunity presents itself, my mouth is always full of bran—Kellogg's Krumbled. Wishing you countless days of progress, I am

Yours for success,

John M. Kane,
220 Salem St., Woburn, Mass.

Eat Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, regularly to relieve constipation permanently. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money. You will like the delicious nut-like flavor. Sold by all grocers.

IRRIGATED LANDS GROW MORTGAGES

Reclamation Body Urges Changed Plan.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—A comprehensive overhauling of the government's reclamation program involving the charging off as a total loss of $27,391,146 of the approximately $150,000,000 invested, and providing measures of relief to thousands of farmers and protection of further federal expenditures on irrigation of the arid wastes of the west, is urged in a unanimous report submitted to Secretary Work by the special advisory committee on reclamation.

ASK AID TO SETTLERS.

The committee of experts, now disbanded, has been making a study of the reclamation problem for six months, and its report was presented with the recommendation that it be used as a basis for prompt remedial legislation.

Members of congress from many western states have made vigorous pleas during the sitting of the committee for aid to the project settlers, and it is probable that President Coolidge, to whom the report was submitted, will have some recommendation to make to congress in the near future.

WHERE IRRIGATION FAILED.

Declaring conditions are serious on many of the twenty-eight projects located in fifteen western states, with three already having failed, the committee stated that of the $143,000,000 already spent in building irrigation works $18,561,146 will never be recovered, with a probable loss of an additional $8,830,000, the whole representing losses in construction to supply water for lands found to be of little or no return value.

The principal recommendation of the committee, of which Dr. Elwood Mead of California, recently named commissioner of the reclamation bureau to carry out the new policies to be approved by congress, was a member, is that repayment of construction costs be based on the actual crop production of the farm lands rather than the present system of a fixed percentage of the construction cost an acre, which was held to be "inelastic and unscientific."

MAILS CARRY MANY DAY-OLD CHICKS

Freeport, April 10—Thousands of day-old chicks are passing through the mails from large hatcheries of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin to purchasers in nearly every state in the union, according to postal authorities.

The parcel post, they said, has proved a boon to poultrymen who are able to ship their product at comparatively low cost to destinations far and near and with the assurance that the birds will arrive in good condition.

ODD NILES ACQUITTED

Freed of Charge of Trying to Kill Moultrie Sheriff.

Sullivan, April 11.—Odd Niles, indicted and tried this week on a charge of attempting to kill former Sheriff Charles Lansden when the latter and a posse of officers sought to arrest him and Dr. S. Logan Estes, a couple of years ago, was acquitted Thursday by a jury in the circuit court. The jury took the case Wednesday evening, returning a verdict Thursday afternoon.

AFFRAY NEAR GAYS.

Niles was said to have fired upon the sheriff and his deputies as the latter sought to arrest him and Estes as the two men were putting away an automobile in a shed near Gays. The automobile is said to have been stolen, and the two men were ambushed by the officers, it was claimed. In the darkness both men got away. A day or two later Estes appeared near Gays in a badly wounded condition. He was arrested, eventually tried and convicted on a similar charge to that lodged against Niles, and is now serving a penitentiary sentence.

NILES DISAPPEARED.

Niles was not found for a long time, and then he surrendered himself to Coles county officers on another charge, and was sent to the penitentiary from which he was recently discharged. His arrest on the charge in Moultrie county occurred at the penitentiary doors, and he was brought here for the trial that has resulted in his acquittal.

JURORS WHO ACQUITTED.

JAPAN DELAYS SOVIET PACT

High Official Circles Skeptical Regarding Russ Intentions.

Tokio, April 11—(AP)—Japanese recognition of the Russian Soviet government is still many months off. In spite of the widespread sentiment in favor of such a step. The movement has enjoyed a revival in recent weeks following the resumption of relations between Britain and Russia and Italy and Russia.

There is small possibility that the Japanese government will take any steps toward closer relations with Russia befor the general election for the House of Representatives May 10. From an unimpeachable source it is learned that Baron Keishiro Matsui, foreign minister, and his colleagues in the cabinet do not wish to add a foreign issue of such importance as Russian recognition to the already imposing array of domestic issues which complicate their position before the electorate.

AWAIT OUTCOME.

Moreover, by delaying a decision until May the government will be able to follow the pending Anglo-Russian negotiations, the outcome of which will greatly influence Japanese policy. In spite of the insistence of a considerable body of public opinion, and most of the leading papers, that immediate action be taken to establish Russo-Japanese relations on a formal basis, in official circles there is still much skepticism concerning the Soviet's intentions.

Officials express the opinion that the labor ministry in England will find many obstacles in the way of complete understanding with Moscow. The foreign office, therefore, intends to tread warily and watch carefully.

DOES MORE WORK THANKS PEPGEN

Judging from the large number of statements that have been received at the Decatur Drug Co. from people who are taking Pepgen, it is safe to say that at least fifty per cent of the population of this city are now taking it.

Among the interesting cases that have recently been presented is that of Mrs. Ella McCrum, 1826 E. Johns avenue. Mrs. McCrum says, "I suffered from general debility. My liver was inactive and I was badly constipated. This made me nervous and I couldn't sleep soundly. I always felt tired in the mornings and along towards evening I was dead on my feet.

"Since taking Pepgen I feel like a new woman. I have more life. I can do twice as much work and not feel half as tired. I am not constipated now. I am pleased to recommend Pepgen to those who suffer as I formerly did."

Pepgen has relieved hundreds of Decatur people of gas on the stomach, heartburn, bloated feelings, sour stomach, sick headaches, nervousness, pains in the back, and habitual constipation. Why not you?

Pepgen is sold in Decatur only at the Decatur Drug Co. It may also be obtained at one leading drug store in every nearby town which may be known by a Pepgen sign.

Following are the names of a few Pepgen dealers in this vicinity:

Weldon Has Nest Egg of $30,000; Voters Vote Down New High

Weldon, Ill., April 11—Regardless of the fact that the little village of Weldon had a nest egg of $30,000 stored away in the toe of the community stocking, voters failed to favor the proposition of erecting a new high school building at the special election held Wednesday, the project failing by a vote of 205 to 275.

The vote cast is not conceded to be representative and a great deal of dissatisfaction is expressed throughout the eastern section of the county at the lack of votes supporting the proposition, which indicate that the majority of the votes cast were by men.

For a number of years the high school has rented a portion of a new grade school building, awaiting such a time as would see labor and material low enough to erect a new building. The bond issue of $60,000, together with a $30,000 nest egg would have erected the school.

ARCOLA.

DIES IN THE WEST.

Mrs. N. W. Reynolds died at her home in Los Angeles, Cal., Sunday after an illness due to a breakdown in health caused by her age, which was beyond eighty years. The funeral services were held Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ferguson Hardin.

The deceased came to Arcola forty-five years ago and was a resident here for many years. For the last twenty years they have resided in California. Surviving members of the family are two daughters, Mrs. Grace Porter and Mrs. Belle Hardin, of Los Angeles, and a son, Harry Reynolds, of San Francisco.

A son was born Thursday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Trout, of this city.

SECTION FORCE INCREASED.

The section force of Joe Williams, Illinois Central section foreman, has been increased to eight men again. A few days ago it was cut from five to one man. There probably will be a further increase to thirteen men on the 15th of the month.

Harry Keal, a well known farmer residing at the northeastern edge of Arcola, is seriously ill with an attack of pneumonia and his present condition is regarded somewhat apprehensively by members of his family and friends.

STRAW JUST BALED BURNS.

Thirty-five tons of baled straw were burned Monday on the farm of Will Edgar, four miles south of Arcola. The straw stack from which the baled straw had been taken also was consumed.

The straw baling operations were conducted by Asa Bryant, of this city. Workmen were warming oil for the tractor when a puff of wind blew the fire into the stack of loose straw. By the time the men got the machinery out of the way there was no chance of combatting the fire successfully. The loss will amount to about $300.

A party of eight Arcola women motored to Lovington Thursday where they were entertained by Mrs. Willis Howell. The affair began with a dinner served at one o'clock and was followed by an afternoon devoted to auction bridge.

The following is a list of the Arcolans who attended: Mrs. Newt Cox, Mrs. P. J. Coggin, Mrs. M. P. Poulos, Mrs. George Lins, Mrs. E. S. Allen, Mrs. R. J. Moore, Mrs. Walter Reinheimer, Miss Nelle Sullivan.

TWO FORDS CRASH.

An employe of the Meneely Company, driving a Ford roadster and headed north, and Toland Pfeifer, driving a Ford Sedan, headed eastward, ran together at the Washington street intersection of the Egyptian Trail Wednesday morning.

The drivers saw each other too late and in trying to avoid a collision their cars came together sideways, both being pretty badly smashed but fortunately neither driver was seriously injured. Mr. Pfeifer has some bruises but is not seriously hurt.

Vulcanize From The Inside

We have just installed the new HAWKINSON TIRE REPAIR SYSTEM which does all repair work from the inside. By repairing from the inside the weak section of the tire is built up by the same method as the original tire was made. When the air pressure is applied the outside section of the tire holds the repaired section in place. This does away with all bulging and makes the repaired section as flexible as the rest of the tire. The tread of the tire is also left uniform.

A Patch Becomes Part of the Tire by the

HAWKINSON TIRE REPAIR SYSTEM

The Only Scientific Repair Method for Repairing Cord Tires

You are invited to come in any time and see the new HAWKINSON TIRE REPAIR SYSTEM in operation. The only system of this kind in Macon county. Every job is guaranteed. The new system costs no more than the old and is many times more satisfactory.

TELLS HOW HIS WIFE SUFFERED FOR 3 YEARS

Stomach Trouble and Nervousness Now Gone and Mrs. Jester Is Happy and Smiling.

"Yes, sir, the credit for restoring my wife's health goes to Tanlac and I'm mighty glad to say so, for it does my heart good to see her so cheerful, happy and contented," enthusiastically states O. E. Jester, R. F. D. "O," or P. O. Box 648, Indianapolis, Ind., well-known C. I. & W. railroad freight claim adjuster.

"My wife suffered from stomach trouble three years and her appetite and strength finally dwindled down to near nothing. The lightest meal caused gas, heartburn and palpitation and her nerves were so tightly strung she could neither sleep well or stand any confusion. Dizziness, headaches and biliousness further aggravated her, and she was miserably weak.

"Since Tanlac relieved her ailments so thoroughly, my wife eats, sleeps and feels like a schoolgirl. She has gained weight until she hardly looks like the same person and even goes through a hard day's work at home joyful and smiling."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Use the nine digits in their proper order, as shown above. Among them insert any arithmetical signs—such as plus, —, division sign, x, so as to form a total of 100.

For example: 1x234 (total 234) x5 (1170)—6 (1164)—789 equals 375. The problem is to attain 100 by similar processes).

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

The Froggie's Escape

Soon he reached the pond.

Nancy and Nick crawled through the little hole in Doofunny Land that ended in the old stump in the meadow.

Right ahead of them hopped the frog that the fairy had changed. A few minutes before he had been a cotton frog with green tissue paper skin and wire toes. Now he was a real live frog from head to foot, and he was making for the pond where he had always longed to live.

"Kerchug! Chugalug! Chugalorum! Klunk!" he kept saying over and over, trying every new word that came into his head. "I never could do that before. How handsome my voice is!"

Soon he reached the pond and stood for a minute looking down into the muddy water.

"At last," he gurgled, "I can dive, and swim, and splash, and toast myself in the sun, and catch flies! Hooray!"

With that he gave one wild leap and dived head first into the water.

"He's all right!" said Nancy. "As happy as a fly in a sugar barrel. Let's go back and tell Mister Fuzz Wuzz all about him?"

"All right," agreed Nick, "come on."

Just then they saw a brownish figure long and slim and furry slip close to the edge of the water, as silently as a shadow. There it waited.

The Twins waited, too, for they knew exactly who it was. They had seen him before and they knew that he liked frogs—to eat! It was Marty Mink.

The long brown figure slipped into the water without a ripple and sank from view.

"Oh, he'll get him! He'll get him!" screamed Nancy.

But her voice frightened the mink. He crawled out of the water on the opposite side of the pond and sneaked off into the grass.

At that minute the little green frog poked up his head. "What's wrong?" he croaked. "What did you scream for? You made me awfully nervous."

"The mink was after you," said Nancy. "He nearly got you and if he had he'd have eaten you at one bite."

"Minks!" trembled the froggie. "I never heard of such thinks. Do they actually eat frogs? I never knew anything ate frogs except ducks."

"Oho!" shouted Nick. "That shows you don't know much. Didn't you know that minks and weasels and owls and martens and nearly all the wild creatures just love frogs. And that you're never safe a minute."

"No, no, no, no, no!" croaked the frog. "I never knew that. I thought that all they had to do was to enjoy themselves. Oh, do take me back to Doofunny Land and have the fairy turn me back into a nice cotton frog again. Nothing ever hurt me and I was very happy."

The Twins picked him up.

I'll tell you another time what happened then.

Prodigal Son And Spiritual Dunces

Big Crowd Hears Gypsy Smith Tell of the Short Road to Repentance.

Based on the story of the prodigal son, the sermon by Gypsy Simon Smith in the First Methodist church Thursday night was, probably, the best he has preached so far in the series. The church was crowded to the doors, the greatest number of people attending since Sunday evening and the speaker insists that the crowds will be even greater next week.

By 6:15 Thursday evening, an hour and a quarter before the services were to begin, there were many people arriving who waited through that time.

SPIRITUAL DUNCES.

The difference between fear and repentance was brought out clearly in this Thursday night talk. He said:

"In spite of a good education there are some spiritual things some people don't understand. They are, so to speak, spiritual dunces. The first preacher of the New Testament preached repentance. The Lord preached repent and believe and then his diciples took up the theme and every true follower of Christ must talk on this theme.

"A bishop one time was preparing to leave a certain town. He was accosted by a boozy individual who asked him which is the way to heaven. The reply he received was, "Turn to the right and keep straight ahead." And that is a mighty fine definition of repentance.

NEVER IN PANTRY.

"Mother, did you ever catch Johnnie in the pantry? My mother never caught me in the pantry. Boys look at me and wonder. We never had a pantry. I carried mine around with me.

"But mother, why did Johnnie cry when you caught him in the pantry? It was because he was afraid of punishment wasn't it? Those people who get wrought up and cry for fear of punishment haven't reached the repentant state. Repentance comes only when you are so sorry for your sins that you are ready to change your ways.

THE ROAD TO HELL.

"A sermon on repentance was preached in eight words once. A minister described it thus: Taking four steps one way he said, 'This is the road to hell.' Then sharply about face, he took four steps in another direction and said, 'This is the road to heaven.'"

We are like the prodigal son. We have missed the real grain while we have been grabbing after the husks. We are like a boy who grabs for a soap bubble and when he opens his hand he finds he has nothing. The man who grabs for wealth is never satisfied, he always grabs for more. The people who seek the pleasures of life are never satisfied.

"No, the only true satisfaction can be found in doing God's will.

"There are men today breaking the laws of the country to obtain some bauble that they are not satisfied with when they get it. The "far country" pays hard wages. If you go into this far country of the prodigal son you will be stript of all that is good. Yes you will. I know this is true for I have been in the far country.

USING SWEAR WORDS.

"No I was never a drunkard. I am proud to tell you that I never had any liquor in my life. I never used swear words. I was looking for an education and I found out that the intelligent people didn't use them. I thought people just put in the swear words to fill up. A bird you know is known by its song and a man by his conversation.

"People, I am speaking from experience. The first time I came to this country to buy horses for the English market I was still quite young. When I arrived in Chicago I had the noble sum of $4. I think I had been there four minutes when four men held me up and got a dollar each. I guess they thought I couldn't be trusted with so much money. On the boat coming over I met a fellow whose parents had given him $1,000 for a start. He invited me to spend a few days in New York with him and some other fellows. I declined and warned him of his danger."

MODERN PRODIGAL SON.

The speaker went on to tell how the young man lost his money and later worked his way back on the cattle ship by helping to care for the horses which Mr. Smith took back. Then he asked him as a favor to break the news of his failure to his parents. He stayed around the corner while the gypsy went in and broke the news and obtained the promise of full forgiveness. "I then went out and got him and he and his parents cried and to make a quartet I cried too.

FOR FRIDAY NIGHT.

Friday night's sermon will be to the young people but every one is assured of liking it. The subject is "Some Adventures of a Gypsy Boy."

The subject for Sunday morning will be "True Stories Stranger Than Fiction." The subject for Sunday evening will be, "Modern Miracles in the Slums of London."

The moving about in the audience bothered the speaker, Thursday night and he several times requested that it be stopped. He apologised for being "fidgity" but said it broke the continuity of his thought.

A prayer meeting for workers will be held at 6:30 Friday evening in the official board room.

Rev. F. K. Crews of Stewardson and Rev. Harry Cochran of Cisco were visiting ministers from out of town.

The songs sung by the evangelist Sunday evening were "Out of the Depths" and "Don't Forget the Promise Made to Mother."

Decision cards are passed out in the audience by the workers, and those who wish to make their decisions for Christ are asked to sign them and turn them in.

Gypsy Smith has requested that no one leave the church during the singing of the last hymn.

The evangelist's original songs may be purchased in the church office following any service, and at the east door.

Dr. Chesteen Smith says he is a fairly good guesser on the amount of collections turned in by any audience. He missed it for Wednesday night by forty-eight cents, he said.

Fully 1,500 people were seated in the church Thursday night.

"Some of us preachers are fidgity mortals and if I see any one moving around I can't concentrate. On the east door will be a sign telling the people to go to the other room when there are no more seats on the east side of the church."

"You would think to hear some preachers that the Lord said 'Feed my giraffes' for they preach so high up."

"The first book I ever bought was a dictionary. It ought to be a good one for I paid one cent for it. I got a lot for my money. Poverty is no disgrace but it's inconvenient."

"I don't mind telling you folks I can't study books like other people. I wish I could but I can and do study humanity. You can get sermons by studying folks. I came to this country at sixteen years of age and went through Ellis Island, was in New York, on a farm close to Chicago, a rider on the Mexican border, in Canada and across the seas many times. I have studied humanity through all of these places."

Church Notes

First U. B. Cradle Roll.

Mrs. V. L. Nold and Mrs. Fred Conard were hostesses to the Cradle Roll Mothers' club of the First United Brethren church Thursday afternoon in Mrs. Nold's home, 928 West King. The meeting was opened with the Cradle Roll prayer. Seven calls were reported by Mrs. George Bopp and $3.15 in dues was received.

Mrs. Jacobs gave an interesting talk on "Hope" and Mrs. Bopp was selected to talk on "Motherhood" at the next meeting. Four youngsters received birthday cakes and candles, in observance of their birthdays. They were Violet LaVerne Nold, age three; George Enoch Collins, age one; Dorothy Louise Conard, age two, and Robert Dean Morris, age three. Mrs. Bopp played two piano selections and Mrs. Stiler gave a reading.

The hostesses served refreshments and they had a special table for the kiddies, decorated with Easter bunnies and Easter eggs. Seventeen mothers, twenty-four babies and six visitors were present.

ROBERT F. ARNOLD DIES EARLY FRIDAY

Well Known Cabinet Maker Ill for Three Months.

Robert Frederick Arnold, well known cabinet maker, died at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning at the family residence, 1555 North Broadway. He was fifty years old last September. His death was caused by leakage of the heart and complications, following an illness of three months.

Mr. Arnold was born near Cerro Gordo Sept. 8, 1873. He and Miss Gertrude Brailler of Bloomington were married in St. Louis Aug. 14, 1905. They have made their home in Decatur for the last fifteen years and Mr. Arnold has been employed at the Decatur Coffin factory. He was a member of the Christian church and had a great many friends. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Dorothy Arnold, of Decatur.

The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the residence. The burial will be in Fairlawn cemetery.

TO RESUME WORK AT NO. 3 OIL WELL

Drilling Delayed Two Days By Lack of Tools.

It was expected that drilling would be started again Friday at Lincoln oil well No. 3. There has been a delay of several days owing to the fact that on Wednesday the tools were jammed, and it was necessary to suspend work until other tools could be brought here from Casey to replace them.

IT WORKED!
TEN years ago this company established the policy of trusting honest people and making it possible for them to buy the finest diamonds and watches on time at their own terms at CASH PRICES.
This policy worked! The number of people who have taken advantage of this opportunity has grown steadily. Our five stores now do a tremendous business.
It is natural that the so-called "cash" jewelry stores have fallen in line and are attempting to copy our methods. But remember, when you deal with Heil-McClimans Co. you deal with the old reliable credit jewelry store.

Short Coverings Steady Market Prices

Rail Stocks Fare Better Than Industrial Issues

Marine Preferred, Davison Chemical, Gulf States Steel and Coca-Cola Prove Strongest.

New York, April 11—Conflicting price movements took place at the opening of today's stock market, a renewal of selling in some parts of the list being offset by short covering in others. Motors were again heavy, Willys Overland, Moon and Mack Truck establishing new 1924 lows. Oils continued firm.

BUYING SUPPORT.

Good buying support was provided for the standard industrials but heaviness cropped out in a number of minor shares. Additional new low records were made by Maxwell Motors, Allis Chalmers, Yellow Cab, American Tobacco preferred, National Lead and American Metals, losses ranging from fractions to 2 points. South Porto Rico Sugar and Woolworth each dropped 2 points.

American Smelting, Norfolk and Western and General Electric moved up a point or more. Foreign exchange opened slightly lower.

SHORT COVERINGS.

Short coverings operations had a steadying effect on prices of the standard shares during the morning although weakness persisted in the motors. Rails gave a better account of themselves than the industrials, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico moving up 2¼, Norfolk and Western 1⅝ and Western Pacific touching 19, a new year high. Among the score or more industrials to sell 1 to 2 points higher were Marine Preferred, Davison Chemical, Gulf States Steel and Coca Cola.

Call money opened 4¼ percent.

The close was irregular.

COMING EVENTS.

Chicago, April 11—Coming Events says: After early morning weakness the list is likely to firm up, the further attempt to depress prices before the close would be in line with speculative sequence. This is not the time to indiscriminately sell stocks since the price readjustments are rapidly nearing completion and the turning point of the market is not far off. We think weakness should be used for reducing short commitments and preparing for a rally that should set in by Tuesday of next week.

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE.

Journal of Commerce says: With wheat and corn depending almost entirely on covering by shorts for buying support the opinion of leading operators at the close was that upturns will not carry far nor be of long duration. Oats appear in a different position because the immediate demand is making considerable inroads into the available supply. There is a good sized long interest in May said to be determined to hold for delivery.

CORN CLOSE IS UNSETTLED

Chicago, April 11.—Both inactivity and strength of corn took the leadership of the grain markets today during early dealings. Damp cold weather led to buying of corn and also firmed oats. Demand for wheat however, lacked volume.

Corn opened which varied, from unchanged to ⅝c higher, May 76⅞@77⅛ were followed by a moderate upturn all around.

Despite prospects of a good sized decrease in the visible supply total on Monday, something of a decline took place in the last hour as a result of profit taking on the part of early buyers. The close was unsettled ⅝c net lower to ¼c advance, May 77.

In wheat the May delivery held up a little better at times than the deferred months. After opening unchanged to ¼@⅜c lower May $1.01⅞@1.02 and July $1.03⅜ to ½, the market underwent a slight sag and then scored a trifle advance in some cases.

Subsequently reports that Italy was in the market for wheat had a temporary stimulating effect but offerings increased on the bulges brought a setback. The close was unsettled ⅛@½ net lower May $1.01½ and July $1.03¼@⅜.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c up, May 46⅝@¾. Later the gain became general.

Provisions were steady.

NUMBER OF CATTLE ON FEED DECREASES

Only 95 Per Cent of 1923 Total.

Chicago, April 11—The number of cattle on feed for market in the corn belt states on April 1 this year was only 95.5 per cent of the number on feed on April 1, 1923, according to an estimate of the United States department of agriculture.

The largest percentage decline was in the eastern group where the number was only 93 per cent of last year while in the western it was nearly 97 per cent. The only increases were in Nebraska with 103 per cent and South Dakota with 110.

DUE POOR FOOD.

The decrease seems to be due to either an actual shortage of corn of good feeding qualities, rather than to a shortage of cattle.

Movement of stocker and feeder cattle into the corn belt and into all the state except Nebraska and South Dakota, during the first three months of the year was less than during the same months in 1923 and 1922 by 12 and 18 per cent respectively, yet the prices of feeding cattle were lower than last year.

The quality of the corn fed the past winter, especially in the eastern corn belt states, has been poor.

MRS. R. BINION DIES IN WEST

Had Been in California for Benefit of Her Health.

Mrs. Renshaw Binion, of Decatur died last Monday in Long Beach, Cal., according to word received by Decatur friends Thursday evening. She was about thirty-five years old.

Mrs. Binion, who was formerly Miss Cora Bullard, had been in poor health for a long time. She went to California three years ago in the hope of regaining her health. Later she came back to Decatur for awhile, but returned to Long Beach a year ago this spring. Their adopted daughter, to whom she was greatly attached, died about three months ago, and it is believed that her death hastened the death of Mrs. Binion. She had a great many friends in Decatur. Mr. Binion is now in California. The body will be buried there beside that of the adopted daughter.

JAMES B. WRIGHT.

Mr. and Mrs. George Garren, 246 North Mill street, returned Thursday evening from Waverly, Ill., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Garren's father, James B. Wright. Mr. Wright died Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock from apoplexy. He is survived by three daughters and three sons.

Mr. Wright was born in Franklin, Ill., but had spent almost his entire life in Waverly. He was sixty-seven years old at the time of his death.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

MRS. P. F. GERMANN.

The body of Mrs. P. F. Germann will remain at the Moran chapel until Sunday morning and then be taken home. It is expected to have the funeral Sunday afternoon.

COMMODITY NOTES

FRUIT.

Macon, Ga.—Only an unlikely freeze can prevent one of the largest peach crops ever known in this state this year. Orchardists are taking steps to can the fruit which ripens on the trees too rapidly to ship.

Houston—The first car of local strawberries this season is now on its way to northern markets. The movement is expected to total three hundred cars, a decided increase over last season.

Hammond, La.—Six or seven cars of strawberries are moving daily to northern markets. Crates are bringing $5 each in carload lots, compared with $7.50 paid for the first shipments. Demand is active.

ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT.

Pittsburgh—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company will enlarge its Sharon transformer plant by the addition of six acres of floor space.

Portland, Ore.—M. H. Larsen, an Oregon producer, has received an order for a million feet of spruce veneer to be used in making battery boxes.

900,000 VOLTS IS TAKEN; YOUTH LIVES

Baltimore.—Nine hundred thousand volts of electricity coursed through the body of J. V. Alfriend, Jr., a senior in electrical engineering at Johns Hopkins university recently when a high voltage spark leaped unnoticed across a gap while he was experimenting for the engineering show that will be held at the university.

The current was stepped up from the ordinary 110 volt strength until it threw a spark between fifteen and twenty inches long. Another student who was working with Alfriend had the presence of mind to throw out a switch, thereby probably saving Alfriend's life.

The latter had been experimenting for some time with high-voltage current, having designed four coils within the last few weeks to get the desired voltage. At 900,000 volts all insulation is useless and even a piece of rope becomes a conductor.

The voltage was of high frequency, otherwise Alfriend would have been killed instantly.

When Importunity Becomes Opportunity

When you go to the Review's A-B-C Classified Section and urge it to show you how and where to obtain the things you need—your importunity immediately becomes opportunity.

You don't have to resort to very urgent requests when you call upon the classified section for anything. It doesn't try to hide facts and figures, to cover up offers, or to conceal opportunities.

It flaunts them in your face!

It arranges all its offers both alphabetically and numerically, so that it's just impossible for them to escape your attention. Its column headings and index terms are as plain as any century-old landmarks.

Here is convenience all the way through. Here is quick-finding and easy-profiting. Read the A-B-C Classified Section every day!

Japs Warn U. S. Not To Enact Alien Measure

Congress Faces Grave Issue; Immigration Proposals Would Exclude Niponese From U. S.

Washington, April 12.—Approval was given by the house today to the section of the immigration bill which would practically bar Japanese from the United States.

The section stipulates that with limited exceptions no alien ineligible to citizenship shall be admitted to the United States.

Washington, April 12.—A grave international issue confronted the senate and house today when they took up pending immigration proposals which would, in effect, exclude Japanese from the United States.

The house had before it the vigorously contested quota and Japanese sections, and the senate resumed consideration of amendments to its immigration measure having a similar purpose.

FORMAL PROTEST.

Japan's formal protest against its exclusion from the list of nations allotted immigration quotas overshadowed the discussion, having loomed yesterday in the note from the Japanese ambassador warning of "grave consequences" enactment of the Japanese provisions "would inevitably bring" and, setting forth concretely for the first time the terms of the gentlemen's agreement of 1907.

CALLED SPURIOUS.

Washington, April 12.—The Japanese note on immigration, forwarded to the senate Friday by Secretary Hughes, was characterized by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California in a senate speech as a "spurious, verbose communication, unfounded in fact."

NEAR ACTION.

Washington, April 12.—The house today approved provisions of the Johnson immigration bill which would fix quotas at 2 percent based on the 1890 census.

Under the existing law which expires June 30, quotas are 3 percent, based on the 1910 census. Amendments were offered to change the Johnson bill but all were rejected by overwhelming votes.

With the quota section out of the way the house pressed forward with consideration of the provision for excluding Japanese immigrants.

M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL REPORTED

Washington, April 12.—Two farm measures, the McNary-Haugen bill for establishment of a farm export corporation, and the Norris bill for the purchase and sale of farm products, were ordered favorably reported today by the senate agricultural committee.

REED SAYS NOTE FROM COOLIDGE INSULTS SENATE

Says President Fears for Mellon's Job.

Washington, April 12 — Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, said the president's message of yesterday should be expunged from the record of the senate, as unworthy of receiving the notice of the body.

"It is, to use plain language, an insult to the senate itself," Senator Reed declared.

"It must be that something is about to be found" Senator Reed said, "that we have this protest here. It seems to me the fear is that another cabinet officer will have to go."

HAVANA STATE BANK IS CLOSED

Cause of Shutting Doors Not Announced.

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—The Farmers State Bank of Havana, Ill., was closed by State Auditor Andrew Russell today. Capital stock of the bank is $50,000 and deposits are listed at $170,000. The cause for closing the bank was not given.

Woman Is Wife of Both Banker and Carpenter

Philadelphia, April 12.—The wife of a carpenter in the day time and bride of a wealthy banker at night, Mrs. Anna Beswick, 50, today awaited a hearing on charges of forgery which, in an alleged confession given out by the police, she said she was forced to commit to obtain money for blackmailers who had threatened to expose her.

Neither S. E. Beswick, by whom she said she had eighteen children, nor William C. Martin, vice-president of a suburban bank, whom she declared she married last February and from whom she said she had taken at least $50,000 to pay for the blackmailers' silence, knew of her double life.

Mrs. Beswick was arrested yesterday and accused of forging the name of Judge J. W. Martin.

AWAIT GERMAN VIEW ON PLAN

French Withhold Comment on Commission's Approval.

Paris, April 12—(AP)—The French government will bide its time, awaiting Germany's action, before commenting on the unanimous recommendation of the reparation commission that the Dawes report be adopted, it is stated in well-informed quarters.

It is said Premier Poincare is anxious to have the chamber of deputies off his hands before he starts negotiations.

WILL GET VIEWS.

Once the chamber and senate have adjourned it is expected he will lose no time in sounding out London, Brussels and Rome with a view to speeding up settlement. Government circles admit that any far-reaching moves are impossible until it is known what Germany's reply will be.

The first of next week will undoubtedly see the French diplomatic representatives in the various allied capitals starting informal conversations with the foreign offices in order to prepare the way for agreements.

DAWES PLEASED.

Aiax Les Baines, France, April 12—(AP)—Charles G. Dawes, on his way to Italy on the Rome Express today, was greatly pleased when he learned that the reparation commission had unanimously recommended acceptance of the experts' report.

SEE FINAL ACCORD.

Paris, April 12—(AP)—Final accord on the reparation settlement between the Allies was never so near as it was Friday night, it was believed in diplomatic circles after today's decision by the reparation commission to accept the report of the reparation experts' committee, and to recommend it to the various governments.

PREMIERS SUMMONED.

Berlin, April 12.—Premiers of the federated states were summoned to discuss the report of the reparations experts with the central government.

DAWES PLAN VERY ABLE IS PRAISE OF H. G. MOULTON

Chicago, April 12.—Harold G. Moulton, director, Institute of economics, Washington, discussing the reparations experts' report before the conference on international economics here today, declared the document "is a very able analysis," but that it had been misrepresented by emphasis placed on certain parts extracted from the whole, regarded by the committee as indivisible.

"The making of reparations payments, the committee points out, involves two distinct problems," he said. "The raising of revenue within Germany and transferring this in acceptable form to the creditors."

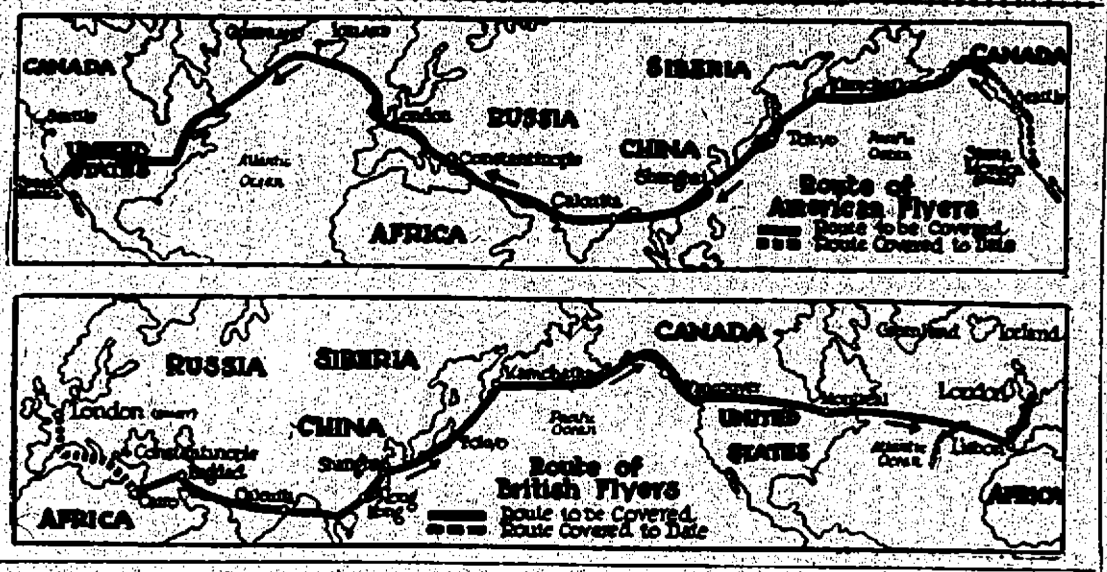
THE LONGEST RACE COURSE



STINNES' HEIR 28 YEARS OLD

New German Industrial Baron Well Versed in Business.

Berlin, April 12.—(AP)—Dr. Edmund Hugo Stinnes, who by the death of his father has become monarch of one of the world's most gigantic industrial and commercial empires, is described by his associates as "a young man of engaging personality and winning urbanity."

Although only 28 years old, he served a rigorous technical and commercial apprenticeship under his father's tutalage.

KNOWS BUSINESS.

Young Stinnes was constantly at his father's side during the latter's restless and manifold activities of the last five years, and is possessed of first hand knowledge of the Stinnes enterprises.

His brother, Hugo Hermann Stinnes, who is a year younger and at present director of the family's shipping interests at Hamburg, also served an extended apprenticeship at home and abroad. He is married and has two children.

SONS IN CONFIDENCE.

Stinnes senior made a practice of taking his grown up sons and daughters into his confidence.

For this reason the Stinnes family circle has been described as "a board of directors in constant session."

MINERS' BAND.

Muelheim, Germany, April 12.—Essen's famous coal miners' band will travel to Berlin next Monday to play at the funeral of Hugo Stinnes.

No sooner had word of his death reached the magnate's home town than the leader of the musical organisation asked the family's permission to honor its dead chief by blowing miners' "taps" at the funeral ceremony.

JUDGES AND CLERKS WANT EXTRA PAY

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—The Sangamon county board of supervisors Friday was asked to give an extra day's pay to judges and clerks of Tuesday's primary election.

Some of the election officials did not complete their work until noon Wednesday. They started at 6 a. m. Tuesday. Consequently many worked 30 hours straight. The election commission recommends the county board and city pay the officers for the extra day's work.

NEW CHARGES FACE M'CRAY

Jury Disagrees and Is Dismissed in Fraud Case.

Indianapolis, April 12.—Disagreement of the jury and its subsequent discharge yesterday marked the end of the trial here of Governor McCray, charged in a county grand jury indictment with embezzlement of $155,000 from the state board of agriculture. Thirty-five ballots were taken. The vote on the last ballot was 8 to 4 for conviction.

The ending of the trial closed but one chapter of a volume of litigation against McCray.

On April 21 the executive will go on trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the national banking laws and using the mails to defraud.

Deneen Is Winner By 4000 Votes

Complete Returns Not in; Await Official Canvass.

Chicago, April 12.—Former Governor C. S. Deneen's lead over United States Senator Medill McCormick for the Republican senatorial nomination in Tuesday's Illinois primary today was increased to 4,069 on complete unofficial returns with 13 Cook county (Chicago) precincts missing.

The complete unofficial returns from Adams county where six precincts had been missing gave Deneen 2,110; McCormick 1,757. This increased the former governor's lead from 4,016 to 4,069.

AWAIT CANVASS.

The 13 missing precincts of Cook county are among the country towns outside Chicago and their returns will not be available until official county canvass.

The unofficial returns represent 5,731 out of 5,744 precincts in the state, including 101 down-state counties complete, Chicago city complete and all of the 300 country town precincts in Cook county except the missing 13.

Both sides have taken precautions to be certain there will be a proper canvass of the figures.

EVELYN PROTESTS HARRY'S FREEDOM

Says Thaw Would Dissipate Estate.

Philadelphia, April 12.—Evelyn Nesbitt, divorced wife of Harry Thaw, today filed a petition to be allowed to intervene in the proceedings to determine the sanity of Thaw by jury trial which begins here Monday.

The petition sets forth that Thaw should not be released as he is mentally unfit and will, if released, "dissipate his own estate and the life interest in his father's estate." Thaw's estate is estimated to be worth about $1,000,000.

FOUR BANDITS GET TOBACCO STAMPS

Get Loot Valued At $20,000.

CROWLEY SETS "BAD" EXAMPLE

Farm Boy's Triumph Gives School Campaign Setback.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL.

(Copyright 1924.)

New York, April 12—Just as the annual city campaign to "keep the children in school" was getting under way in New York along came the announcement that Patrick E. Crowley had been chosen president of the New York Central railroad—following the illustrious footprints of the Vanderbilts, the Depews and the others who have presided over the destinies of the "Central" in times gone by.

Mr. Crowley having been a messenger boy on the Erie railroad at fourteen, it follows that he couldn't have remained in school very long. And that is why a father in the Bronx felt himself very much put upon today because he has been sent to jail for taking his 15 year old daughter out of the public schools and putting her to work in a bakery at $17 a week. The father makes $10 a day and the magistrate thought that ought to be enough for the small family.

SCHOOLS' VIEWPOINT.

Despite Mr. Crowley's achievement in working his way up to a position of undisputed eminence in the railroad world, the city still believes that children should be kept in school as long as it is possible for the parents to do so. It took Mr. Crowley forty six years to rise from the job of messenger boy to chief of one of the greatest railroad systems in the world. The inference of the school campaigners is that he might have reached the goal sooner if he had been to stay in school. As it was the boy Crowley had to spend his nights poring over books and gaining the education which was to carry him so far.

Reports received in New York today told of rejoicing all along "the line" over the elevation of Mr. Crowley. For "P. E. C." has been known throughout the system as the friend of the workers. He was bound to be that, for he was so long just one of them. The Erie has been the butt of many a joke here in the east, but when the Erie messenger boy became the president of the New York Central, every Erie man stuck out his chest and dared anyone to laugh that off.

SAYS ENGINEERING COURSE VALUABLE

Urbana, April 12—An engineering education is one of the best a man can have for an executive position, according to Dr. Ira O. Baker, professor emeritus of civil engineering at the University of Illinois.

"Engineering prepares men for many professions as did the old classical education" he said. "Engineering education is a training in the scientific method, in observing closely, in analyzing correctly, in planning intelligently and in working systematically."

SMOOT POINTS TO REVENUE SHORTAGE

Washington, April 12.—The revenue bill as framed by the senate finance committee has cut taxes $50,989,444 below the treasury surplus available for reduction, Chairman Smoot estimated today in the committee's report on the bill presented formally to the senate.

The bill is to be taken up for consideration next Wednesday. A minority report, carrying the views of the Democratic members of the committee will be presented Monday.

NET REDUCTION.

The committee bill provides for a net reduction in annual revenue in comparison with the present law of $446,920,986 as against an estimated cut of $[illegible] under the measure as it passed the house.

SENATE SILENT THEN STORMS

Democrats Lead in Criticism of President's Letter on Rights.

Washington, April 12.—The special message of President Coolidge to the senate advising it to keep investigations within the law came as a surprise to the senate. It was received in complete silence when it was read together with the Mellon letters during debate on a general appropriation bill. The senate returned to its debate without comment, but there was a hasty mobilizing of leaders in the Democratic cloakroom.

DEMOCRATS RALLY.

The appropriation talk went on until after 4 o'clock before Senator Robinson seized an opportunity to take the floor. By that time most of the Democrats were in their seats, although Republican benches remained rather empty.

Senator Robinson had scarcely begun when Senator Jones interrupted to make a statement as a member of the Internal Revenue Bureau investigating committee, and in the absence of Senator Couzens, to explain that he had first suggested employment of counsel to expedite the inquiry; since committee members, with the exception of Senator Couzens who had labored "almost alone" at the task, were too busy with finance matters to give proper attention.

The New Mexico senator then introduced his proposal to empower the committee to employ counsel at senate expense, and insisted that no attempt had ever been made by the committee to "compel" the production of any books by the treasury department or any one else. Secretary Mellon had "voluntarily" furnished all information that was sought, he said, expressing surprise at the change in Mr. Mellon's attitude he noted in the letter to President Coolidge.

Senator Robinson read a paragraph from the president's message and declared it to be a "weak and strained argument," as the constitutional provision against search and seizure applied only to private persons and "was never intended to protect public officers against publicity of their records."

WATSON EXPLAINS.

Senator Watson suggested that the criticism of the message was aimed at the Heney resolution, adopted by the committee, not at the senate resolution authorising the investigation.

Senator Walsh took the floor to declare that the president's message was "singularly important" because it not only "rebuked" the senate investigating committees, but "challenged the power of the senate itself" to conduct the investigations.

The Montana senator declared that at no time had any of the present senate committees endeavored to "compel" production of documents except in the case of the Hyva Corporation where the oil committee's efforts were defeated by refusal of Harry F. Sinclair.

It was after 6 o'clock before the Democratic onslaught ceased.

Senator Couzens was not in the senate to answer these statements. He is confined to his bed with an attack of indigestion described as serious but not dangerous. After a consultation of physicians tonight, however, the operation was decided upon, a specialist was summoned from Detroit. It had been agreed on the Republican side that no action on the Watson resolution, to discharge the committee, would be taken until Senator Cousens could be present.

WOULD DEFY PRESIDENT.

Washington, April 12.—In the face of President Coolidge's special message objecting to the trend of some of the senate investigations, Senator Jones, of New Mexico, asked the senate yesterday, after conference with other Democratic senators, to authorize the special Internal Revenue Bureau committee to employ whatever assistance it deemed necessary.

Senator Jones is a member of the committee and had supported the employment by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, another member, of Francis J. Heney as special counsel.

The real issue raised, Senator Jones declared, was not whether there was authority for such employment, but whether the committee should continue its activities. In order that this issue should not be clouded, he said, it was necessary that the senate remove any doubt as to authority.

RESIGNATION NOT EXPECTED.

Washington, April 12.—Secretary Mellon's letter to President Coolidge regarding the Internal Revenue Bureau investigation of the senate is not construed by the president as an indication that Mr. Mellon may resign if there is a continuance of what the secretary described as "unnecessary interference" by the senate in departmental affairs.

Democratic Bonus Plan Would Pay Cash to Veterans

Simmons Measure Promised Support; Republicans Report to Senate Insurance Bill Passed by House.

Washington, April 12.—The soldier bonus bill passed by the house was agreed to with minor changes today by the senate finance committee and ordered reported to the senate.

It provides for cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation and for 20 year endowment life insurance policies to others.

SIMMONS' PROPOSAL.

Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking Democrats on the committee, announced he would propose an amendment on the floor of the senate to make full cash payment an option of the bill.

Chairman Smoot said he would report the measure to the senate Monday. No formal vote was taken today, Mr. Smoot announcing the report was ordered by general consent.

The Simmons proposal offers an option for full cash payments to veterans on the basis of one dollar for each day of service above sixty days.

The House measure would allow computation of adjusted service credit on the basis of $1 for each day of home service, and $1.25 for each day overseas service, above the first sixty days.

Cash payments would be made only to those veterans not entitled to more than $50, others being given 20-year endowment life insurance policies.

STRAIGHT PAY PLAN.

Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, has introduced a bonus bill along the lines of the one Senator Simmons will propose, except that it carries no insurance option. Using the dollar-a-day basis of credit the Copeland Bill would authorize a government bond issue of $1,500,000,000 to run for a period of sixty years, which amount, it was estimated, would cover the entire cost.

Chicago to Have Diamond Market 40 Stories High

Chicago, April 12— A 40 story building to house exclusively 200 wholesale jewelry and diamond brokerage firms, is planned by Chicago jewelers, according to Phil Barnett, credited with originating the idea. The idea is fostered by the jewelers association of Chicago which would have its headquarters in the building.

SMALL PARDONS WM. F. QUESSE

Chicago Labor Leader and Nine Others Are Freed.

Springfield, Ill., April 12—(AP)—Gus Zeidler of St. Louis, Mo., formerly chef for Governor Len Small was granted commutation of sentence by the governor this morning. Zeidler is serving a sentence of from one year to life at Chester prison, as a result spectacular trial and second conviction in Madison county last December.

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—The sentence of William F. Quesse, sentenced to the penitentiary on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Chicago flat janitors strike of 1922 was pardoned by Governor Small today.

The sentences of nine flat janitors convicted with him are also pardoned.

The pardons were granted by Governor Len Small on the ground that they were not given a fair and impartial trial.

SINCLAIR QUESTIONS POWER OF SENATE

Files Demurrer Answering Contempt Indictment.

Washington, April 12.—The authority of the senate to ask him the questions which resulted in contempt proceedings against him was attacked by H. F. Sinclair today in a demurrer filed in answer to his contempt indictment.

The demurrer followed the legal contentions advanced by the Sinclair lawyer when he appeared before the senate oil committee and refused to reply to questions on the ground that the investigators were without authority and that his evidence should be reserved for the court.

DAUGHERTY PROBERS PLAN PROCEDURE

Court Stay Issue Halts Investigators.

Chicago, April 12.—Senator Wheeler of Montana, a central figure in the Daugherty investigation, declared today that Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general, would be cited for contempt before the senate.

Washington, April 12.—The Daugherty investigating committee, which encountered new legal obstacles yesterday in Ohio, spent today drawing up plans for its future procedure and held no public hearing.

Chairman Brookhart, returning from Washington Court House, conferred with his colleagues over the best method of meeting the court stay issue against the committee there yesterday, which resulted in failure to get at the records of Washington Court House banks and in the refusal of several witnesses to testify.

Soils Profitable And Permanent

Macon Farm Bureau Helps Soil Maintenance System

County Agent Walworth Plans Series of Soil Testing Demonstrations—the Schedule.

County Agent E. H. Walworth is giving much attention to the soil of Macon county, and is giving owners much encouragement in putting their soil in a condition which will permit their reaping the most from their acreage, and make it profitable and permanent.

To the end that they may get a line on the real condition of their soil and if it is found deficient in crop-growing qualities, make the rectification as promptly as possible, Mr. Walworth and the soils committee of the Farm Bureau have planned a series of soil testing demonstrations. In the latest issue of the Macon County Farmers' Outlook, Mr. Walworth says:

FIELD MEETINGS.

"Your Soil Committee believes that some of the most fundamental work that the Farm Bureau can assist in accomplishing is to encourage a well defined soil maintenance system that will fit or can be adapted to the farms in Macon county. A part of our plan is to hold field meetings on members' farms during the last two weeks in April. The schedule will call for two meetings a day. We hope to meet as nearly as possible every member of the Farm Bureau at one of these field meetings. You can take a couple of hours off during the forenoon or afternoon during this series of field meetings and thus take time to attend at least one of them.

TEST FOR ACIDITY.

"We will make several tests of soil for acidity. We will demonstrate the use of the Comber Soil test so that any farmer who cares to may secure the material and make a soil acidity map of his own farm. We will then discuss some of the fundamental things in profitable soil fertility.

"The soils committee has attempted to locate these demonstrations so that they would be reasonably convenient to all members in the county. For your own benefit please make it your business to attend at least one of them.

SOIL MAP.

"On these soil field meetings we shall carry with us a copy of the soil survey of Macon County. Our survey was made several years ago but as yet their report has not been printed. Any one who desires can consult this soil map and know pretty definitely the types of soil to be found on his farm. He can then secure a soil report from some other county similar in character and make use of the information given there in regard to the methods of handling in a profitable manner the types of soil which he may have on his farm.

"WHY, BOTHER?"

"Some of us are inclined to say 'Why bother with soil problems?' If we take an inventory of the average upland prairie soil we find that there is sufficient nitrogen in the surface seven inches of soil to produce maximum crops for about thirty-six years, enough phosphorus to produce maximum crops for about fifty-six years. To be sure, we do not produce maximum crops, but instead the average production is gradually being reduced so that the farm may hold on for a good many more years than are indicated above.

OLD GEOLOGICAL SOILS.

"Southern Illinois has old geological soils. A considerable amount of land in the east has been abandoned because it has been farmed for a long time. People have become poor, living on these land, and those who are still hanging to them cannot make enough above a bare subsistence to start building them up to a point where they will produce on a profitable basis.

GOING SAME WAY.

"Our central Illinois soils are going the same way. They are still producing. If we are to take a lesson from the experiences of others it seems that we should begin to put back into these soils the necessary materials that will make possible a permanent agriculture. This can be done profitably. It is a discussion of the most satisfactory plans for keeping the fertility that we have, increasing it, and at the same time following a profitable system that we are planning this series of soil meetings.

"We are planning them in the field because that is where we all feel most at home and we have the necessary demonstration materials right at hand. Please do not fail to attend at least one of these field meetings, because this is a subject in which every farmer in the county is, or should be, interested in."

SCHEDULE OF MEETINGS.

The schedule of meetings is as follows:

Tuesday, April 22, 10 a. m.—Theo. Mays, Decatur township; 1:30 p. m.—Frank Troutman, Hickory Point township.

Wednesday, April 23, 10 a. m.—Fred Gulick, Hickory Point township; 1:30 p. m.—Melvin Bucher, Friends Creek township.

Thursday, April 24, 10 a. m.—D. H. Cooper, Friends Creek township; 1:30 p. m.—L. I. Kirby, Whitmore township.

Friday, April 25, 10 a. m.—J. F. Stoutenborough, Maroa township; 1:30 p. m.—J. H. Albert, Austin township.

Monday, April 28, 10 a. m.—Chas. Ash, Harristown township.

Tuesday, April 29, 10 a. m.—J. C. Batchelor, Illini township; 1:30 p. m.—[illegible], Niantic township.

Wednesday, April 30, 10 a. m.—[illegible], Mt. Zion township; 1:30 p. m.—[illegible], Mt. Zion township.

Thursday, May 1, 10 a. m.—E. L. Daggett, South Macon township; 1:30 p. m.—Ewing Freeland, Milam township; 3:30 p. m.—Carl Gregory, South Wheatland township.

Friday, May 2, 10 a. m.—E. O. Willoughby, South Macon township; 1:30 p. m.—J. M. Beckett, Pleasant View township.

Tuesday, May 6, 10 a. m.—Clinton G. Park, Blue Mound township; 1:30 p. m.—Sam Jockisch, Blue Mound township.

Wednesday, May 7, 10 a. m.—Edwin Huff, Oakley township; 1:30 p. m.—Jesse Berry, Long Creek township; 3:30 p. m.—Guy Heckel, Long Creek township.

DON'T KILL YOUR CHICKS BY KINDNESS

Should Not Be Fed Right After Hatching.

Perhaps the most common cause of losses among tender chicks is a too kind-hearted master, says Farm Life. About as soon as the little fellows emerge from the shell, they start to peck at each other's toes. The master reasons that they are hungry and, forthwith, he rushes in with feed. It is a long-known fact that just before the chick pips its way out of the shell, the yolk of the egg is absorbed.

ORGANS CROWDED.

A picture of a lengthwise section of a chick, taken a few hours after he comes out of the shell, shows why too early feeding is disastrous. The egg yolk is in the rear end of the abdomen and it pushes the gizzard and other digestive organs and causes congestion which proves fatal. Do not feed until the chicks are more than forty-eight hours old and seventy-two hours of fasting will not hurt them. Those who buy chicks from a hatchery need to watch this also as most hatcherymen get the chicks to their customers as soon as possible and they are often received before they are forty-eight hours old.

MOTHER NATURE KNOWS.

In the thousands of years that Mother Nature has been feeding her creatures, she has become an adept at suiting the feed to the conditions. Fowls in the wilds eat their food only as they find it. By force, they eat sparingly and often.

And nature's way of feeding sparingly and often is most successful with little chicks. Feed fine cracked grains five times a day, and only a little at a time for the first week or ten days. Use no mash during this period. It is nearly always cheaper to buy this fine chick grain for the first ten days than it is to grind and mix it at home. Unless the flock is above the average size, a relatively small quantity is needed.

APRIL FARM NOTES

Farm Life: The new grass is especially fresh and the stock will crave salt now more than any other time of the year. Aside from being an appetizer and a stimulant to drink water, salt supplies some very essential elements of animal growth. Regular salting days, twice a week, should not be overlooked.

Replanting hills of corn that have not come up is of doubtful value. The late stalks rarely make good growth and are usually good only for fodder. Thorough testing of each ear of seed corn selected will insure a high germination, save all the expense of replanting and carry the entire crop through to maturity.

While early planting is most desirable because the young plants get the start of the week crop, still one in his haste must not sacrifice the condition of seed bed. If the land is not properly prepared or if the weather is not fit, it is far better to wait until those conditions are improved before putting a single seed into the ground.

More little chicks die from diarrhea caused directly by chilling than die from all other diseases. A chick that gets chilled quickly develops bowel trouble which is hard to distinguish from white diarrhea. Soon the entire flock is affected. Just keeping the floor of the brooder at the right temperature will solve half the problems of bringing the chick through the crucial first three weeks. Remember that you can't always tell the chick temperature of a brooder by feel, for the upper air may be warm when the floor air is too cold for safety.

In selecting cockerels for mating, give as much weight to fighting qualities and gallantry as to shape, size and color. A bird that calls hens to feed and that shares his choice bits with them usually is prepotent. One that conquers other cockerels has a courageous streak that will show itself in his pullets by intensifying their egg-producing qualities. One needs size and shape, of course, but shun the big, handsome, but cowardly bird just as much as you would the fighting runt.

SHELBY CLUBS MAKE SHOWING

Rural Willing Workers Lead with Clothing.

Shelby County Farm News: A recent report from the Home Economics Extension Service brings out some interesting data. In our county the most complete record was made by the Rural Township Willing Workers Clothing club with Miss Rose Weber as leader and Miss Ruth Mautz secretary. This club was given a percentage of ninety-nine and tied with the Willing Workers of Adams county for the highest number of points in state club work.

TROWBRIDGE SECOND.

The Four H Sewing club of Trowbridge was second in the county with a score of 98, the Busy Bee of Moweaqua third with an 88 score, and Jolly Juniors of Moweaqua, fourth with a grade of 90.

An average score of 88 was made by the seven clubs which completed the project and turned in secretaries books and other data.

At the present time several clothing clubs are in process of formation while others will start the work next month.

ALFALFA FIELDS WINTER KILLED

Owners Will Disc and Reseed.

Most of the alfalfa fields seeded last year have been winter killed, says County Agent Walworth in Macon County Farmers Outlook. Most of the owners are going to disc this alfalfa ground and re-seed it this spring. Some are re-seeding it with a light nurse crop of oats, about a bushel to an acre, and seeding will be done about the middle of April, weather permitting.

There is room for very much more alfalfa in Macon county. You selected in your program of work a minor project which was called "Five acres of alfalfa on every farm." There are so many uses to which alfalfa can be put, and so many different ways in which it may be used, that it is a wonder it is not already on every farm, at least to the extent of five acres. Some people use it even as a biennial crop instead of clover because it has a deeper root system.

SPRING OR FALL.

Alfalfa may be seeded in the spring or it may be seeded in the fall. Fall seeding should be done as early as it is possible to prepare the seed bed after taking off a crop of wheat or oats. Early in August, provided moisture conditions are satisfactory, is a good time.

We believe that it is not practicable to plan an alfalfa field on the up-land prairie ground without making plans to use from two to three tons of limestone on the plowed soil during the preparation of the seed bed or any time during the year previous.

Write us a letter and say, "I expect to sow five acres or more of alfalfa on my farm some time during this year." We need this information in order to give you the best service.

Something for Some Illinois Farmers to Put in Pipe and Smoke

An extension agent in Virginia called on the specialist in rural engineering for advice in the case of a woman who wished to install running water in her house. A report received by the United States Department of Agriculture states that after a survey of the premises it was found that the housewife was walking 140 miles per year and expending enough energy in lifting water to do the work of two horses in plowing 11 acres of land. A small hydraulic ram, overhead storage, kitchen sink and waste pipe were purchased for $49, which put running water into the kitchen.

WORTHWHILE GARDENING

Cabbage Plant in Field Worth Two in Hotbed.

BY J. W. LLOYD.

College of Agriculture, U. of I.

Fresh early cabbage from the home garden seems to taste much better if it is about two weeks earlier than cabbage in the neighbors' gardens. There is no use of waiting until July for the cabbage plants to head when they can just as well be had in June. The secret of growing early cabbage is to get the plants into the field at an early date.

Cabbage is a cool season crop and if the plants are properly hardened off in the bed before they are set in the field they will stand quite severe frosts and will get a good start in the field before most people think it is time to set them out.

Early planting makes it possible for cabbage to complete its development in central and southern Illinois before the weather gets too hot for it to grow properly. Early planting also makes it possible for cabbage to head up and be harvested before the cabbage worms become abundant. This saves a whole lot of trouble in the growing of the crop. By all means, cabbage should be put into the field between April 10 and 15. Two good varieties of early cabbage are Jersey Wakefield and Copenhagen Market.

DEEP PLOWING DOES NOT PAY SMITH SAYS

Additional Cost with No More Profit.

Urbana, April 12.—Deep plowing and subsoiling only multiply the cost of getting land ready for crops and do not increase crop yields, according to R. S. Smith, a member of the agronomy department of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. The statement was made in response to inquiries coming to the agricultural college from farmers wanting to know how deep to plow and whether or not deep plowing and subsoiling pay.

REASONABLE RECOMMENDATION.

"When we consider that the depth to which the roots can penetrate is not limited by the depth of plowing, it is clear that the recommendation to plow about seven inches deep in the fall and somewhat shallower in the spring is based on reason as well as on experimental evidence from this and many other experiment sections," Mr. Smith said.

"If it costs $2.50 to plow an acre seven inches deep it will cost $5 to subsoil that same acre and $7 to deep-till it, he pointed out in showing how subsoiling and deep tilling add to the cost of land preparation. If the depth of plowing is increased one inch it means that for every acre plowed, about 150 more tons of soil must be turned. This added weight cannot be moved without additional power and power on the farm is a costly item.

EXPERIMENTS.

"The experiment station of the agricultural college has made plowing tests on gray silt loam on tight clay at Odin, Marion county, and at Toledo, Cumberland county, and on brown silt loam here without any increase in crop yields in any case from deep plowing or subsoiling.

"At Odin and Toledo six-inch plowing was compared with subsoiling and deep plowing to a depth of from 12 to 14 inches with the subsoil plow or deep tilling machine. The results indicate, however, that four-inch plowing on this type of soil is too shallow for best results."

CHINCH BUGS NOT DEAD YET

A few farmers have been reporting at the Farm Bureau that they are finding live chinch bugs under boards and in the trash where they have been well protected, says the Macon County Farmers Outlook. There has been no time this spring when chinch bug burning could be done effectively. During April there will surely come a time when the fence rows will be dry enough to burn. One killed this spring means about 1,200 less in the corn fields this summer.

Burning can be done up to about the third week in April.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES BIG CONTRIBUTIONS

Washington, April 12.—Large campaign contributions are opposed as a matter of principle by President Coolidge.

President Coolidge said large contributions were undesirable because they led generally to wrong impressions and often times the contributors were accused of wrong motives.

FREDERICK WILLIAM APPEARS IN PUBLIC

Breslau, Germany, April 12.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William and his wife made their first formal public appearance since his return from Holland.

WHITE HEATH.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hosier at the Mercy hospital, Urbana Monday April 4.

Dr. W. N. Sievers attended a medical meeting in St. Louis this week.

Mrs. A. R. West was a Monticello visitor Tuesday.

Averil Dyson of Atwood visited here over Sunday the guest of Henrietta Blacker.

The W. F. M. S. of the U. B. church met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Vinson Tuesday afternoon.

The Epworth League cleared about $13 at the bakery sale at A. R. West's store Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and children of Sadorus, Mr. and Mrs. Arley Lucas of Champaign spent Sunday here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wrench.

Max Spencer of the fourth grade in the White Heath school won the medal in the number contest at Monticello, Saturday.

Charles McIntosh of Monticello was in White Heath, Saturday.

Mrs. William Alexander was a Champaign visitor Wednesday.

Thomas Wrench is visiting his brother John Wrench and family at Virden.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cox of Deland visited here Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. Bushee.

Susie Votrain and Georgia Clouser were shopping in Champaign Saturday.

Mabel Black of Monticello visited here Sunday the guest of Edith Schmidt.

Carlyle Dillavou had the misfortune to fall and break his arm while playing at school Friday.

Dr. Hawthorne of Monticello was in White Heath Monday.

Mrs. Merle Stone of Mansfield was a White Heath visitor Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer and Mrs. Ed Grove were in Urbana Thursday to visit Mrs. Pauline Hosier who is in the hospital.

Henrietta Blacker visited her sister Mrs. Fred Karr in Seymour Wednesday evening.

Mrs. F. D. Blacker and Mrs. Jane Flanigan spent Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dresback near Monticello.

VENNUM LOSES SUIT TO LYCEUM BUREAU

Latter Gets $315 for Talent Refused.

Shelbyville, April 12.—The jury found a verdict for $315 and costs for the complainant in the suit of the Chicago Circuit Lyceum Bureau versus E. M. Vennum of Findlay. The case was on trial all of Wednesday and Thursday and the jury brought in the verdict late Thursday night. A motion to set aside the verdict has been made.

This suit was to recover the contract price of a series of lectures and entertainment sold to the defendant. The plaintiff claimed the talent was sold in good faith, but when it arrived the defendant refused to permit the entertainment to proceed.

The case of Mary L. Smith versus Della Smith, a suit to recover rent on farm land, is on trial.

Ralph Early was granted a divorce from Laura Early on grounds of willful desertion for more than two years. Defendant was granted leave to resume her maiden name.

In the case of Charles L. Krile versus William W. Hartsell, assumpsit, execution awarded.

CAMPBELL FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Mrs. Pearl Camfield Campbell were held from the First Methodist church in this city at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Rev. E. J. Campbell of Taylorville officiated. The Shelbyville chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star had charge of the services.

Mrs. Campbell passed away at her home in Sullivan at 12:30 Friday, after a lingering illness. She was a former resident of this county. She was born in Rose township in 1883 and lived near Shelbyville until her marriage to Gene Campbell about ten years ago. She was a daughter of J. W. and Josie Scovil Camfield. She is survived by her husband, mother, two sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. Bertha Luck of Shelbyville and Mrs. Mettie Marger of Nashville, Tenn. The brother is Claude Camfield of Westervelt.

MRS. MOGG BURIED.

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Mogg, mother of C. W. Mogg of this city, were held in West Frankfort at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The West Frankfort Order of the Eastern Star chapter was in charge. Interment will be made at Milford Sunday.

TEACHERS' MEETING.

A meeting of the teachers of Shelby county was held at the high school auditorium in this city Friday of this week and a large number of teachers from the county attended. The schools of the county were dismissed Thursday for the remainder of the week.

County Clerk E. A. Johnston issued a marriage license here Thursday to Dewey D. Gee, twenty-five, of Danville, and Mrs. Goldie Phelps, twenty-four, of this city. The couple later were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. Risacker on North Wood street at five o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. N. H. Robertson, pastor of the local Christian church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vest were witnesses. The couple will make their home in Danville, where the bridegroom is employed as a mechanic.

CENTRE COACH HERE.

Robert L. Meyers, athletic coach at Centre college in Kentucky was a witness in a case in the Shelby county circuit court here Thursday. Meyers, who is a well-known football player, coached the Centre college team which defeated Harvard.

FALL WEEKS AGO LEADS TO DEATH

Villa Grove, April 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barrick attended the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Jennie Lloyd, in Catlin Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Lloyd died in Lakeview hospital in Danville Saturday. She had been a patient there for six weeks following a fall in which she suffered a broken ankle. She apparently was well and was to return to her home the next day, when she turned suddenly very ill, dying in a few moments. Mrs. Lloyd was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, who resides on a farm northeast of town. She was widely known and greatly respected. Her sister, Miss Laura Duncan, died six weeks ago.

MOIT FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Dora Moit, who died Monday at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Danville, was conducted at her late home Wednesday morning. She was buried at Murdock. She was married in April, 1922, to Earl Moit. She was thirty years old March 17, 1924. She is survived by her husband and baby boy, born March 2 this year.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual election of Woman's club officers was held in their club rooms Wednesday afternoon, with the following officers elected:

President—Mrs. Mike Henry.

First vice-president—Mrs. J. M. Miller.

Second vice-president—Mrs. August Held.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. W. C. Agnew.

Recording secretary—Mrs. E. J. Wegmiller.

Treasurer—Mrs. George Frazier, Jr.

The club rooms were quite attractive with new curtains made by Mrs. Houts. The walls have been newly painted and several new pictures hung, making it now a pleasant place to hold club.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Siddell have had the interior of their residence redecorated.

PARENT-TEACHERS.

Mrs. Will Allen will represent the Villa Grove Parent-Teachers' club at the state meeting in Springfield April 18.

Miss Loreene Keith and Miss Illinois McCaskill visited the latter's brother in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday.

DINNER GUESTS.

$10,000,000 CREDIT FOR GERMAN BANK

Will Aid Trade Bill Negotiations.

New York, April 12.—Plans for the establishment of an American banking credit of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 for the new German gold and discount bank, formed by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, were announced Friday through the International Acceptance bank, acting for a syndicate of New York bankers.

While negotiations have not been finally closed, it was said the credit would be advanced to provide an outlet for German dollar trade bills.

THE DAWES PLAN.

Marking the first definite action by American bankers to assist in the economic rehabilitation of Germany, the credit, combined with advances from English sources, will enable the Schacht bank to stabilize the country's currency until it is finally merged with the gold bank, provided under the Dawes plan, which will be the backbone of the future German currency system.

Flotation of the $200,000,000 international loan to Germany, interested national bankers indicated, may be deferred until fall, but meanwhile funds will be supplied to the rediscount bank to assure continued operation of Germany's financial machinery. Initial functions of the bank will be to buy German trade bills issued in sterling or in dollars.

INDEPENDENT STEPS.

Steps to raise the American credit, bankers said, would be taken independently of any action by British interests, although both groups will have a similar purpose.

The subscribed capital of the gold rediscount bank is 10,000,000 pounds, half of which has been subscribed by the Reichsbank, and half by German banks and industrial corporations.

FACE TERRIBLE FROM PIMPLES

And Blackheads. Irritation Intense. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered terribly with blackheads and pimples. The pimples were large, festered and scaled over. They burned causing intense irritation. After washing my face the scales would fall off causing eruptions. I had to dispense with all pleasures because my face was terrible.

"I tried numerous remedies but all failed. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using one box of Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Felicia E. Smith, 2271 E. 40th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Tax Exemption

Means More Income for You

6 Good Points to Consider

Price $95 a Share

Yield 7.37%

Tax Exempt Features

Dividends Quarterly

Ready Marketability

Offered by a Sound Utility

When you have to pay a tax on your investment, it cuts down your income.

For example, if you hold a 7% security and you have to pay a tax of 1% on that security, your income is cut down to 6%.

This is the reason that tax exempt securities of proven safety are the most attractive for investors.

In addition to its being offered by one of the strongest Utility Companies in America, Illinois Power and Light 7% Preferred Stock is exempt from Normal Federal Income tax and from Illinois Personal Property tax.

Other attractive features of this sound security are: its price, $95 a share, its yield, 7.37%, the quarterly dividends, and the fact that it is under your personal supervision at all times.

Call—and ask one of our representatives in the investment department to tell you about this sound tax exempt security, or come in and talk it over.

Gypsy Smith Talks Plain to Young People Who Fill Church; No Service Today.

Young people of high school age swelled the crowd at the First Methodist church to hear Gypsy Simon Smith, Friday evening, to the greatest number of any week night since these services opened. There were many children under this age whose giggles could be heard as they appreciated the many stories told of the adventures of a gypsy boy.

Although the fun was there, it wasn't all fun and Mr. Smith made many telling points which will linger long in the memory of the young and old alike.

WARNS ON MARRIAGE.

"Life," said the speaker, "is made up of three stages, hatching matching and snatching. I want to say something to you young people about this matching business. If farmers didn't pay any more attention to matching their stock than we do to the matching of our young people they would get a lot of scrub stock. You girls think you can marry a man and reform him. You say, 'yes, I know he is a little wild, but I can reform him.' Well you are apt to get deformed yourself I am warning you girls.

"And young men, you have no right to ask a girl to marry you unless you have a clean record and you have no right to expect a cleaner record from her than you have yourself. We talk about fallen women and we don't say enough about fallen men.

"A mother said to me, 'I have a girl sixteen years old and I can't do anything with her. She will stay out late of nights.' If some of the mothers will run around to card parties and stay out half the night at dances they cannot expect the young folks to be any better. There is something wrong with the old folks.

NOT ENOUGH HOME.

"Do you know what is wrong with the young people? It's too much drug store complexion and not enough home connection. There are too many cars and not enough cradles. We have an over-supply of good lookers and not enough good cookers. Many a young man has thought he was marrying a cook and found he married a professional can opener.

"In the Ontario station is a card which reads: 'One moment's carelessness may mean a lifetime of regret.' Think it over. A little beginning may bring big results. Be careful. There is a funny word called habit. It may make a bond slave of you. This is the best time to begin to serve God, before you know anything of the sins the older people tell about.

"If you only help some one else you will have lived for something. If your mother is a widow, be good to her. Be good to her anyway."

In the beginning Mr. Smith said to the audience:

TALKS PLAIN.

"I'll say very plain things and I'll make n apology for telling stories For I believe that the art of good preaching is the weaving of stories into the sermon. Our Lord told stories throughout his ministry. Yes and there was always a lesson back of them.

"If you sow wild oats you are going to reap wild oats. If you sow flowers you are going to reap flowers. Whatever a man sows that also shall he reap and disobedience must be punished. It's not God's fault, it's our own.

"I don't expect old heads on young shoulders. I expect you to have a good time and all legitimate pleasures, but the thing is what is legitimate pleasure? If we want to help others we must surrender our lives to God."

TELLS OF OWN LIFE.

Gypsy Smith told these young people some interesting things of his own life. Little milestones that stand out. When he first came over to America it was after spending twelve years of his life, the first twelve, in the Epping forest of England, with the gypsies where he learned the forest and its ways where he lived in a tent and slept on straw and learned to folow the patteran, that gypsy trail made by dropping bunches of grass. His father became converted, and his heart, injured as a runner, the family had to settle down for a time.

It was then that the elder Smith determined the son should have some education and putting shoes and stockings on the unaccustomed feet, for Mr. Smith said that the gypsy boys in England went barefoot even in winter, started him to school.

START TO SCHOOL.

The first day was disastrous. On the way he found a man with a box full of mice and a dog, taking them out to put an end to the mice. Following, the gypsy lad found a mouse which was only stunned and he put it in his pocket and went to school feeling he said, much less lonesome with this companion. The mouse revived in the school room and taking out the little creature the new boy got it too close to the face of another pupil and some excitement ensued. The teacher commanded him to take the mouse out and let it loose.

He took the mouse out of doors and stepping to the side of the building he put it inside his stocking for safe keeping. Upon his return to the room the mouse went on a voyage of exploration causing the new boy to be very uneasy and restless, and resulting in a thrashing for the lad He said it was his first school room lesson in obedience.

SENT TO CANADA.

When he was between twelve and thirteen years of age he was found by Dr. Barnardo of London and sent to work on a Canadian farm for the [illegible] sum of $4 per month.

"My employer," he said, "made it a habit to get drunk on Saturday night, and then coming home hunt for me with a whip. For various reasons I made myself scarce. I have tried to sleep in the barn when the weather was below zero. But Sunday's were bright for I could go three miles to church, and it was there I learned to sing many of these hymns."

The songs which the evangelist sang Friday evening were: "Into a Tent Where a Gypsy Boy Lay," and a patriotic song of the U. S. A. which he calls "The Glorious U. S. A." Another was written because of his mother's prayers.

SING DUET.

Elmer Lyon and Eldon Geiger sang a duet "Just Outside the Gate," preceding the sermon.

The special request was made that during Sunday when the crowds will be greatest that the people make an effort to conserve parking space close to the church.

Services will begin Sunday when the house is full. Most of the evenings this week they have begun a little before time because the people had assembled, and as Mr. Smith said, "there didn't seem any reason to wait."

By asking the members of the First church to stand Dr. Smith discovered that less than one third of the big audience were First church members.

NO MEETING TODAY.

Saturday is to be rest day and there will be no meeting Saturday night.

Visiting ministers on the platform Friday night were Rev. O. B. Hess of Lovington; Rev. W. A. Bowman, of Argenta, and Rev. E. L. Toble of Moweaqua.

Envelopes for a free will offering will be passed out to pay for the services of the evangelist. These will be handed out Sunday.

ANNUAL FIRST AID CONTEST TONIGHT

Telephone Employes in Competition.

The annual first aid contest among employes of the Illinois Bell Telephone company will take place Saturday evening at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Teams from Decatur, Springfield and Quincy will compete. The winner in this contest will enter the semi-final contest for this district to be held in Peoria the latter part of the month, and the winner in that contest will meet the Chicago team in the finals.

MEMBERS OF TEAM.

The Decatur team is composed of Harry Hinton, captain; Roy Wrightsman, Rhodes Herman, Clifford Custin and Clarence Weaver. They have been coached by Dr. A. F. Goodyear. The judges of the contest will be Dr. P. A. Steele, Dr. C. Roy Johnston, Dr. J. M Hayes and Dr. P. W. Wipperman.

Other companies interested in "safety first" will have representatives attend the contest. Delegations will be present from the Decatur Railway and Light company, Mueller Manufacturing company, Wabash, and Staley company.

SAFETY TALKS.

The contest will begin at 7:30, and it will be open free to the public. In addition to the competitive events there will be talks along the line of Safety First by J. J. Richeson, superintendent of the public schools, and J. A. McNally, superintendent of Safety on the Wabash.

Each team appearing in the contest consists of five members. They will be judged on their handling of cases of first aid, such as accidents, drowning, etc. There will be five events. The Decatur team of course is hoping to win the honors. In last year's contest the Decatur team came out second, Springfield taking first place.

BEFORE BABIES WERE BORN

Mrs. Oswald Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Girardville, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last two babies came. It keeps me in perfect health and I am on my feet getting meals and doing all my housework until an hour before the baby is born. A friend told me to take it and I have tried ten bottles since I heard about it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound whenever I can. Just yesterday a friend was telling me how miserable she felt, and I said, 'If you start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's you will feel fine.' Now she is taking it."—Mrs. P. J. Oswald, Jr., 406 West Ogden St., Girardville, Pa.

Mrs. Nicola Pahimi Says

Mishawaka, Indiana.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness before my babies were born. I was weak and tired out all the time and it helped me. When I had [illegible] the doctor treated me, but did not help me, so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and it helped me at once."—Mrs. Nicola Pahimi, [illegible] E. SENIORS SELECT REV. W. DOWSON

To Preach Baccalaureate Sermon June 1.

Rev. Wilbert Dowson, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, was chosen Friday during a meeting of the senior class in the Decatur High school, to preach the baccalaureate sermon on the evening of Sunday, June 1.

The next few weeks will be taken up by the senior class in the selection of its representatives to appear on the program for the graduation day exercises.

DR. FRED PATTEE TALKS LITERATURE

Gives Two Interesting Lectures at University.

Two very interesting and pleasing talks on American literature were given by Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, historian of American literature, at Millikin university Friday afternoon and night, this being one of the last two numbers in the excellent Millikin extension course of the present college year.

In the afternoon Dr. Pattee talked about H. L. Mencken, the well known critic, and James Branch Cabell, the Virginia author and general writer, and he made this talk particularly interesting through giving a number of anecdotes of his personal relations with both of these men.

MODERN OUTLOOK.

In the talk at night Dr. Pattee discussed "The Modern Outlook on American Literature." In his talk he emphasized the tendency of great American writers to address a comparatively small group of individuals and was in reply to his own question put to his audience, "Can democracy produce a literature?"

The next number on the extension course will consist of two talks by Maynard Metcalf on April 25, when he will make a Kappa Society address on "The American College" at 11 a. m. and on "The Future of the Human Race" in the evening at 8:15.

ALVA TAYLOR TALK OPEN TO PUBLIC

To Conduct Forum on Industrial Relations Theme.

Alva W. Taylor, secretary of the board of social welfare of the Disciples Church, is to come to James Millikin university Sunday for an open forum meeting at 3 p. m. The speaker, whose home is in Indianapolis, is a lecturer and writer of note. His subject is to be in the field of industrial relations.

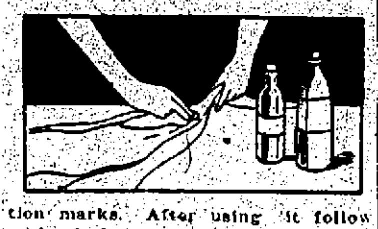
Following his address there will be questions and discussion by any person who chooses to speak. The system of forum at Millikin is a relatively new one here, although it is followed quite extensively elsewhere. The meeting of Sunday afternoon, which is open to all people in the city without cost, of course, is more or less of an experimentation in this method of community meeting.

The J. M. U. Glee club will sing a number of songs before the lecture begins.

Household Suggestions

Removing Spots.

Ammonia removes acid discolorations and also mitigates perspiration marks. After using it follow with alcohol and water, dabbed on lightly.



Good Silk.

Good quality silk does not burn rapidly and leaves a black ash. Weighted or loaded silk flashes up, burns quickly and leaves behind a dull-red ash. When in doubt about the wearing quality of silk try this test.

Buying Soap.

It is economical to buy laundry and toilet soap in large quantities so that during storage it may dry out and harden.

Table Linen.

All table linen should be ironed partly dry on the wrong side and entirely dry on the right.

Examine Eggs.

When making an omelet or anything that uses several eggs, always break each one singly in a cup and examine it before adding it to the rest.

TOUCH OF ORIENT

There's a real feeling of the orient and the mysterious east in this gown formed from green and silver Persian scarfs and a jeweled belt, but it is not too eccentric for formal wear. The jeweled tassels hold the wing draperies in place.

White, Cream Lace.

White or cream lace this season is most frequently made up over a black satin foundation, while the black lace gown is mounted on a slip of flesh-colored satin.

Knickers.

Knickers of the same material as the frock are a part of many sport suits of jersey or alpaca.

Sport Frock.

An unusually attractive frock for sport wear is of yellow crepe de chine with a brown suede belt worn low about the hips.

(A daily menu for the stout and thin)

EAT AND—

Lose Weight

Juice 1 orange, 4 level tablespoons uncooked wheat cereal without sugar and with skimmed milk, 1 cup salmon salad, 1 cup sorrel and cabbage salad, 1 cup diced carrots and turnips, 1 whole canned pear, 2 tablespoons strawberry water ice, 2 macaroons, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1192. Protein, 279; fat, 276; carbohydrate, 637. Iron, .0177 gram.

Sorrel is considered an excellent spring green. Its tartness combines well with cabbage. Season sparingly with lemon juice.

The protein content of skimmed milk and whole milk is practically the same, the great difference being in the fat content. So when you drink skimmed milk you are losing the fat which you do not want. These calories can be used to advantage in extra vegetables to supply bulk to your diet.

The salmon salad is made by combining flaked canned salmon and shredded leaf lettuce, with lemon juice. Serve on a bed of shredded lettuce.

If possible choose rib lamb chops rather than shoulder as the rib chops are not so fat.

Gain Weight

Juice 1 orange, 1 cup boiled rice with 2 tablespoons seeded raisins, 1 soft boiled egg, 1 cup cream of tomato soup with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 1 cup salmon salad with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 pork chops, 4 tablespoons milk gravy, 2 tablespoons French dressing, 1 whole canned pear on 1 large piece sponge cake with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 tablespoons strawberry water ice folded into 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 1 large piece chocolate layer cake, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 tablespoons grape preserves, 2 slices nut bread, 2 Parkerhouse rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 tablespoons cream, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4211. Protein, 640; fat, 1862; carbohydrate, 1803. Iron, .0191 gram.

The twelve raisins add approximately 100 calories as well as some iron to the gaining diet. So eat raisins if you would gain.

This salmon salad combines flaked canned salmon and shredded lettuce with mayonnaise to make moist in place of lemon juice. Then a heavy oil mayonnaise masks the whole and 1 hard boiled egg is used as a garnish.

Pork chops are suggested in place of lamb chops as they are richer in fat and usually less expensive if the housekeeping allowance is running low.

Strengthens the Follicle

and makes your hair thick and beautiful

IT is not sufficient to just wash your hair—if you want it to be thick and beautiful. You must go deeper than that—as deep as the hair follicle. See the detailed drawing of a follicle at the left. This is the little "gripper" that holds your hair in your head. If this gripper is strong your hair is strong. If it is weak it lets loose, and your hair falls out.

To keep the hair follicles strong they must be free to absorb oxygen. That is what Kobarco does for the hair—frees the follicles from clogging impurities and gives oxygen free access to the roots.

When you shampoo your hair with Kobarco, you go to the source of your hair troubles—and wash them away. Directions are printed in detail on the bottle labels, follow them carefully. The velvety lather that Kobarco makes is delicately fragrant and fully efficient.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IN HIS HOME

John D. In Close-Up

John D. Rockefeller, one of the most unusual characters of the age, as he is today. Once told that he had but a short time to live, he has reached the ripe age of 84 and is feeling fine, as his picture shows.

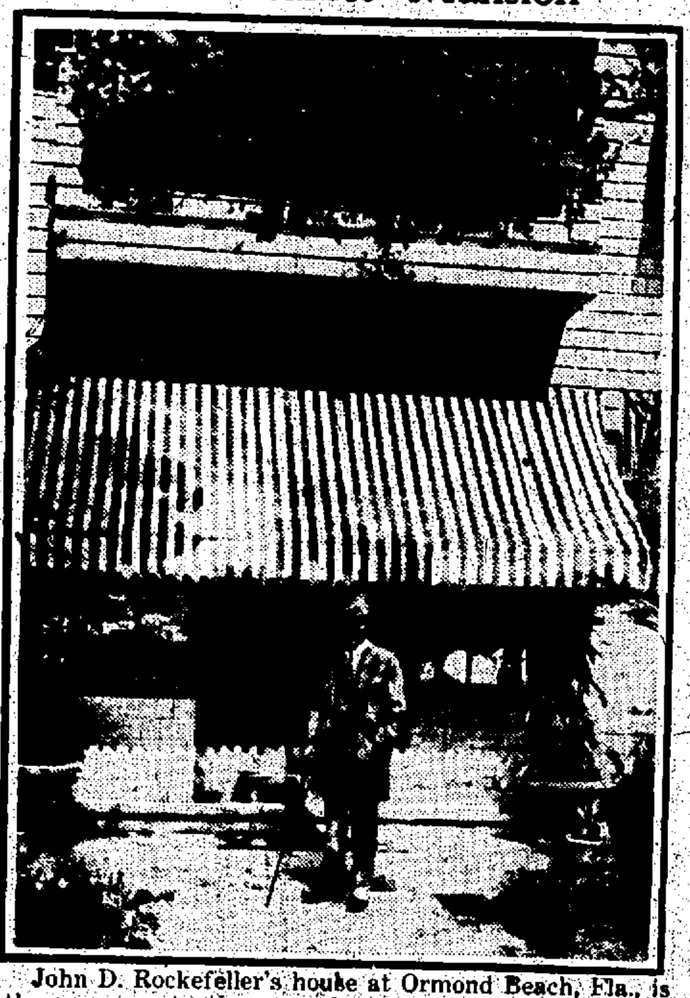
Among His Flowers

First among Rockefeller's diversions is golf. Next is flowers and plant life. He spends many of his spare moments in the greenhouses on his various estates. Here is an excellent picture of him in his greenhouse at "The Casements," his winter home at Ormand Beach, Fla.

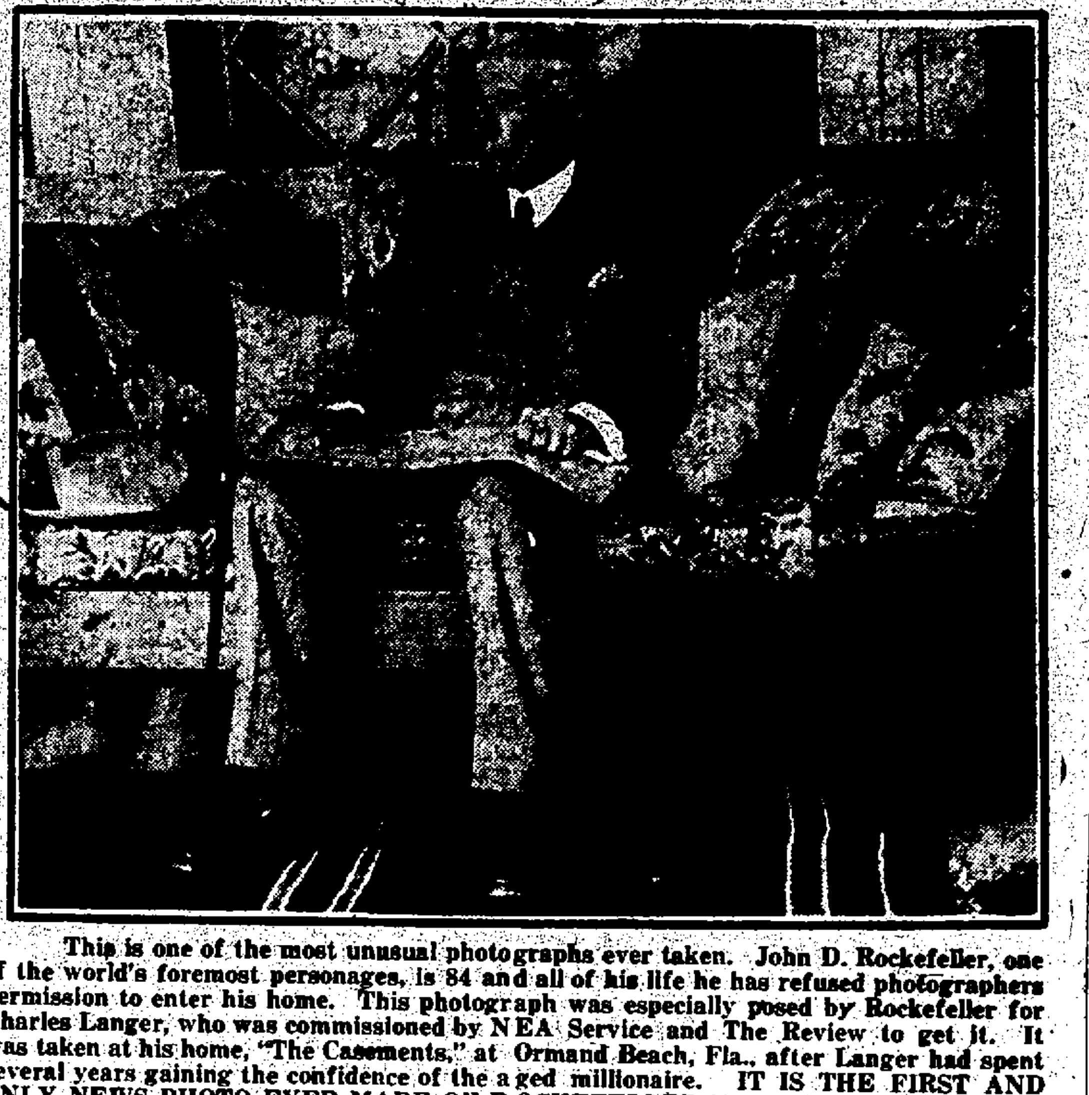
An Intimate View

Having consented to hav ehis photograph taken in his home for the first time in his life, John D. Rockefeller strolled about the estate of his winter home at Ormond Beach, Fla., to allow the photographer for NEA Service and The Review to get other intimate views of him. Here he is by the fountain in his garden.

No Marble Mansion



John D. Rockefeller's house at Ormond Beach, Fla., is rather an unpretentious one for a man who has probably made more money than any other man in the world. It is built of wooden shingles, but here against you see his love of flowers displayed. They were all about him as he posed for the photographer for NEA Service and The Review.



This is one of the most unusual photographs ever taken. John D. Rockefeller, one of the world's foremost personages, is 84 and all of his life he has refused photographers permission to enter his home. This photograph was especially posed by Rockefeller for Charles Langer, who was commissioned by NEA Service and The Review to get it. It was taken at his home, "The Casements," at Ormand Beach, Fla., after Langer had spent several years gaining the confidence of the aged millionaire. IT IS THE FIRST AND ONLY NEWS PHOTO EVER MADE OF ROCKEFELLER IN HIS HOME.

CLUBS' FEDERATION ENDS CLINTON MEET

Homer Woman Is Made President.

Clinton, April 12.—The two days' convention of the Nineteenth District Federation of Women's clubs closed Friday afternoon after a most interesting and instructive session. Meetings were held in the Vespasian Warner Library club rooms, attended by approximately two hundred ladies.

This was Clinton's third time to be honored by the meeting here of the federation of clubs since the organization; the body assembling here in 1908 and 1914, and several of the delegates present at the 1924 convention served as delegates during the other two sessions.

Mrs. George T. Palmer, Springfield, state president, was one of the speakers following the banquet at the Universalist church Thursday evening, being introduced to the assembly by Mrs. Eugenia Bacon of Decatur, past president, who was a guest of honor throughout the convention. The other speaker of the evening was Dr. E. R. Darling of the James Millikin university.

Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller, district president of the association, spoke Friday afternoon and submitted her annual report, which indicates a most healthful condition. The Nineteenth district represents fifty-four clubs, with an aggregate of 3,143 members.

DARLING APPRECIATED.

Professor E. R. Darling of Millikin university was a much appreciated speaker on "Everyday Chemistry," and the women were delighted with his talk. Many Clinton people turned out to hear this and the St. Paul Universalist church was full.

The constitution was amended to provide a vote for all former state presidents belonging to the nineteenth district.

Fully 150 delegates were present during the meeting. The place for next year's meeting was not decided upon and this was left to the committee in charge.

CITIZENSHIP WORK.

The report of the district chairman on American citizenship was so interesting and showed the work of the district so well that it was voted that it be printed and distributed through the district. Mrs. Inez Bender of Decatur is chairman.

ELECTION.

The annual election of officers which was held Friday resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. C. D. Babb, Homer, Ill.

Vice-president—Mrs. Josephine Yantis, Shelbyville, Ill.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. E. J. Layman, Sidney, Ill.

Treasurer—Mrs. Pauline Wilson, Clinton.

Mrs. Flo Jamison Miller of Monticello was unanimously elected parliamentarian for the ensuing two years and Mrs. P. S. Campbell was elected delegate to the national convention in Los Angeles next May.

RAIL NOTES.

An entirely new type of parlor cars has been added to the Daylight and Diamond operating between Chicago and St. Louis, considered to be the last word in passenger equipment. The new cars have an increased number of revolving chairs, drawing room sections and a larger salon, the furnishings leaving nothing to be desired. It is generally understood that the inauguration of additional equipment on the runs is a forerunner to a campaign pointing toward a control of the St. Louis-Chicago traffic with "on-time" service.

Several important changes at the Illinois Central shops occurred Friday, resulting in the promotion of Night Foreman D. T. Hess, who goes on as day roundhouse foreman, relieving John Morgan. Peter Wagstaff succeeds Mr. Hess as night foreman and is in turn succeeded by Alvin Duckworth as assistant foreman.

BIRTHS.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crang, 808 West Jefferson street, are the parents of a daughter, born at the family home, Friday. This is the third child, the second girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Smith, 721 East Macon street, are the parents of a daughter, the first child, born at the family home Friday. The mother was formerly Miss Laura Owens.

LOSE FINGERS.

A. L. Arbogast of North Center street had the end of one finger on his right hand mashed off Friday morning when it was caught between the wheel of his Ford car and a brick which he was using in an attempt to retard the movement of the car.

Joseph Bealer, former resident of Weldon, had his right thumb torn off in an accident which occurred at his home in Walkerton, Ind., recently.

BUYS DECATUR PROPERTY.

William E. North of Clinton has purchased property at 346 East Olive street, Decatur, and has moved his family to that location. The consideration was $5,500.

SPRINGFIELD MAN SPEAKS.

James E. Jeffers of Springfield, editor of the Masonic Review, chairman of the board of examiners of the grand Masonic lodge and secretary of the grand chapter, was the speaker at the Masonic banquet held in their temple Friday evening.

Music was furnished by the Elks' quartet, including R. C. Parker, Frank Schock, James Elward and Bruce Wood.

Arthur E. Wood, grand master of the state, is to be the honored guest and speaker at the banquet next week.

FATHER DEAD.

Henry Henoch, proprietor of the Boston Store, is in Chicago, where he was called several days ago on account of the illness of his father. The latter passed away Friday after a short illness.

---

will undergo treatment in preparation for an operation.

LIGHTNING KILLS HORSES.

During the electric storm of Tuesday evening the barn on the John Ellis farm, northwest of Hume, was struck by lightning. Two horses were instantly killed and four were knocked unconscious. This was a peculiar incident, as no traces of where the lightning entered could be found. One of the remaining horses is still in a very serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts are the proud parents of a [illegible]-pound boy, born last Tuesday.

MORE THAN 500 AT ULLRICH SUPPER

Big Carnival Given Afterward; Clear $200.

More than 500 people were fed at the jitney supper which the Fathers' club of the Ullrich school had Friday evening and they remained for the evening entertainment at the carnival which had been arranged. The shows were cleverly staged and greatly enjoyed by the crowds of people who witnessed them. Eight members of the Jasper Fathers' club had arranged one show, "Black and White," and their services were appreciated by the Ullrich fathers.

One show of music and readings was presented by a number of young people of Decatur, among them students of the Decatur Musical college. At this show Kathryn Ewing and Bernard Henebry played several violin selections with Doris Lyons accompanying them. Virginia Henebry gave a number of delightful readings and solos by John Boland also pleased. Kathryn Boland accompanied Mr. Boland. Walter Cloney in blackface, entertained with a jig dance and he was followed by Miss June Foster who sang.

Three movies were shown, an educational picture, a news reel, and a photoplay and this show was so popular it was necessary to repeat it. The other shows were given once. The motion picture machine was loaned by The Review and was operated by Review operators.

The club cleared about $200 on the affair and the members wish to thank all who took part and those who attended it making the evening a success.

Jasper School.

About seventy-five members of the Mothers' club of the Jasper school attended the meeting Friday afternoon and elected new officers for the club. The officers are as follows:

President—Mrs. H. T. Watts.
Vice president—Mrs. E. J. Campion.
Secretary—Mrs. P. George Drum.
Treasurer—Mrs. George Bittrolff.

Mrs. Watts will represent the club at the state meeting in Springfield next week.

The ticket committee for the play which the Fathers' club gave lately, reported that $36.58 was the Mothers' club share.

The mothers voted to buy a new picture to be used next year for the room having the most mothers at the club meetings and the picture which has been used the last year will go to the room which had it the most times and remain there permanently.

The club will have a pot luck luncheon in the school at noon on April 25 at which the teachers will be guests. All mothers of the Jasper school district are invited whether or not members of the club.

A musical program was given at the meeting Friday. Hilma Hinton and Geraldine Campion each played piano solos and Ruth Helm and Margaret Fitzpatrick played a piano duet. Pupils of the fifth, third, and second grades each sang songs.

Warren School.

Mrs. Roy Johnson, incoming president of the Warren school Mothers' club, Mrs. L. P. Kuhn, retiring president, and Miss Nell Clark, the principal, will represent the club at the state Parent-teachers' meeting in Springfield next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. These women were named in a meeting of the club Friday afternoon and it also was announced that the club would pay the expenses of all three.

Rev. R. E. Henry was the speaker for the afternoon, talking on "The Fundamental Virtue." He stated that the foundation of virtue is sincerity and that the teachers in the school and the parents in the home should instill into the minds of the children that they should be sincere, and not go through life on bluff or what other people know. He made a plea for the parents to help the children weed out all unnecessary things and learn well the necessary.

Miss Jordan's pupils sang the songs "The Gingerbread Man," and "Will You Tell Me?" Following the program, there was a social hour and refreshments were served.

CLEAR $200 ON OGLESBY SUPPER

All Booths Sold Out; Show Picture.

Large crowds attended the jitney supper and carnival in the Oglesby school Friday evening and it is announced that about $260 was taken in. As nearly everything was donated, more than $200 will be clear. The crowd was estimated at 500.

In addition to the supper, all of which was sold, the booths of fancy work, country store booth, candy, pop corn, etc., were well patronized and entirely cleaned out.

Several shows were given, one a moving picture show with the picture, a Charlie Chaplin comedy, loaned by the Y. M. C. A., and a hypnotic show with W. R. Hopkins as the hypnotist, assisted by Samuel Crow and six members of the Fathers' club.

The tables for the supper were decorated with flowers donated by Dauts Floral shop and these flowers later were sold for the benefit of the school. Dorothy Burchard received a pair of roller skates for selling the most tickets and Delos Cozad received a watch. They sold 106 and 125 tickets respectively.

TOKIO TO BUILD QUAKE MEMORIAL

Tokio—(P)—To preserve the memory of 31,000 persons who perished by burning and suffocation in the former military clothing depot in Honjo ward the afternoon of the September catastrophe, the city of Tokio plans to erect a memorial [illegible] to cost 1,000,000 yen.

REV. J. D. CALHOUN DIES AT METAMORA

Brother of Dr. W. F. Calhoun Injured Last Fall.

Rev. John Dill Calhoun, brother of Dr. W. F. Calhoun of Decatur, died at his home in Metamora Friday afternoon. He was seventy-three years old. Last fall he was run over by the driver of an automobile and suffered internal injuries from which he never fully recovered. He had, however, regained sufficient strength to enable him to conduct services in Union church, of which he was pastor. It is believed that the injuries he sustained contributed largely to his death.

Rev. Mr. Calhoun was born in Blaine, Pa., in 1851. He came to Illinois in 1866. In 1872 he was ordained a Methodist minister and for over fifty years had been a member of the central Illinois Methodist conference. He had been pastor of the Union church for a long time.

UNITED CHURCHES.

The attention of the entire country was attracted to Rev. Mr. Calhoun when, largely through his efforts, the congregations of four or five churches of various denominations united in Metamora and organized Union church. As in many other small cities, the congregations of these churches were not financially able to erect the kind of churches they desired. When these churches in Metamora consolidated Rev. Mr. Calhoun led them in a movement that resulted in the erection of a handsome new church big enough to accommodate all. He has been pastor of the church ever since.

Rev. Mr. Calhoun is survived by his wife and four children: John and Glen Calhoun of Metamora; Verne Calhoun, principal of the school at Belleville; and Mrs. McGill of Lexington, Ill. He also leaves his brother, Dr. W. F. Calhoun of Decatur, and his sister, Mrs. Ella Hill of Des Moines, Ia., and a half-sister, Mrs. Grace Lambert of Geneseo.

Dr. W. F. Calhoun will attend the funeral, which will be held in Geneseo Monday afternoon.

MRS. RENSHAW BINNION.

Mrs. Renshaw Binnion, whose death in Long Beach, Cal., was reported in Friday's Review, committed suicide by inhaling gas, according to the following report in Monday's issue of The Los Angeles Examiner:

"Huddled forlornly on the floor of the kitchen of her home at 1075 Mahanna avenue, Long Beach, with a tube from an open gas jet clinched between her teeth, Mrs. Cora Binnion, 39, was found dead today when police broke into the house.

"Despondency over the death of her 7-year-old daughter New Year's day, and domestic troubles which ended in a separation, was declared by police to have been revealed in an unfinished letter. An examination led police to believe Mrs. Binnion committed suicide last night.

"Neighbors were said to have told Detectives Hanners and McDonald that Mrs. Binnion attempted suicide several days ago. Police were summoned today when neighbors smelled gas leaking from the house. A telegram notifying Renshaw Binnion of his wife's death was sent to Decatur, Ill., where he was said to be living."

ROBERT H. SMITH.

Robert H. Smith died at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at his home southwest of Decatur. He was seventy-four years old last November. His death was caused by a complication of diseases.

Mr. Smith was born in South Wheatland township Nov. 27, 1849. He had resided in or near Decatur all his life. He was a carpenter by trade and was well known. He was a member of the Bethlehem Presbyterian church. He is survived by his wife and two sons, H. L. Smith, living on route 4, Decatur, and Guy R. Smith of Decatur. He also leaves two brothers, W. B. Smith of route 2, and Willis Smith of Chicago.

The body was removed to the Dawson & Wikoff undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

HENRY TRAYLOR.

Henry Traylor, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Traylor, 1837 North Calhoun street, died at 10 o'clock Friday night at the Decatur and Macon County hospital. He was born Jan. 20, 1924. His twin brother died April 3. Besides his parents he leaves three brothers and a sister, Charles, James, Fred and Bernice Traylor.

The body was removed to the Dawson & Wikoff undertaking establishment and prepared for burial and later taken to the family home. The body will be taken to Litchfield and buried beside that of his brother.

SAM BURSTEIN WOULD BE CHIEF

Mayor Has Fourteen Applications for Position.

Sam Burstein is the latest applicant for the position of chief of police to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles W. Crump. Sam made formal application Friday, telling Mayor Elmer Elder that he would be willing to resign as mayor of the Levee and devote all his time to his duties as chief.

"All right," said Mayor Elder, "I'll put your name down in the list and will give your application consideration along with the others."

Running over the list of applicants for the position, Mayor Elder announced that fourteen people had applied for the job. He does not expect to make any appointment for some time.

Sent to State Farm.

In the county court Friday Charles Dively pleaded guilty to possessing liquor and Judge McCoy gave him four months at the Vandalia State farm.

"REBEL" SHIP LAYS IN HAVANA BAY

Havana—(P)—Few of the swimmers at Playa de Marianao, Havana's popular beach, know that the gaunt ribs and bits of rusted iron they see through ten feet of clear water are all that remain of the famous Confederate blockade runner Blanche. Laden with cotton from a southern port in 1863 the Blanche tried to make Havana, but when the cordon of Union warships closed in her crew beached her rather than surrender and escaped into the interior.

TUSCOLA BOYS' WEEK APRIL 27 TO MAY 3

C. A. Vest in Charge of Arrangements.

Tuscola, April 12—C. A. Vest, who was appointed by the local Rotarians to be chairman of the activities for Boys Week here, called a number of the men of the town together at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday evening, to make the preliminary arrangements. A tentative program was outlined for the week beginning April 27, and closing with May 3. Various committees were appointed and it is the purpose to make an effort to have all of the citizens enlist themselves to boost for the movement and help with the activities, in any capacity in which they may be called upon.

The names of those who comprise the committees, as well as the program for the week, will be made public as soon as all have been definitely decided upon.

RUSHING CANNING PLANT.

Work on the H. M. Crites Canning Company's plant here is progressing nicely and quite a showing has been made this week. The foundation for the big warehouse in which the finished product of the plant will be stored for shipping, has been completed. Forms are being made and the pouring of concrete for other work has gone steadily on during the good days of this week.

Mr. Crites himself has been here overseeing the work. He returned to his home at Circleville, Ohio, Friday afternoon, but expects to come back to Tuscola the first of next week.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Christina McBride of Bourbon were issued in the county court Friday. George Hansen and Mrs. Emily Adolph, brother and sister of the deceased, were jointly named as administrators. The estate is not large and consists entirely of personal property. Mrs. McBride leaves no descendant heirs.

AT MATTOON LODGES.

Quite a number of Tuscola lodge people were visitors with lodges in Mattoon Thursday night. Members of Melita Commandery Knights Templar of this place, to the number of twenty-four, drove to that city and visited the Mattoon Commandery. It was the occasion of the annual inspection of the Mattoon organization. A banquet was served to all Sir Knights who were present and a very enjoyable time was had. The Tuscola men went in full uniform and report that they were most royally entertained.

On the same evening nearly twenty of the Tuscola Pythian Sisters drove to Mattoon and visited at a special meeting of the Mattoon Pythian Sisters. A class of thirty-five women were initiated into the order at the meeting, which was followed by a social time with refreshments served. The Tuscola women state that there was about 200 present, and that it was a very interesting and enjoyable meeting.

"NEAR RIOT."

There was a "near riot" over on Central avenue in Tuscola Friday morning. John DuVall, whose store is opposite the C. & E. I. station, had advertised a stock reducing sale at greatly reduced prices. The advertising matter stated that the doors of the Economy store would be opened at 9 a. m., and that the first fifty women who entered the store would each receive free, a package (contents unknown to the recipients. The lure of "something for nothing" was so great that the sidewalk in front of the store was completely blocked with people before the time for the doors to open. All were pushing for position of advantage, for fear the free packages would be all handed out before the crowd was inside the store. All were good natured however and there was no rough conduct. The store was well-filled with people practically all day.

Attorney Marion Watson was a Friday business visitor in Tuscola.

KLAN CAUSES DISTURBANCE.

There was another Klan demonstration in Tuscola Thursday evening. Some shots were fired and a "Fiery Cross" was burned at the west end of West Scott street.

About 10 o'clock and while the cross was still burning, some one turned in a fire alarm and the word spread that the residence of George Schmidt, the greenhouse man at the south end of the Main street pavement, was on fire. The firemen made a run with the chemical engine and hose carts to that place and finding no fire there except what was in the street to the west, went to the north side of town, thinking a mistake had been made and that it was the home of George Smith. No fire was located in any building.

There was a big crowd in attendance at the dance given in the Tuscola Pythian hall Thursday evening, by the social committee of the order. The University Five orchestra of Champaign furnished the music.

NOMINEE DIES IN CHRISTIAN COUNTY

Was Candidate for Coroner of Christian.

Taylorville, April 12—John W. Hill, seventy-four years old, candidate for coroner of Christian county by virtue of Tuesday's vote of the Democrats, died at his home at 2 a. m. Saturday, of heart trouble of two weeks' duration. Mr. Hill held the office of coroner from 1918 to 1922, then was elected police magistrate of Taylorville for a term of four years. The vacancy in this office occasioned by his death will be filled by special election.

Mr. Hill was born in Louisville, Ky., the son of George and Jane Hill. At the age of six years he lost his left arm in a sawmill. While a young man he came to Taylorville. For thirty years he was janitor of the court house, and besides serving in the public offices already mentioned, was a school trustee of the East school a number of years.

Sept. 1, 1878, he married Miss Ellen Simpson of Taylorville, who with twelve children, survives him. The children are: Mrs. Joseph Brooks, Taylorville; Mrs. Wade Brown, Hope, Ark.; George, at home; Charles, at Springfield; Joseph, of Palm Beach, Fla; Thomas, at Pawnee; Leo and Theodore, at home; Elmer, at Decatur; James, at home; Mrs. Evelyn Hoover, at Assumption; and Marcella, who is Sister Claudia, at East St. Louis.

Mr. Hill was a member of the Catholic church and of the Court of Honor. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church, though at what hour depends upon word to be received from Joe at Palm Beach. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

The polls of the city school election opened at 12 Saturday and will close at five.

E. E. Adams is unopposed for president and T. H. Weitzel and Clyd Jukin are candidates against Joe Price and Albert Johnson.

The polls of the high school election opened at 7 and close at 5. There are two candidates, Charles Greer and Boyd Dappert, with no contestants.

CHARGES SLANDER.

H. H. Simpson and Edward Minahenke, school directors at Palmer, employed W. S. Greer and H. B. Hershey Friday to bring suit for $5,000 each against H. C. Hart and Ira O. Beamer, members of the non-high school board and County Superintendent O. R. Simpson charging slander.

RACE WAS CLOSE.

J. Arthur Tolliver defeated Jake Ballet of Edinburg by a bare margin of sixty-three votes for the Democratic nomination for circuit clerk. It was announced Friday at the county clerk's office.

J. B. Colegrove returned Friday from New London, Conn., where he was called last week to attend the funeral of his father, J. G. Colegrove, a former resident of this county.

MAY CONTEST.

The Taylorville Moose band may enlist in the 807th artillery and become the regimental band, under a proposition which Col. George Seaman will make to the board members at their next meeting.

The artillery outfit will encamp here some time in July, it was stated Friday.

DENY REPORTS.

G. F. Shumway said Friday that the report that he had rented his house to Dr. L. G. Armstrong or anyone else, during his expected absence in the south this summer, was without foundation. He said several persons had wanted to rent it, but as far as he was personally concerned it was not for rent as he might want to come back sooner than he now expects. As to Dr. Armstrong's rumored matrimonial venture he says no one has any authentic information on which to base such a report.

NEW JAIL LOOKS LIKE DWELLING

Los Angeles(P)—A radical departure from the old type of jails with heavy bars and dark, ill-ventilated cells marks the new units of the Lincoln Heights jail under construction here. With few exceptions there will be no bars to mar the appearance of the buildings, which will resemble private dwellings.

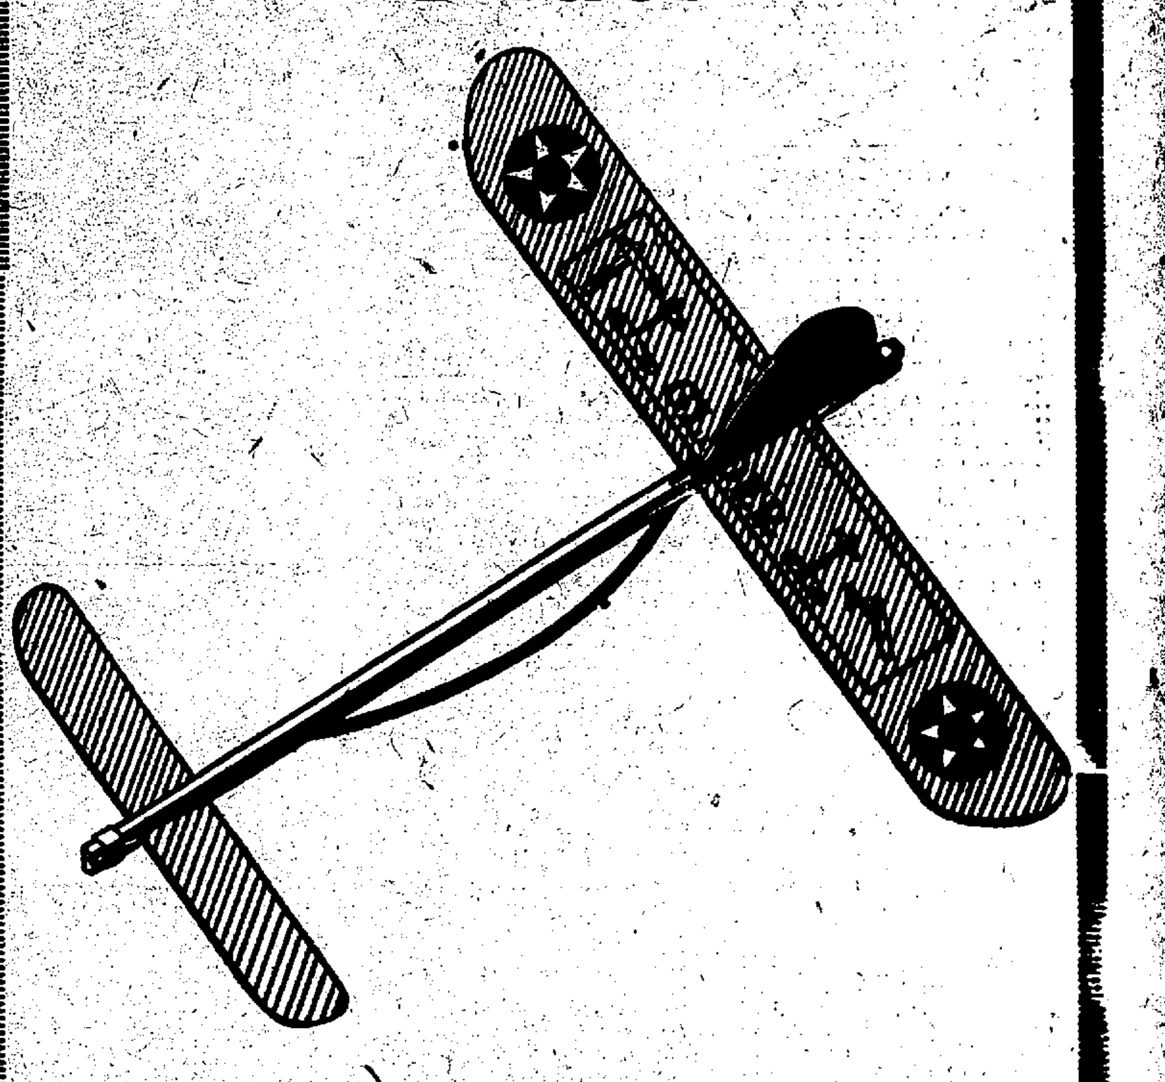
The DECATUR REVIEW E-Z-Fly Monoplane Glider



Airplanes to fly by hand have been made by manufacturers, professional builders and boys ever since they have been practical, but a lot of them didn't fly very well or far, but here is one that is sure

Some Flyer

Under favorable conditions one can throw a glider after a little practice that will go two hundred to three hundred feet. You can also make 'em loop-the-loop.

Each glider is well made and will last a long time, the sudden shock in landing will not break it, as the construction alows for much rough treatment.

Postal Employes Pay.

Decatur, Ill., April 11, 1924.

Editor Review: Referring to your editorial in Wednesday's Review entitled "More of the Same Thing." I desire to suggest that you investigate and ascertain just what salary postal employes have received during this period.

Then, I would be pleased to have you advance some argument as to why second, third and fourth class mail should continue to be handled at a loss and postal employes be kept on practically a self-sustaining basis. Other departments of our government are not self-sustaining and if it is really necessary or desirable that the post office department be self-sustaining, the postmaster general has the authority to adjust the postal rates and make it so.

The postal employes were denied an ample increase in salary in 1920 upon the pretext that the cost of living was bound to decrease.

The $150,000,000 dollars mentioned by Mr. New is merely the annual monetary value of free service rendered by the employes since 1913.

Please read the editorial on this subject in the Chicago Tribune of April 9th inst.

Foot and Mouth Disease.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 8, 1924.

Editor Review: The foot and mouth disease is becoming quite alarming out here just now. The authorities "did away" with a big herd just outside of Los Angeles yesterday. All roads leading out of here have officers who stop and interrogate every person attempting to pass from one county to another. Autos cannot turn from the paved highways without permission and in the event a person has business to transact in the restricted areas, the tires of the car must go through a fumigating process, before the party can proceed. The same formula is necessary on the return.

FINE VOTE GIVEN GROVER C. HOFF

Handed Out Only Three Cards in Dewitt County.

Grover C. Hoff, the Dewitt county candidate for the nomination for the legislature from this district on the Democratic ballot, and whose name goes on the ballot in November with that of A. A. Hill, has a mighty comfortable feeling over the highly complimentary vote that was given him, particularly in his home county.

Mr. Hoff, who was in Decatur Friday afternoon, said that he could recall handing out only three small cards during the campaign and of doing comparatively little other work in Dewitt, yet he had a [illegible] lead in every precinct and the total vote was [illegible] for him, [illegible] for [illegible] and 246 for the other.

THE FRIEND WHO KNOWS.

When comes the bitter time of doubt
And hope is vain and all is lost,
And all your strength has filtered out
And your poor soul is tempest tossed,
How good it is to turn and see
The glad face of a smiling friend,
And hear him whisper tenderly:
"The worst of troubles soon must end."

When you are bowed in deep despair
And wonder, as you look about,
If from your cavern dark with care
There is to be no passage out,
How good it is to turn and see
A true friend standing at the door,
And hear him say: "Come, follow me!
I have been through this thing before."

When all your failing strength seems vain,
And bitterly you sit and sigh
And think that never more again
The sun will clear your troubled sky,
How good it is to find a friend
Is standing by and hear him say:
"Cheer up! I'm with you to the end,
Come on, old pal, I know the way."

SACRIFICE ECONOMY FOR NAVAL PACT

Washington, April 12.—Conversion of four coal-burning line battleships of the Atlantic scouting fleet into oil burners would be opposed by President Coolidge if it would lead other nations who are parties to the naval limitation treaty, to make similar outlays in naval expenditures.

The President feels the conversion should be made in the interests of domestic economy and naval efficiency, but is opposed to any move by the American government, which would strike at the basic foundation of the naval treaty.

Follow the arrows and read around the ribbon. You will find that your sentence is broken in two places: between the words "king" and "a"; and between "with" and "cushions."

Insert the proper word in the gap and it will make the sentence clear. The first time around you must read it as two words; but on your return read it as one.

BUT, HOW ABOUT THE HOUSEWORK?

MISS ALIAS

BY DOUGLAS GRANT

© 1924 NEA SERVICE INC

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Sallie Peck, employe of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curtis. That night Sallie goes into the yard to take down a washing for Ma Brennan, with whom she lives. A crash shakes the earth and something strikes Sallie a blow on the head.

When she regains consciousness the girl finds herself in strange surroundings. A French maid calls her Alva Copeland and Madame Copeland, a tall, richly gowned woman, claims her as her step-daughter. Sallie discovers that she has fallen into the hands of crooks and is being substituted for the real Alva Copeland.

A man-servant thinks he recognizes in Sallie a member of a gang of diamond thieves and helps her escape from the house at night Michael Curtis and his friend, Captain Trevor, are trailing Sallie and Alva.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Through the old taxi driver she spoke of, who brought the young woman there when she asked him about a quiet boarding place; he remembered her very well," replied the other. "It's my opinion that the fellow who approached her in Oldham honestly thought she was Bess Hilker— possibly a member of the gang who had never seen her but recognized the bag from a description given him—and trailed her from there to Mrs. Jennet's, then telephoned to the headquarters of the gang and it was arranged to get the girl first and then the bag. When Mrs. Jennet told their chauffeur the police had taken it, and then no mention was made in the papers of the return of the missing jewels, they must have realized that Bess died in the wreck and the diamonds were lost with her. If Miss Copeland has told who she is —and she probably has, as the lesser of two evils—you may be sure they'll give her the best of care as a possible future gold mine. Society heiresses don't fall into the hands of abductors and blackmailers every day and the Ferret could have brought them all the inside dope from the Copeland home. Let's get a bite to eat now, for we won't hear from Headquarters for at least an hour."

The telephone was ringing madly when they re-entered the apartment scarcely a half hour later, however, and within another few minutes they were headed for Center Street in Trevor's gray car.

Several high officials were awaiting them in the Detective Bureau and to them Mike told as much of his story as he cared to, stubbornly refusing to divulge his sources of information, while Trevor was again shown the photographs of the Ferret and positively identified him.

"Your chief has insisted that we give you your head in this, Sergeant." The captain of detectives addressed Mike. "You want to sweat the Ferret out down here yourself after we get him?"

"No, I'll be with you myself and so will Lieutenant Trevor here, and the Ferret or whoever else in that house knows anything about the gang will talk right there, sir. Then I want to go right on and raid their headquarters, too. It's a matter of life and death but I don't want to hit the Copeland house too early, not until one o'clock in the morning, anyway."

"Have it your own way!" It was the highest official who talked. "If you can find the leader of that gang for us, and help us to break it up there's nothing down here too good for you!"

The final arrangements were made and they took their leave only to find that all four tires of the gray roadster had been slashed.

"At the door of Headquarters, too!" Mike commented grimly. "We won't go near your rooms again, Trevor, till this affair is all over. I'll step inside and tell them what happened. It'll just put the edge on them for tonight, or I'm mistaken! They'll see that fresh tires are put on and the car guarded for you and meanwhile I think we'd be safest to keep moving. It's good you have your gun still with you."

They made their way further uptown to a foreign restaurant where they drank coffee from tall glasses and played a desultory game of dominoes, but when the last order of coffee was placed before them Mike spilled his clumsily, and whispered hurriedly to his companion:

"Don't touch that! Come, we'll be getting on." He summoned the waiter, paid the check and they moved leisurely out, but once on the sidewalk Trevor demanded:

"What was the matter with it? Dope?"

"Or worse! A strange waiter brought it, but he wasn't strange to me; I saw him loitering around the entrance to your apartment house yesterday. If Miss Copeland has talked or they found the letter she may have attempted to mail to you, it's a safe bet you've been watched every minute since unless you gave them the slip for that wild ride of yours to Shaftstown."

"Then let's go to my club?" Trevor suggested on a sudden inspiration. "We can be quiet and talk there, and get a decent dinner, for none of the stewards has been in service less than ten or fifteen years. We'll wait there till the time for the raid."

The club was an old and exclusive one and only a few of the veteran members were there. To a few of them Mike was presented as an old army friend and then the two found a quiet corner where they compared notes and went over the case in every detail.

"Come on, Trevor. Time's up. We're going over the top now!"

The Copeland house was shrouded in darkness as the several motor cars filled with silent, grim men drew up in its vicinity and the raiders dispersed to surround it. The captain with Mike and Trevor at his heels and two more men bringing up the rear went to the great entrance doors and rang the bell.

It reverberated again and again through the echoing house but the watchers on the Park side of the Avenue reported that no light appeared in any of the windows and the captain remarked:

"I don't like this. Break her in, boys!"

The two men behind Mike and Trevor stepped forward but halted at an exclamation from their superior, who had tried the heavy outer doors of grillword. They swung open almost at his touch as did the dinner ones of massively carved oak and they plunged forward into the utter blackness of the hall, then stood listening.

A faint sound like distant moaning came to their ears and the captain flashed his light about till he found the switch in the wall and the hall blazed with brilliance.

While he paused to issue orders Mike and Trevor leaped up the staircase and then paused for a moment as though turned to stone, for at the foot of the second flight of stairs leading upward there lay the body of a woman. Her upturned face was thin and dark, and the short, gasping breaths issuing from her colorless lips each brought with them the moan of agony that they had heard but there was consciousness in her dulling eyes, which brightened with recognition at sight of Trevor.

"My God!" the latter exclaimed. "It's Therese!"

The captain and several of his men had bounded up the stairs but at a sign from Mike they stood back as he and Trevor knelt to lift the woman. Then they saw in the dim hall light that blood was flowing from a small but evidently deep wound in her left side and as they raised her reddened froth bubbled from her lips.

"M'sieu Trevor!" It was the merest breath but she essayed the ghost of a smile. "Do not leeft me too high or the end will come before I speak. "— all are gone except M'sieu Wheeler Sloat, and he lies dead in the hall above."

"Captain, send for that police surgeon who is out in one of the cars, will you?" Mike spoke over his shoulder in a hurried undertone. "If any of the boys here can take down a deposition in shorthand let him get busy. Good. Another of them can step carefully over the woman and see if there's a man's body in the hall upstairs as she says."

More men had come softly up from the floor below and now several went to search the upper part of the house while a young plain clothesman knelt beside Mike with a pad and pencil.

AT THE FOOT OF THE STAIRS LAY A WOMAN'S BODY.

"Therese, where is Miss Copeland?" asked Trevor in a low compelling tone.

"Dead, M'sieu, I swear it! Dead in that wreck of the train last week."

Absolue conviction breathed in her hoarse whisper. "Madame Copeland, M'sieu Sloat and I, we have queek adopt anothiar young girl with golden hair from the wreck and bring her to this house. She is unconscious, she knows nothing and Madame have reason to believe she is shopgirl but today it is discover that she is the thief, Diamond Bess. Doctor Qualters—"

"Symington Qualters, the alienist?" interrupted the captain, and the woman's eyes turned to his.

"But yes, M'sieu. He is to take her tonight to his sanitarium in the country and kill her, but an hour ago word came from M'sieu Horace Bellows, who has what you call 'stool-peegon' at your Police Headquarters, that all is known and we must escape. Me, I am in the way, they have lost the big inheritance and so Doctor Qualters stab me with some small instrument from his case, but I do not think he is so good a surgeon as poisoner, for I live to talk still a little, eh?" She paused, struggling for breath, and Trevor drew out his handkerchief and wiped the froth from her lips.

"Stool-pigeon at Headquarters!" the captain muttered, and turned to the man beside him. "Dan, find the nearest telephone in this house and call them up downtown. The sooner they get the news the better."

There was an interval while the police surgeon examined the woman, administered a restorative to her and saw that she was made easier with cushions from the sitting room. To Mike's mute inquiry he replied with a slow but decisive shake of his head.

One of the detectives who had been upstairs drew the captain aside and Mike joined them.

"There's a dead man up there, all right, with his skull crushed in! One of the household, he must be, for his picture in a big frame stands on a dresser in the front bedroom, but this skirt ain't told all the truth, for in bed on the floor above there's an old lady who's very much alive!"

The Story Of Decatur

By E. T. Coleman

CHAPTER 132.

PUBLIC HALLS AND THEATERS

A History of Decatur Auditoriums and Amusement Houses.

Previous to 1856 Decatur had no theater, no public hall, no auditorium in which large meetings could be held. Meetings were held in th echurches if they were of a religious or semi-religious nature. Other meetings were held in the circuit court room in the old brick court house in Lincoln square. Large gatherings of people were usually out of doors. Indeed, up to that time there had been but little use for a theater or a large public hall. Theatrical companies could not get to Decatur unless they walked or came by wagon. Decatur was a pretty poor town built by some very fine people.

In 1856 the town had two railroads which had stimulated it into active growth. People were beginning to say it was a shame that Decatur had no public hall and that some body really ought to build one.

Powers Hall was Decatur's first theater. It was built by William Powers in 1856. It was located on the south side of East Main street between Lincoln square and Water street. It occupied the third floor over what is now the Farmers State Bank & Trust Co. The building is said to have been the first really substantial building erected in Decatur. It was a characteristic of William Powers to build well whatever he built.

UP TWO LONG FLIGHTS.

Powers Hall was just what its name implies, a public hall. It had a level floor and a stage, our first stage. But in that hall Decatur people heard the very best theatrical talent of the time. One of the noted actors that played there was Edwin Forrest. There were numerous others of the big theatrical people who came here regularly year after year.

Decatur was a good theatrical town. It was said by actors to have been the best in the state. Moreover it was on the direct route from Chicago to St. Louis, which made it easy to stop here.

A GOOD THEATRICAL TOWN.

There were local entertainments given there of high order. The Decatur Musical Union gave their oratories, cantatas and concerts there. Captain Ira Harris of Decatur Rolling Mill fame and prominent socially gave there with an able company of local amateurs "The Cricket on the Hearth."

Abraham Lincoln spoke there several times. According to the story of John McGinnis Lincoln at one time defended in that room a man charged with murder, the trial having been adjourned from the brick court house because of lack of room. Oglesby and Sheridan Wait prosecuted the case. A seceding faction of the Presbyterian church held services there for some time.

MACON HALL.

It cannot be stated just when the hall ceased to be used for a place for public entertainments. The new Macon Hall came as a rival and in some respects it was superior. Powers Hall was taken over and used for years as a lodge room by Decatur Odd Fellows.

Macon Hall was the second public hall in Decatur built and used for theatrical and other public purposes. It was located on Merchant street and occupied the third floor over two buildings erected by Franklin Priest and Ben Dodson. The room was forty-two feet wide and occupied the entire length of the block. The stage was at the east end of the hall and the floor sloped gradually down to the stage. There was a well designed stage and it is said that the hall was preferred by theatrical companies because of the better stage.

GREAT ACTORS CAME.

It can not be stated exactly when this hall was built but it is believed to have been very early in the 60s. We have an account of its tender by Messrs. Priest and Dodson to the Ladies' Aid Society for their meetings and war work. Many noted actors and famous companies played in this hall. Among them was McKean Buchannan who played ther "Hamlet," "Othello," "The Merchant of Venice" and other Shakespearia plays. He used to come here and stay a week at a time and every night played to a crowded house. With him as members of his company were his daughter, Virginia McKean and his niece, Gabrielle McKean.

"Do hurry," the frog kept saying.

Nancy and Nick started back to Doofunny Land, taking the green frog with them.

"Do hurry," the frog kept saying, looking back nervously toward the pond to see if the brown mink was following. "Do you think the fairy will be gone?"

"I think not," said Nancy. "She would wait to see how you liked yourself."

"Well, I don't like myself a bit and I want her to change me back the way I used to be. I wasn't afraid of anything then except the wooden waddle duck."

When they arrived, there were Mister Fuzz Wuzz and Silver Wings and everybody waiting anxiously to see what had happened.

"Well, did you like it?" asked Silver Wings when she spied the little green fellow in Nick's hand.

"No, I didn't," said the frog. "An enormous beast was after me and I hear that is usually the end of all real frogs. I'd rather be made of cotton and paper and last a while longer."

"That's the way with me," squeaked the little tin mouse. "In Doofunny Land I have only the patent-leather cat and the stocking kitten to fear, and neither of them are very fast runners."

"And you know how much chance bunnies have!" declared the cotton rabbit, flapping his long, limber ears.

"The only thing is," quacked the duck, "we all miss the children. what will we do when the Twins go home?"

Suddenly the little fairy had an idea. "I know what I'll do!" she cried. "What do you say if I fix each of you up like new, and then take you to the houses of children who haven't many toys."

Instantly there were so many voices all yelling at once that the fairy had to put her hands over her ears.

"All right! All right!" she laughed. "But remember you won't stay new long. You'll lose ears and tails and get dinged and lose your paint and be left out in the rain and everything. It's always that way when kiddies play with toys."

"We don't care! We don't care!" sang all the Doofunny Landers.

"Please do hurry," croaked the little frog. "You haven't changed me back yet and the mink may come any minute."

"I'll begin on you," said Silver Wings, waving her wand.

Instantly the little shivering frog changed back into a puffy, cotton frog with tissue-paper skin. He looked very happy.

Then one by one she changed all the toys, and made them like new, except the Cut-Outs. They were so old-fashioned that they needed a new set of clothes altogether.

The Twins helped Silver Wings to take the toys to their new homes.

As for Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, he wanted to go back to his old home and live with his master, who made him.

Nancy and Nick said goodby to Silver Wings, but as she flew away she called, "I think the Fairy Queen has a new adventure for you."

Pittsburgh to Show Wonderful Infield

Addition of Wright From Kansas City Makes It Possible—All Critics Boost Him.

BY JOHN B. FOSTER.
Copyright 1924.

(Special Leased Wire, to The Decatur Review.)

New York, April 12— "Pittsburgh should have the finest infield that team ever had when it takes the field for the championship fight this year, and one of the finest in the history of baseball—no matter what league."

The speaker was Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Club, who has admiration for Wright, the shortstop Pittsburgh obtained from Kansas City, that demands superlatives for expression. Griffith bases his opinion largely on what he knows of Wright. He thinks that young player is forceful to reconstitute an infield which certainly has material of which any builder might be envious.

OFFERED $50,000.

Griffith said he had been willing to give $50,000 for Wright, and might have gone higher. He found he had no chance to get him, however, as Pittsburgh was in ahead of him. The Washington owner, who has been in baseball long enough not to be fooled by a flash, insists that Wright today is the big catch of the big league fishing season.

The Pirates trained out on the Coast this year, where few of the Eastern scribes got a look at them. They had their share of unseasonable weather and some other troubles, but all in all it was a good training season. Adams turned up with a sore left arm for Bonesetter Reese, who holds the position of adviser extraordinary to the club. Adams' absence from the pitching staff might lessen the club's chances to some extent, but Pittsburgh had discounted his loss, realizing that he couldn't run on forever.

UP TO COOPER.

If Cooper gets back into normal condition of mind and body, his improvement will go a long ways toward offsetting Adams' loss and in any event, whatever may have happened to Adams need not be taken too seriously, yet for by the start of the season, Reese may have the kinks out of his arm. There is nothing serious about such a state of pitching arm until it is proved that muscles or sinews are hopelessly gone.

Other pitchers of the Pittsburghs, including Morrison and Meadows, may be about as they were in 1923. If they are better, so much better for the Pirates. Of the youngsters, Pittsburgh has an assortment as likely to do well as the young pitchers of any other club and May, who has been a Pittsburgh annex for some time, although playing with a Western team, has had experience enough to show this year whether he is able to go on with the majors.

STRONG OUTFIELD.

The outfield is a gem. Bigbee, Carey and Barnhardt are fit to carry the burden of any nine, either in fielding or in batting.

But it's the possibilities of the infield that makes Pittsburgh look like a pennant factor. Grimm at first, Maranville at second, if he stays there, Wright at short and Traynor at third are four bluejays. Moore can be used on the infield and some think he should be, and Rawlings is a safe and dependably utility man.

Managers who have spent their days in the West and who have had a chance to see Wright play, declare that he will make the Pittsburgh infield the fastest thing in baseball. Griffith is not alone in his opinion.

"No use to talk about it," said Joe Cantillon. "You've got to see him in action before you know what sort of player he is. I tell you the American Association has lost one of the best infielders in history."

PARELLI DEFEATS SEPP AT CHICAGO

Chicago, April 12.—August Sepp of Decatur was beaten by Joe Parelli, world's middleweight champion, here Friday night in a one-fall match, which required him forty-eight minutes and thirty-three seconds to pin the Esthonian's shoulders to the mat.

Johnny Meyers, former champion, who lost his crown to Parelli in a bout at Milwaukee several weeks ago, challenged the winner.

Racing Notes.

BY R. J. BOYLAN.

For the Prince George Handicap, to be run at Bowie today at a mile and a sixteenth, with $3,000 added, top weight, 128 has been assigned to Reparation, with Rama and Opperman next, at 113 each. On his last race at Bowie, Rama will probably be the first choice. Thorndale at 107, must be conceded a good chance.

The Coburn brothers, J. A. and G. W. have arrived at Bowie from Tia Juana where they had a successful winter season. Four horses that they shipped East—Knobble, Flax, Huon Pine and McAuliffe—raced at Tia Juana in the name of Mrs. J. A. Coburn. They have been turned over to Albert Simons to train. Knobble is a former member of the Rancocas Stable and McAuliffe was purchased last summer from John E. Madden.

Will Shelley, secretary of the Lexington meeting, has more applications for stable room than ever before and many horses entered in stakes to be run at Louisville will race once or twice during the Lexington meeting, a race being considered by trainers much better than several morning workouts. Billy Evans SAYS

While the lively ball has been the source of much satisfaction to the batters and a great disappointment to the pitchers, it has also played a part in the work of the umpires.

The lively ball has considerably lightened the duties of the base umpire and proportionately increased the task of the man back of the plate.

Before the days of the lively ball, good pitching made for easy work for the plate umpire. One run decided many a ball game, and a majority of them were settled on the bases. This kept the base umpire busy.

The steal and the sacrifice make for close plays.

◆

The lively ball has of course taken the premium off base running, also the sacrifice system of play. This lessens close plays on the bases and correspondingly brings more batters to the plate, making more work for the plate umpire.

◆

Ten years ago every base runner tried his best to get a long lead off first base when he reached the initial sack. The gain of a few feet often made successful an attempted steal and aided in the chance to advance on a sacrifice.

Pitchers in an effort to cut down this end and hold the runner on, made many throws to first base. The timing of this play is such that a close decision is almost certain to be the result on every ball thrown over.

Well do I recall a game in which Ed Walsh threw over to first base an even seven times in an effort to catch the late Germany Schaefer napping. I was umpiring the bases and every decision was so close that it could almost have been given either way.

◆

In the old days when Ty Cobb reached first base it behooved the base umpire to be up on his toes just as much as the opposition, if he didn't want to be caught napping.

◆

In this connection I recall the experience of George Hildebrand, American League umpire. He came from the Coast League and broke into the majors as my partner.

Prior to meeting the Detroit club, Hildebrand often discussed Cobb and his base running ability with me. He had never seen Cobb in action but had read much.

It so happened that Cobb had one of his big days the first time Hildebrand saw him in action. He was umpiring the bases. Cobb stole three bases, stretched a single into a double and in general ran wild.

After the game in our dressing room, I asked Hildebrand what he thought of Cobb, if he came up to all the advance stuff he had read on him.

"I should say he did," replied Hildebrand, "that is the hardest game I ever had in all my life. That one guy gave me more tough decisions today than I had all last season in the Coast League."

Quite a tribute to Cobb and the part base running plays in the life of an umpire.

YANK GOLFERS GAIN BY PRESS

Scotch Players Say Publicity Is Big Aid.

BY WALTER CAMP.
(Copyright, 1924)

New York, April 12.—Does publicity puff up and spoil the young athlete?

Here in America, where a star in any line of sport finds his name in big type in the newspapers almost every day, there is a tendency to think it does. Much has been written along that line.

But now comes a prominent Scottish golfer, at present living in the United States, with a presentation of the other side of the case.

"America," he says, "is gaining golf supremacy over Great Britain. Why? Because in America the young golfer is given some recognition. In Great Britain he isn't. As a result of the publicity given the American athlete he practices harder and strives more diligently in every way."

JAPS TO FRONT.

The athletic prowess of the Japanese has been conceded in America since Kumagae, with his quiet sportsmanlike determination, captured the fancy of the tennis world.

Now there appears a young Japanese on the sports horizon who is an all-round athlete. He is Akahoski, who reached the limelight by defeating Donald Parson, four up and three to go, in the final of the spring tournament at Pinehurst.

Akahoski is a graduate of Lawrenceville. He won his letter as a guard on the football team and as an outfielder on the baseball nine. He is a friend of Kumagae's, but is built on much bigger lines.

He is close to six feet in height and weighs over 170 pounds.

BIG TEN SEASON UNDER WAY TODAY

Chicago At Iowa and Northwestern At Purdue.

Chicago, April 12—Two games will open the conference baseball season today with Chicago at Iowa City and Northwestern at Purdue. While these four teams are engaged in league games, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin are on spring training trips in the south. Wisconsin winds up its southern jaunt today, coming to Chicago on Monday for a game with Armour Tech, and then playing the Maroons on Tuesday.

Although the early dope indicates that the supremacy of the Michigan and Illinois will be challenged by several teams this year, neither the Maroons nor the Purple figures to be up near the top. Handicapped by the usual inexperienced squads, and without the benefit of training trips both teams are green and unfinished, unlikely to play real ball until the end of the season.

TOM-GEORGES TO MEET ON MAY 31

Floyd Fitzsimmons to Stage Bout in Indiana.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Chicago, Ill., April 12 — Georges Carpentier of France former light heavyweight champion of the world, and Tom Gibbons of St. Paul will box ten rounds at Michigan City on the afternoon of May 31 the day following Memorial day.

Although a few rough edges concerning the match must be smoothed, Floyd Fitzsimmons, matchmaker for the syndicate which is financially behind the contest, arrived in Chicago yesterday from New York and partially admitted that all details of the contest have been arranged to the satisfaction of all concerned.

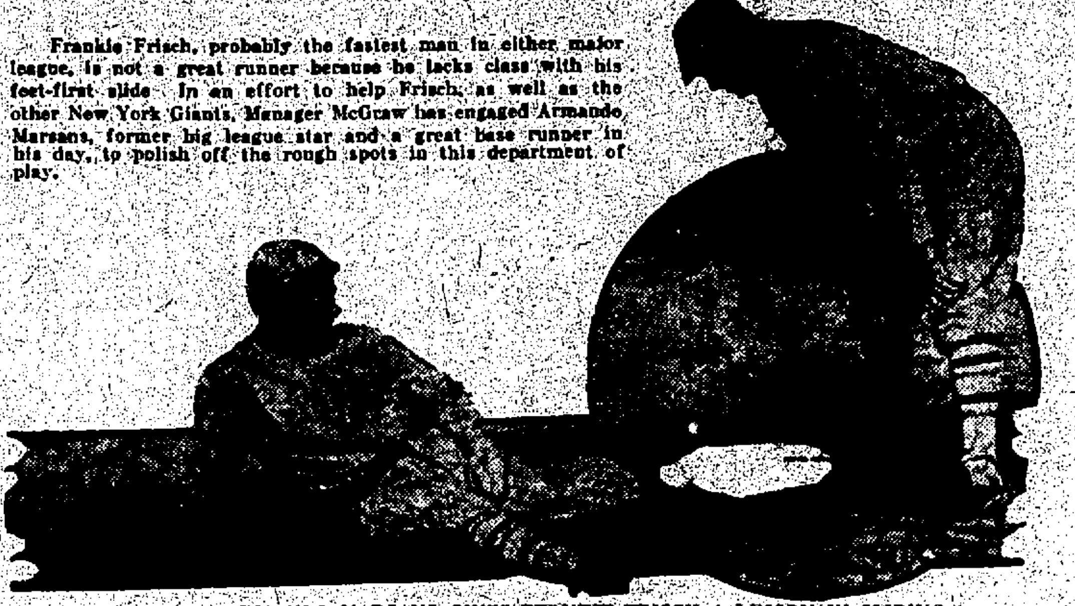
Matchmaker Fitzsimmons asserted some rough sledding was encountered in New York, where promoters have practically clinched a Gene Tunney-Carpentier match for June 16.

PAY GEORGES $70,000.

In fact, opposition to the Michigan City contest was so strong that emissaries of the syndicate promoting the bout will sail from New York today for France to make sure Carpentier will go through with the Gibbons fight. These messengers will be prepared to hand over to the Frenchman his guarantee of $70,000 if there is any doubt in Georges' mind as to the contest not taking place.

If present plans materialize, Carpentier will be in America the latter part of the month and will go direct to Michigan City to open his training camp. The Frenchman has two fights scheduled on the other side and the training he has done for these contests, together with the work he will do on the boat, should leave him in good shape to start the final lap of preparation for the Gibbons affair.

MARSANS SHOWS FRANK FRISCH HOW: McGRAW'S STAR IS WEAK IN SLIDING



Frankie Frisch, probably the fastest man in either major league, is not a great runner because he lacks class with his feet-first slide. In an effort to help Frisch, as well as the other New York Giants, Manager McGraw has engaged Armando Marsans, former big league star and a great base runner in his day, to polish off the rough spots in this department of play.

ARMANDO MARSANS GIVES FRANKIE FRISCH A LESSON IN SLIDING.

MADDEN EAGER FOR ACTION

Bartley Starts Training to Fight Harry Wills.

BY FAIR PLAY.
(Copyright, 1924)

New York, April 12.—With a long drawn sigh Bartley Madden has begun to train once more for his battle against Harry Wills, which has been transferred Newark to the Queensboro Arena in Long Island City. This is the third time Bartley has got under way for this important bout and if he has an idea things may go flooey again no one can blame him.

One good thing has resulted anyway. Bartley has got his fighting spirit worked up to fever heat. If there is another delay the chances are he will go out upon the highways and beat up a few German policemen.

LOOKING FOR FIGHT.

"I am looking for fight," says Bartley, "and that seems to be so rare an attitude on the part of our heavy weights that someone ought to accommodate me."

Here Bartley took a wallop at the punching bag and almost tore it from its lashings.

WANTS GIBBONS.

"Tommy Gibbons—why doesn't he give me a bout instead of ranging around the cactus knocking down set-ups? Tommy didn't do so good against me before that he can pull any high hat stuff with me. I'd be glad to fight him anytime and don't want a million dollars either.

"Now they say Jack Renault is going to England because he can't get any good fights here. Why can't he? All he's gotta do is drop around where I am some time and he'll get all the fight he wants. He sets up as a star. Well any man can show a cigaret light in the dark and call it a star if he wants to. I could myself. But me, I'm just an ordinary fighter, willing to mingle with anyone. Show me who, that's all."

As for Wills, Bartley says he will let the fight he makes do his talking.

St. Paul, Minn., April 12.—John Norton, president of the St. Paul baseball club, Friday placed the following players on the market: Fred Beck, first baseman; Mutt Williams, pitcher, and Moke Floyd and Johnny Reider, outfielders.

A gentleman by the name of Mouse has just won a golf tourney, and it is quite obvious that he kept out of all the traps.

Mike McTigue hurt his hand and will not be able to box for six months, which is something to be thankful for.

Alexander is said to be humoring his pitching arm. . . We aren't sure, but we suspect this has something to do with his funny bone.

Eugene Criqui wants to come back and take another pasting in an American ring. . . These French are so eccentric.

Isn't is about time that Mr. Tilden announced again his retirement from tennis in favor of the literary field?

Clarke Griffith seems to be growing less impetuous; he hasn't fired a Washington manager since the spring season started.

New York refuses to let Stribling box twelve rounds. . . Mr. McTigue wishes they'd refuse to let him box at all.

Arthur Travers trimmed Bobby Jones the other day and is now the undisputed international golf champion of Atlanta, Ga.

As long as the ancient Exterminator is to continue to race, wouldn't it be a good idea to get Pop Geers to ride him from now on?

Cambridge's victory over Oxford on the Thames is heralded as the "most astonishing upset of the year." . . And we hope you were properly astonished.

TIMELY TIPS to AMATEURS

SAYS MAX CAREY.
Outfielder, Pittsburgh Nationals.

The critics insist, and rightly so, that the lively ball is making base running—the big thrill of baseball—a lost art.

Every player has a certain hobby. While I like my base hits as well as the next fellow, still I get even greater satisfaction in outwitting the catcher, often by getting the break at the expense of the pitcher.

Perhaps the value of the steal has been greatly minimized, yet the knack of getting a big lead is still a great advantage to my way of thinking.

In most cases the difference between out and safe at a base is a matter of a step or less.

It is possible to gain that step by acquiring the art of being able to take a big lead and still get back safely.

It is a feature that is being overlooked by most players.

Don't clog the bases when you get on.

ILLINOIS NINE DOWN IN DIXIE

Open Season with Strong Mississippi Team.

Urbana, Ill., April 12.—Sixteen players are in Dixie on the annual University of Illinois southern baseball training trip. They are: Captain Wallie Roettger, O'Connor, Barta, Kinderman, Hull, Schlapprizzi, Ponting, Erickson, Paxton, Harper, Binger, Margolis, Grange, Robinson, Simonich and Jestes.

The Illini were billed to open their schedule today against the University of Mississippi at Oxford. On April 14 and 15 they will play the Mississippi A. & M. college at Starkville. Tulane university of New Orleans will be the foes on April 16 and 17, while Louisiana State university will be met at Baton Rouge on April 18 and 19.

PROBABLE LINEUP.

The probable lineup for the southern trip will be: Captain Wallie Roettger and O'Connor, alternating between pitcher and center field; Kinderman, first ball; Hull, second base; Schlapprizzi, shortstop; Jestes, third base; Ponting, left field; Margolis, right field; Erickson, catcher. Grange, Barta and Binger are other slab men who may do part of the hurling. Paxton, Harper and Grange will also get stiff workouts in the outfield.

ONLY THREE LETTER MEN.

The Illini prospects are not the best in the world. Only three letter men are left from last year's squad. They are: Captain Walter Roettger and "Lefty" O'Connor, pitchers, and Schlapprizzi, shortstop. Much of the success of the Illini will depend upon the arm of Captain Roettger. "Lefty" O'Connor must also carry a large part of the brunt. When one of these players is not in the box he will be in center field and both of them will be called on for hits, and they are both good hitters. None of the youngsters is wonderful, but some show promise.

AGED METAMORA MINISTER DIES

Bloomington, Ill., April 12.—Rev. J. D. Calhoun, 72 years old, for over 50 years a minister in the Methodist conference of Illinois, died at his home in Metamora, north of here, Friday afternoon. Cancer of the stomach was the cause of death.

Mr. Calhoun had filled pastorates in Woodford, Tazewell, McLean, Marshall and Henry counties.

BOYHOOD HOME OF T. R. IS DOOMED

New York—(AP)—The Douglas mansion at 128 West Fourteenth street, another famous landmark of old New York, will be torn down to make way for the new Salvation Army headquarters. The old brownstone structure served as the boyhood home of Theodore Roosevelt; the site of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and a saloon and dance hall with a lurid police history.

The venerable structure, overlooking a thoroughfare now wholly given over to business, is a reminder of days when the elite of Manhattan devoted afternoons and Sundays to strolling leisurely through the spacious grounds with which the old house is surrounded. Since 1907, the structure has been controlled by the Salvation Army.

DAVIS DROPS OUT OF GRAIN COMPANY

Coombe of Arcola Takes His Interests.

Arcola, April 12.—There is to be a change in the Davis, Campbell Grain company, which has been operating the two grain elevators at Chesterville, April 15. A. F. Davis of Arthur, who recently bought the Ed Collins elevator at Arthur, will retire and his interests will be taken over by Clarence Coombe of this city.

The firm has been doing the grain business of Chesterville for the past four or five years. Clarence Coombe of this city, Allan Campbell of Chesterville and A. F. Davis of Arthur comprised the partnership.

Mr. Davis will devote his attention to the management of the Arthur elevator purchased from Mr. Collins. The details of the trade were completed a few days ago with the understanding that the change should be made April 15.

Willard Bartlett, a former resident of Humbolt, has been in a hospital at Peru, Ind., for the last four weeks, following a surgical operation intended to relieve kidney trouble. His condition is regarded as rather serious.

Mr. Bartlett was born and reared at Humbolt and was a resident of that community until a few years ago.

GRADING HAS STARTED.

P. J. Goggin has had a force of men engaged in grading work on the Springfield road east of Arcola this week and with fine weather they have been making good progress and expect soon to start the work of laying the slab.

For weeks they have been storing cement in this city and now have on hand in the warehouse here almost enough cement to finish the job. This week they are building a cinder road from the storage houses to Main street, so that the hauling can be done in spite of heavy rains.

A few weeks ago Mr. Goggin was given the contract for the construction of something over three miles of eighteen-foot concrete road in Tuscola township, but the state department withheld approval of this contract until Monday of this week when it received their official O. K. The Arcola road improvement probably will be finished in July, but as soon as the grading of the Arcola roads is completed the grading force will be put to work in Arcola township and Mr. Goggin expects to have both contracts finished this summer.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS.

School elections are to be held here Saturday. Candidates are:

High school—For president, John I. Gunn; for members, J. R. Black and J. W. Skinner.

Grade schools—For president, E. R. Allen; for members, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. T. E. Lyons.

School elections usually furnish more excitement than the others and there are rumors of a contest to enliven this one. Dr. G. H. Damron is said to be a candidate for the office of president of the grade schools.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

Special services will be held in Arcola churches during Passion Week—April 14 to 18. The choirs of the various churches are to combine and furnish the music. Services, which begin at 7:30, are to be held in the following order:

Tuesday evening—Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. John I. Gunn, speaker.

Wednesday night—Baptist church, Rev. A. W. Hinkle, speaker.

Thursday evening—Presbyterian church, Rev. G. W. Stoddard, speaker.

Friday evening—Christian church, Rev. A. C. Adams, speaker.

IN THE CHURCHES.

Services at the Christian church Sunday begin with Bible school at 9:30 a. m.; communion service, 10:30; preaching, 10:45; subject of sermon, "The Source of Paul's Power;" 6:30, Christian Endeavor; 7:30, evening worship and sermon, "The Ministry of Music."

At the Baptist church—Sunday school, 9:30; morning service and sermon, 10:45; B. Y. P. U., 6:30; evening service and sermon, 7:30.

CHURCH OFFICERS.

Regular services will be held morning and evening at the Presbyterian church. At the congregational meeting held last Sunday, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mell Crews and Rice J. Moore, elders; W. R. Dimond, deacon; Lucien Rugh, trustee, Mrs. Harry Crews and J. E. Allison were elected church and benevolence treasurers. Mell Crews was elected delegate and Clarence Coombe alternate to the spring meeting of the presbytery, which meets at Pana April 22. The Westminster society postponed its meeting until Tuesday, April 15.

At the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening the Epworth league meeting will be led by Miss Irene Edgar. The evening sermon will be illustrated by sixty stereopticon slides. Special services begin Easter Sunday and continue for two weeks. Rev. T. D. McIntosh of Neoga will preach each evening except Sunday, and services on week nights will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

At St. Paul's church there will be services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Fishermen and all lovers of the outdoors are invited to a meeting which is to be held here Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the store of Hugh Cunningham. A representative of the Izaak Walton clubs will be present to discuss the formation of an Izaak Walton club in Arcola.

FREAK EGGS.

W. H. Dulgar displays two freak eggs, one almost as large as a goose egg and the other about the size of a robin's egg. The large egg, which measures eight and one-half inches in circumference, was laid by a Barred Rock pullet eleven months old. The small egg, which has a perfect shell, was found inside of an egg of regular size and was produced by a Leghorn hen.

FEAR FLUCTUATION IN FOREIGN RATES

London—(AP)—The government should take a hand in the present condition of the money exchange and enact legislation to prevent fluctuations, said Sir George Paish in an address before Birmingham manufacturers. He said that the exchanges tended to hamper trade and unless arrested the fall of all or any one of the exchanges might involve political trouble.

Rival Packers See Chance To Combat Californians

Coast Prices To Be Higher; Weather Has Hurt Crops; Sugar Values Will Also Gain.

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1924)

New York, April 12—Canners in other sections of the country today received with considerable enthusiasm the prediction of the California packers that the prices of the fruit and vegetable packs in that state must be advanced this season. If the prediction is true, the eastern and mid-western canners think they see a chance to pry some of the markets out of the fingers of the California contingent.

The California packers base their prediction on the disastrous effect unfavorable weather conditions have had on the apricot, plum, peach, cherry, pear, asparagus, pea and bean crops, and on the expectation that they will have to pay more for their sugar this year. They say growers will receive 25 to 30 per cent more for their products this year owing to the drought and predict sugar will cost California canners 1½c to 2c a pound more than in 1923.

PREDICTION SURPRISES.

The prediction for higher sugar prices came as a surprise at this time, when the department of agriculture had just announced a production 1,200,000 short tons larger than last year. Prices for raw sugar today are around 4 11-16 cents a pound, compared with an average of 7.75 cents for April, 1923. Refined today is around 8.20 cents compared with 9.41 cents for April last year. The average of prices for raws last year was 7.05 cents and for refined 8.75.

However, the California packers explain that last year they laid in their supplies around 6½ cents before the big jump in prices, which occurred last spring. In answer to this, grocers, jobbers and canners in competing districts point out that this fact was not emphasized by the Pacific cannery men during the time when sugar prices were skyrocketing, and other canners were having a hard time to make both ends meet.

DISCUSS FIGURES.

There is considerable discussion as to the department of agriculture figures. These were computed in short tons which raw sugar producers among them the California-Hawaiian Sugar company, say make the figures misleading since the long ton is usually used by the trade in figuring foreign production.

However, Cuba, according to the latest report of the Federal Sugar Refining company, produced 2,532,565 tons of sugar up to the middle of March, an increase of 113,447 tons over the corresponding period of last year. The weather there continues favorable and the yield of sugar from the cane is higher than last season. European sowings of sugar beets have increased 21 per cent over 1923 when production from this source was 5,038,665 tons, which would seem to indicate an increased output of European beet sugar of 1,057,994 tons.

DECIDED INCREASE.

The American beet sugar plantings in most states will also show a decided increase this year. This potential production will serve to stabilize refined sugar prices throughout the year, according to many men in the trade. California, however has not had favorable conditions for the sugar beet crop. Last year the state produced 573,000 tons and growers and manufacturers there this year.

Produce Review

Chicago, April 12—Swift & Co.'s Produce Review says:

"Seasonable weather over a wider area has brought more eggs to market. Easter demand has brought additional buyers into the market and values are a little firmer than the closing prices of last week.

"An increasing demand for live poultry is noted, both for current use and for the approaching Jewish holidays. Market quotations are about the same as a week ago, but extra fine carlots of large live fat hens command a premium.

"The dressed poultry market presents a different phase. Large heavy, dressed fowl are selling at a discount compared with lighter weights, as they are too heavy for family use.

"There is a large supply of poultry in storage to supplement current offerings.

"A weak and lower cheese market has brought about the diversion of a large supply of milk from cheese factories to the creameries and this is reflected in the increasing receipts of whole milk butter.

"Under pressure of heavy supplies, the butter market continued to sag. The Chicago market on 90 score, standards reached the lowest point of the season, 37 cents on April 9, a decline of 3½ cents from the quotations of April 4."

BUTTER MARKET

Chicago, April 12—Butter prices reached the lowest level so far attained this season during the week. Conditions at all points assumed the characteristics of weak and unsettled markets.

The chief contributing factor to the weakened state of the markets was the general sentiment that prices must go lower based on weak foreign markets, heavier current arrivals and a considerable storage stock surplus over the corresponding week last year.

A slow increase in production was indicated by reports of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, which showed a 3.8 per cent increase over last year and reports from smaller creameries showed a slightly larger make.

WEEKLY PROVISION AND GRAIN REPORT

Chicago, April 12—Persistent liquidating sales by holders of corn have had much to do with making grain prices this week average lower. Compared with a week ago the corn market showed ¾ to 1⅝c decline with wheat at ⅝c off to ½c gain, oats ½ to ⅝c down and provisions ranging from 12c drop to 5c advance.

Selling pressure in the corn market was evident from dealers having May contracts. Notwithstanding the near approach of the opening of lake navigation the demand for corn appeared to be far from urgent and optimism as to the outlook for an advance in prices was fading.

Although it was recognized by grain traders that all commodities markets were likely to be helped upward if German finances were repaired by the Dawes plan, the absence of any specific provision looking to increased purchase of food supplies from the United States tended to prevent the report from having any noticeable results on the wheat market in particular.

Seeding progress gave a downward tendency to oats.

Provisions were governed chiefly by the circumstance that stocks on hand were liberal.

COMMODITY NOTES

OIL.

Tulsa, Okla.—The re-drilling campaign to cut deeper sands is rapidly extending throughout the surrounding district. This section has been producing from the shallower sands for 15 to 20 years, but following the discovery of deeper oil bearing strata new derricks have sprung up in every direction.

Arkansas City, Kan.—The headquarters of the Moore Refining company, have been moved here from Chicago. The company handles about 5,000 barrels of crude daily and recently contracted its output to the Bell Oil and Gas company of Chicago.

Los Angeles—Twenty-eight new wells were commenced in California this week compared with 32 started last week. Thirteen of the new wells were in the Torrence field.

TOBACCO.

Lynchburg, Va.—A total of more than 8,600,000 pounds of the 1923 crop of dark loose tobacco has been sold in local markets. The first week in April saw more than 170,000 pounds sold. It is believed that the farmers will have their barns cleared when the sales end April 12.

BUILDING MATERIALS.

Philadelphia—Demand for bricks here is fair to good. Glass is firm in price but demand is extremely limited. Paint is maintaining the sales volume of last year.

DEEDS RECORDED

A. L. Fullmer to Edward O'Brien, south half lot 8, block 5, Durfee & King's addition; $1.

J. L. Drake to Nora E. Orey, south 8 feet of lot 12, Starbuck & Thain's addition; $60.

Lillie E. Elliott to Earl Devore, tract in N. E. quarter, N. W. quarter, 29, 16, 2 east; $1.

Minne Rehling to C. H. Six, lot 14 East View addition; $1.

LUMBER OUTPUT HAS MODERATE DECREASE

Seattle, April 12.—There has been a moderate recession in the lumber output of Washington and Oregon recently, latest reports showing that mills of the West Coast Lumbermen's association are running only 10 per cent above normal eight hour capacity while new orders are five per cent below production. The foot and mouth disease now raging in California has had a decided effect on some businesses in the northwest.

DETROIT WORKERS DECLINE BY 652

Detroit, April 12.—Employment in industrial plants here last week declined by 652 workers from the preceding week, leaving the total 237,611. This compares with 228,779 for the corresponding week last year.

MORE DELAY TO LINCOLN NO. 3

Crevice Causes Stem to Be Bent—To Fire Next Week.

Drilling in Lincoln oil well No. 3 was again delayed Friday when the thirty-eight foot "stem" was bent just as the drill was working in pay sand and the machinery was shut down to permit the stem to be straightened. The bend in the stem was caused by a crevice in the rock formation which deflected the drill. The stem will be straightened and iron shavings are to be dumped in the crevice to fill it up.

The hole is down about two thousand feet and is in the oil sand. This formation, according to the log of the well, is some twelve feet above the level in the other well, indicating that the No. 3 hole is at the dome of the oil pool. Traces of oil were present in the log as the drill passed through the limestone and into the oil sand.

FIRE NEXT WEEK.

Contractor E. E. Chrysler said that although it would be possible to shoot the well now, it was not advisable, as there was danger of the tools getting stuck in cleaning the hole, blocking the bore. If the well is not shot now, drilling will continue until Monday or Tuesday and the shot will then be fired.

As soon as the present hole is completed, drilling will begin on another hole. No. 1 and No. 3 wells will be cleaned and pumped and the oil from them will be more than enough to pay for the expense of another hole, Mr. Chrysler stated.

MALARIA CURE FOR TREATING DEMENTIA

Copenhagen, April 11—After a year's experimenting it is stated that successful results have been obtained at a Danish asylum in treating cases of dementia paralytica by injecting malaria. Thirty-eight percent of the patients treated have been restored to full health, it is reported, and 26 percent are on the road to recovery.

WEATHER INJURES ILLINOIS WHEAT

Freezing Thins Out Fields, Report Says.

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—Wheat fields in central and southern Illinois have been severely thinned out by the spring and late winter freezing, and thawing, according to A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician for Illinois, in a crop report, issued Friday.

"Brood sow numbers show a marked decrease from the number on farms a year ago," Mr. Surratt said. "Pastures have been slow in starting, and oats seeding is somewhat behind schedule, due to rather backward spring conditions.

73 PER CENT NORMAL.

"The condition of winter wheat in the state April 1 is reported at 73 per cent normal, compared with 82 per cent last year, 93 per cent in 1922, and the ten-year average of 83 per cent for April 1. A larger portion than usual of the winter wheat acreage in Illinois went in late with a consequent poor start last fall. Severe winter and spring freezing and thawing, with deficient protection, particularly in the central and southern counties, killed many plants.

"The April 1 condition of rye in Illinois is 87 per cent. The condition a year ago was 89 per cent, and the ten-year average is 90 per cent.

BROOD SOWS DECREASE.

"A sharp reduction of 12 per cent is reported in the number of brood sows in Illinois, compared with the number on farms a year ago. The decrease is more marked in the central and southeastern sections. The extremely heavy market receipts of hogs during the past winters have included more sows than the usual ratio to the total. This reduction has been due largely to the adverse corn-hog price ratio. For the United States, the number of brood sows is placed at 11,751,000, compared with 13,400,000 on farms a year ago.

"Farm labor supply in Illinois is estimated at 85 per cent normal. The demand for farm labor is estimated at 93 per cent of normal, compared with 97 per cent reported last year."

CANDLER MUST PAY "BLACKMAIL" NOTE

$20,500 and Interest Due Byfield.

Atlanta, April 12.—Walter T. Candler, Atlanta clubman, must pay the note for $20,500 he gave C. K. Byfield after the latter accused him of attacking Mrs. Byfield in her cabin on a steamer taking them abroad in 1922, a jury in superior court ruled here last night.

The jury held Candler must pay interest at 7 per cent on the note amounting to approximately $2,300.

Candler instituted the proceedings on grounds that he made the financial settlement with Byfield under duress to protect himself from Byfield's threatened violence and public exposure.

San Francisco, Cal., April 12.—Are women mostly to blame for the present day flood of divorces? And is it true that a woman's first thought after receiving a decree of marital severance is to find another man, and that she often has the next victim picked in advance?

San Francisco just now is enjoying a debate between two learned judges, equally experienced regarding matrimonial foibles, one of whom avers that such is the case, while the other avers that it "aint."

3000 DIVORCE CASES.

The indictment of the fair sex for their alleged semi-sacreligious viewpoint on the loop-holy bonds of matrimony is voiced by Superior Judge George H. Cabaniss, who, during 18 years on the San Francisco bench, has officiated in some 3,000 divorce cases.

"Not only do the women invariably have the next victim picked out in advance," the judge asserts, "but she has him parked just outside the courtroom doors. Time after time I have seen instances of women with divorce decrees on which the ink was still wet, hurry to the marriage license clerk with another gullible victim."

THE NEGATIVE SIDE.

The jurist who locks horns with Judge Cabaniss, and who already is backed by a formidable array of clubwomen, remarried divorcees and contemplated divorcees, is Superior Judge Thomas H. Graham. Judge Graham has been on the bench 24 years, and besides hearing 1,000 more divorce cases than Judge Cabaniss, boasts of having brought about reconciliations in some 400 cases.

"While I am in accord with Judge Cabaniss in his belief that it is invariably a third party who causes divorces, I cannot agree that women divorce seekers are any more at fault than men," says Judge Graham.

"Invariably, where a marriage ends in divorce, the blame is about equally divided. Neither do I agree that the women have the next victim picked before the final decree is granted.

ATLANTA POLICE CHIEF REMOVED

Atlanta, April 12.—Chief of Police J. L. Beavers, was found guilty by the police committee today for neglect of duty and swearing falsely and was removed from office.

REPORT DEEP RUTS IN O. TO O. HIGHWAY

Advise Going to Bement, Turn on Route 10.

All dirt roads in this section of the country, with the exception of the Ocean to Ocean trail, are in good shape, but the latter road is so poor as to cause the Decatur Motor club to advise against its use. In place of taking this road, east-bound tourists are advised to take the Route 10 pavement to Bement and then turn south into Hammond.

Motorists who came in over the Tuscola-Decatur road Friday reported ruts so deep as to necessitate low-gear travel most of the way. There were no mud-holes, but the ruts are so deep as to be dangerous. From Hammond to Tuscola the road is pretty good, but from Hammond to Decatur the ruts are terrible, it was reported.

SEE SHORTAGE OF LABOR ON FARMS

Washington, April 12.—A shortage of farm labor on April 1, was announced today by the department of agriculture which estimates the supply at 92 per cent of the demand. A year ago the supply was 88 per cent of the demand.

In the west north central states there is an over-supply of two per cent.

It may not be generally known, perhaps, but Frank Keenan, who plays one of the leading roles in Reginald Barker's new Metro picture, "Women Who Give," is the father-in-law of Ed Wynn, the famous stage comedian and musical comedy producer. The popular old stage star is just as proud of his son-in-law's success as though he didn't have a financial interest in some of his shows.

—:—

Jackie is using more than a hundred little boys and girls in his second Metro picture, "A Boy of Flanders," since the Los Angeles school board provides that one teacher must be engaged for every six children employed by a picture company, there are, therefore, seventeen teachers in daily attendance at the studio.

—:—

The "flu" floated Kathryn McGuire into the movies. Quite a happy case, you'll admit, because Miss McGuire is now Buster Keaton's leading woman in his latest Metro feature length comedy, "Sherlock, Jr." Feeling depressed after an attack of the "flu," Miss McGuire was taking a walk along a Los Angeles street when a friend, a movie actress, spied her and gave her a lift in her car as far as the studios. A motion picture director coming out was attracted by her beauty and then and there offered her a part. She's in the movies for good now!

STINNES' DEATH NOT TO CHECK COTTON

Atlanta, April 12.—Cotton exporters and dealers do not expect the death of Hugo Stinnes to check the upward movement which has taken place recently in the cotton market, notwithstanding the plans under way in Germany to rehabilitate the textile establishments of that country. Resumption by some of the New England mills which have been idle and longer working schedules in the plants in the southeast, according to local dealers, will assure a steady consumption of raw cotton for the immediate future. Atlanta jobbers report a decided increase in business this week, due to the psychological effect of the rise in cotton on merchants in the rural districts.

M'ADOO FAVORITE OVER GOV. BRYAN

Nebraska Democrats Write in Names.

Omaha, Neb., April 12—(AP)—W. G. McAdoo was a favorite among Nebraska Democrats who expressed a preference for president in last Tuesday's primary available returns on Democratic preference for president in last Tuesday's primary available returns on Democratic presidential preference indicate.

In 459 precincts, a few more than one third of the state, McAdoo polled 2,514 votes while his closest competitor, Governor Charles Bryan of Nebraska, had 387 votes.

There were no candidates for the presidential nomination on the Nebraska ballot but space was left in which voters wrote in names of their choice.

AIRPLANE FIGHTS PHILIPPINE BUGS

Manila—(AP)—A unique plan for the extermination of locusts which have made inroads on sugar cane fields in several parts of the Philippines, has been completed by the plant pest control division of the bureau of agriculture.

An airplane is to be used in scattering poison dust on the locusts in the breeding stages in the hills and tall grass, where men on foot find difficulty in penetrating. A hopper filled with the poison dust has been attached to the plane and the dust spreader, which is connected with the engine, can be controlled by a lever.

TURKEY IN NEED OF FOREIGN EXPERTS

Constantinople—(AP)—Messages received here from Angora set forth that the Turkish government has decided to engage a number of foreign specialists to work with the various ministerial departments. A sum of money to meet the expense involved appears in the 1924 budget. It is said that more than thirty such posts will be filled by foreigners.

Studebaker's Selling Unsettles Market

Pressure Concentrates On Motor Stock List

Early Price Movement Establishes Early Gains; New Laws Result From Attack.

New York, April 12.—Resumption of short covering operations imparted a firm tone to opening prices in today's stock market. Initial gains of a point or so were recorded by Dupont and Producers and Refiners and Norfolk and Western moved up ½.

BUYING DISTRIBUTED.

Buying orders were well distributed throughout the list but gains in Standard industrials were limited to fractions. General Electric and Dupont extended early gains to 1¾ points each and Woolworth (old stock) jumped 5¼. Other strong spots included Phillips Petroleum, American Smelting and Standard Milling.

Foreign exchanges opened steady.

HEAVY SELLING.

Heavy selling of Studebaker which was driven down 3½ points to a new year's low at 86¼ unsettled the stock market today after an early period of moderate strength in which a number of popular issues had moved up 1 to 2 points.

Selling pressure was concentrated on motors, new lows being established by Chandler and Chicago Yellow Cab, the last named breaking 4 out in Baldwin, Cuba Cane preferred and American Sugar preferred.

The close was heavy.

LIBERTY BONDS.

New York, April 12—Liberty bonds closed:

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE.

Chicago, April 12—Journal of Commerce says: "There is a fairly general feeling that little support can be expected from speculators under prevailing conditions. Strength must be maintained in the cash markets to keep futures from developing weakness. Every move that has been made by farm representatives in Congress has disturbed the speculative element and this has been going on for so long that there are very few speculators left."

Bradstreet's Report.

New York, April 12—Bradstreets Saturday said:

"Trade still shapes out as about fair, but there is some evidence that the thread of improvement noted last week in retail trade, particularly at the southwest, has grown into a good sized ribbon of spring weather and the nearer approach of Easter. It is certain that the majority of the reports this week speak of an appreciable expansion of retail trade; this, by the way, most manifest in the cities, because mention is made of country trade being slower to feel the impetus, partly because of bad roads and partly because the farmers for the first time had been able to get into the fields and begin farm work.

"Weekly bank clearings $7,615,373,000."

New York Cotton.

New York, April 12—COTTON—Futures opened firm, May 31.30; July 29.80; October 25.85; December 25.30; January 24.86.

COMING EVENTS.

Chicago, April 12—Coming Events says: "Though further effort to depress prices over the week end may be expected the list as a whole appears temporarily oversold and a fair-sized rally is not unlikely to occur in the early part of the coming week. Prices in the majority of instances are reaching levels attractive to accumulation for the long pull in the most meritorious stocks."

CORN AND OATS UP ONE CENT

Hogs Slightly Higher, but No Change in Quotations Here.

Both corn and oats were advanced one cent a bushel by local station buyers Saturday on a market which was firm but not spectacular.

Hogs also were very firm and slightly higher, but no changes were made by local packers, although extra prime stuff might bring something more than the quoted prices.

Poultry and dairy products are steady and unchanged, with a fairly good demand for stuff.

CORN CLOSE IS UNSETTLED

Advance Checked By Slowness of Shipping Inquiry.

Chicago, April 12.—All grain averaged higher today during early dealings. Firmness of Liverpool quotations led to a lack of selling pressure here. Besides, wet weather over the west, causing delay to field work, tended to strengthen price of corn and oats and had an indirect effect on wheat values.

Wheat opening prices, which ranged from ⅜@⅝c higher, May $1.01⅝@1.01⅞ and July $1.03½@1.03⅝, were followed by slight further gains and then something of a setback.

Indications that the German government was likely to accept the Dawes plan helped later to bring new upturns. The close was firm ⅜@⅝c net higher May $1.02⅛@¼ and July $1.03⅞@1.04.

Corn opened unchanged to ⅛c up, May 77@77⅛c, and with reports of good demand at Omaha scored a moderate general advance.

The advance was checked by slowness of shipping inquiry here. The close was unsettled ⅛@¼@⅝c net higher, May 77⅜c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 46⅝@46¾c, and later continued to harden.

SCHOOL ELECTION ON AT MAROA

Maroa, April 12.—An exciting school election is promised here for Saturday afternoon, there being two candidates for president of the board of education—George H. Waller and Dr. C. M. Wood. There are three candidates for board members—Dr. Edwin McLean, A. C. Ammann and C. J. Spooner—with two to elect. A large vote will be polled. Friends of the candidates have been doing some electioneering the last few days.

C. C. Littleton has purchased a new Overland sedan from the Ward agency.

Mrs. William Cade underwent an operation at the hospital in Decatur on Wednesday.

Special pre-Easter services are being held this week at the Presbyterian church, in charge of Rev. J. T. M. Knox. He has been assisted by Rev. D. A. MacLeod of Sullivan.

Mrs. Lulu Dyer and children have returned home from Indiana, where they have been visiting relatives.

A large audience filled the opera house Thursday evening to witness the home talent play, "All of a Sudden, Peggy."

H. P. Grady and daughter, Miss Mary, who were expected home Friday from Santa Anna, Cal., have wired their daughter, Mrs. G. E. Stoutenborough, from Colorado, that they will not be home until Sunday, having been delayed enroute.

Prof. Lee Correll, who has been principal of the grade school the last two years, has secured a similar position at El Paso for next year.

Mrs. Hattie Shoemaker entertained the R. A. E. club Thursday afternoon at her home here. The guests were Mrs. Joe Shoemaker and Mrs. Fred Morganthaler.

Most of the oats sowing will be completed this week.

The dirt roads have been placed in fine condition for travel, with the exception of the few places which were exceptionally bad during the winter and spring weather. The city streets also have been greatly improved.

EYMAN GETS THE FUEL PROPERTY

He Bids $26,000 At Master's Sale.

The property of the Atomized Fuel company consisting of 117 feet on East Cerro Gordo street back to the Wabash railroad was sold Saturday afternoon at master-in-chancery sale at the court house. The property was bid in at $26,000 by A. H. Eyman, who, it is understood, held a mortgage on the property. The sale included all the machinery and fixtures of the Atomized Fuel company.

ROW ARISES OVER NAMING NEW BELL

Weimar, Germany—(AP)—Completion recently of Germany's largest church bell has brought about much discord in certain political circles. The Monarchists insist upon calling it the "Kaiser's bell," while the Republicans have given it the name of "The bell of the Rhine."

The bell was cast here for the famous Cathedral of Cologne, but there have been repeated delays in shipment, according to German authorities, because it was feared it might be confiscated by the French.

KEEPING SECRETS JUST CAN'T BE DONE

Lovington, April 12—Miss Helen Shirley and Max Cummins of Lovington have just announced to their friends that they were married March 16. The couple intended to keep the wedding a secret but as usual some one found it out and made it public.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Shirley and is a member of the senior class of the Lovington township high school.

NEW RIGHT OF WAY AT PANA PROCURED

Hard Road to Enter City At De Witt Street.

Pana, April 12.—The new right of way for the state hard road, No. 24, Pana to Springfield, has been secured. The road will enter this city at DeWitt street and the city limits. The original survey called for the streets, DeWitt from city limits to Franklin street, Franklin street to Washington, to be paved. The new survey will also have Washington street from Franklin to Locust paved.

Under the new plan the state road will extend along the city limits at DeWitt, along the Baltimore and Ohio right of way to the intersection at Franklin and Washington streets, thus eliminating one block on DeWitt and one block on Franklin.

MARRY.

Miss Helen Stafford of Herrick and Edward Wilson of Charleston were united in marriage by Rev. B. F. Madden, pastor of the Methodist church of Shelbyville, this week.

Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of H. S. Stafford of Herrick and is well known in this city, having resided here at one time.

The bridegroom is a railroad engineer and is employed on the Clover Leaf railroad running between St. Louis and Charleston.

PANA A. C. OPEN MEETING.

The Pana Association of Commerce will hold a general meeting for all the members in the Pana township high school auditorium Monday evening, April 14, at 7 o'clock.

Harold Welch, secretary of the Jacksonville, Illinois, Chamber of Commerce, will be present and will be the speaker of the evening. There will also be business of importance to transact at this time.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY.

The annual general meeting of the Huber Memorial Hospital auxiliary will be held Monday afternoon, April 14, at 3 o'clock. This is the most important meeting of the year and every member has been urged to be present.

Mrs. Al Chatham, the president of the organization, who now resides in Clinton, will be present at this time and will make her report and take charge of the meeting.

There will be a number of interesting addresses and also the election of officers.

AUTO ABLAZE.

An alarm was sounded on Thursday night about 11:15 which summoned the fire department to the corner of Second and State streets, where they found the Overland car of George Lecas, proprietor of the Sugar Bowl confectionery, ablaze. The fire was quickly extinguished by chemicals. The loss is estimated at only $20.

R. H. Hatfield, superintendent of the Indiana Paving Co., now on the job on Route 16, near Tower Hill, has purchased a Ford coupe from the Universal garage.

Staff Sergeant Smith H. Kimball of the United States Medical corps, is in this city visiting his sisters, Mrs. William Gudehus and Mrs. Owen Crosby. He is on his way to the Walter Reed hospital in Washington, D. C., where he is assigned to duty.

NEW SUPERVISORS FORMALLY SEATED

Arthur Ammann Elected Chairman.

The board of supervisors met Saturday afternoon to organize, with Supervisor T. H. Richardson as temporary chairman.

Supervisors Tenney, Outten and Braden, the committee on credentials, reported the election of nine new members of the board and these new members were formally seated.

Supervisor Arthur Ammann of Maroa was the only candidate for permanent chairman and he was elected by acclamation.

A number of bills were allowed and the petit jury lists were replenished. Supervisor John Ryan, who is still seriously ill, was unable to attend the meeting.

SHOPMEN'S STRIKE COST $125,000,000

Railroad Executor Complete Estimates.

New York—Since its declaration on July 1, 1922, the shopmen's strike, involving approximately 300,000 employes on virtually every railroad in the United States, has cost the railroads about $125,000,000, according to estimates prepared by railroad executives. Further, a recent investigation shows that while the places of most of the shopmen who left their work about two years ago have been filled, many of the unions have still to call of their strike activities.

The strike was instituted when the shopmen refused to accept the cut in wages decided upon by the Labor Board. Since then the men have accepted various forms of compromise. Recently requests for increases to the 77 cent an hour basis in vogue before the order of July 1, 1922, has been asked of the Southern Railway and the Mobile & Ohio, with the understanding that the policy adopted would follow on other railroads throughout the country.

RAILROAD EXPENDITURES.

Some of the railroad officials point to the figures recently made public by the Attorney General's office, indicating that an investigation of conditions of fifty railroads shows an expenditure of $96,501,376 as the result of the strike.

Such figures, they point out, verify the estimates of railroad executives. They do not represent of course, the full cost of the strike, because a large share of the expense was borne by the strikers themselves, and by the general public, which suffered through delays in passenger traffic and the handling of freight.

An indication of the fierceness of the struggle between the unions on the one hand and the railroads on the other is evidenced by the fact that the Department of Justice expended almost $2,000,000 for additional United States deputies as the result of this one strike. This did not include the 60,000 additional guards and police officers that the railroads employed.

USED PICKETS.

The reports show that practically all of the shops and the roundhouses were picketed and that the railways were forced to feed and lodge the shopmen who took the places of the strikers. This housing and feeding took place at almost 1,100 points along the lines of the different railroads, officials say.

Records of damage to persons and property show 19 deaths, due to violence; about 1,500 instances of assault, and 65 kidnapings.

Besides this the records show about fifty attempts to burn or dynamite bridges over which trains might pass; with an additional 250 attempts to destroy railroad property by dynamiting.

Attempts were made in many parts of the country to cause delay in the schedules by the derailment of trains that would block the main line, and in the opinion of some officials this was done to intimidate passengers and thus cut down the revenue of the railroads. Various methods were used to do this, including the greasing of rails, the placing of obstructions on the tracks, the removing of spikes, interference with frogs and switches, cutting wires and signal apparatus. In all about fifty such cases were reported.

COST 20 PER CENT.

From these figures it is indicated that the actual cost of the strike to the railroads amounted to about 20 per cent of the net income for 1923.

Most of the officials are agreed that while there are meetings in various places by the shopmen and a pretense of keeping up the strike against some of the railroads still goes on, so far as the cost goes the strike is at an end. Many of the railroads have taken back the unions on modified terms and others have organized company unions to represent the employes in conferences with the management.

CALLS DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY CORRUPT

Chicago, April 12—David L. Rockwell, national manager of the McAdoo campaign, referred to last Tuesday's Illinois Democratic primary "as the most corrupt election in Chicago's history."

"Evidence of gross fraud and election theft," Rockwell said, "will be presented to the proper tribunal."

"OL" PEACOCK IS RETIRING

Veteran Wabash Brakeman's Last Run Tuesday.

SAFAR MILESTONE

Six Million Eggs Over the Wabash in Forty-four Cars.

Orville C. Peacock, better known to his many friends as "Ol" and a veteran passenger brakeman on the Wabash, is the latest Decatur man to be placed on the pension roll of the company for which he has worked for many years. While Mr. Peacock is a Decatur man, he runs on the Springfield division out of Decatur and is not a Decatur division man.

He is to go on the retired list next week. He will make his last trip going west out of Decatur on No. 9 next Tuesday morning, April 15, and will returned on No. 9 on Wednesday. This will be his last trip in his official capacity.

Mr. Peacock came to the Wabash thirty-five years ago from the New York Central lines. Most of these years he spent on runs into Decatur with Conductor Whitley, another veteran in the service, and who is still handling one side of the Nos. 9-3 run out of Decatur. Peacock was with Whitley years back in the day when Whitley had the famous old Cannon Ball run.

He talks of going back to live for a time with his daughter in Syracuse, N. Y., but his friends here predict that he will never be able to break away from Decatur for good and that eventually he will be coming back here.

ARTHUR CAIN'S EXPERIMENT.

Planned to Have Radio Set on No. 11 and 2 Saturday.

Passengers riding on Wabash No. 11 to St. Louis Saturday afternoon or returning to Decatur on No. 2 at 8:20 o'clock Saturday night, were scheduled to have some good radio music. Arthur Cain, night ticket clerk in the Wabash ticket office at Decatur, secured permission to put his eight tube Super-Heterodyne on these two trains Saturday afternoon mainly for experimental purposes on Cain's part.

Recently a special party trial radio on a Wabash passenger train with an inside aerial but did not get good results. They then put the aerial outside the car and did get good re- wool" radio fan insists that he can get good stuff with an inside radio in a passenger car and is trying it out. He also wants to see if the dynamo underneath one of these cars will have any effect on the radio by interference. The dynamos run from the car axles to furnish juice for the cars.

41 YEARS FOR SAFAR.

Dean of Dispatchers on the Wabash Has Held One Job That Long.

Sunday, April 13, marks another milestone in the years of Frank Safar as Wabash dispatcher. The dean of the dispatching force, who now holds down the first trick on the 9th and 13th districts, completes his forty-first year at that one job.

6,000,000 EGGS.

Went Through Decatur on the Wabash Friday.

No doubt there will be plenty of Easter eggs for the kiddies. It may interest them to know that there were more than six million eggs passed through Decatur Friday on Wabash trains alone. It was the biggest egg day so far this season when forty-four carloads were hauled through here on highball runs, nearly all for the east. If each car was full to capacity, the total number of eggs represented in this shipment would be 6,336,000. Other business Friday on the Decatur division was comparatively light with 2202 loads and 1430 empties handled.

Railroad Notes.

All new faces were seen among the Union News company "butchers" passing through Decatur on Wabash passenger trains Friday and it is reported that the entire force coming out of St. Louis in this direction had been discharged, due to the fact that a number of them were selling obscene literature on trains.

Fireman Ralph Rister of the Wabash has returned to work after being off for about ten days. He bumped Carmack from a turn in south passenger pool No. 2 with Stigall. Carmack took an east freight pool turn with Farmer, bumping Hanson, who in turn, bumped Fitzwater from an east turn with Welsh. Kennedy bumped Richardson from the Litchfield layover local with Higgins. Richardson bumped Clarke from Nos. 70-71 Tilton layover; Clarke bumped Spaugh from the Tilton layover switch local and Spaugh bumped Greene from Nos. 80-81 with House.

The number of engine failures on the Decatur division of the Wabash in March was thirty-four, which is quite a reduction over previous months. Eighteen of these were on passenger with an average delay of 33 minutes and sixteen were on freight with an average delay of 75 minutes.

Wabash engine No. 1061 and another engine, both just out of the shops and doubleheading, slid into a big [illegible] on the cinder pit east of the roundhouse Friday night. The 1060 had no brakes set. None of the engines were badly damaged but the terrific jar shook two of the steel support beams out from under the pit track. This allowed the rail to break and some of the drivers on the [illegible] dropped down. It was necessary to get the wrecker to straighten out matters.

The Wabash freight traffic department is now cautioning [illegible] and clerical forces that the season is at hand when much fruit and vegetables will be moving under refrigeration and all care must be taken to keep this traffic in good shape and moving and not spoiling on the company's hands. Last season $218,605 was paid out in claims on losses on this class of freight. That amount is equal to 36.7 per cent of all the freight claims paid by the company in the year.

Engines Nos. 2306, 667, 2034 and 2061 have all just come from the Decatur locomotive shops of the Wabash after an overhauling.

Most of the Springfield division freight trains in and out of Decatur, especially the highballs, have been double-headed in the last few days. This is just because the division is now returning some of the engines that belong to other divisions but which have been helping out on the Springfield line. Other engines going west to the Springfield division are some that belong there and this is what releases the engines belonging to other divisions.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

T. A. saw a sparrow with but one leg. It hopped around and seemed to be well otherwise.

—:—

H. R. T. of Pana saw two little boys about six years old playing teeter-totter on a board lying across a water bucket.

—:—

J. T. saw a woman driver try to turn at an intersection on North Main street. She would have made the turn successfully had not an ornamental light post been in the way. She broke two electric light globes.

—:—

H. D. S. saw a man slap a woman on a street car in St. Louis several days ago and the woman then bit the man on the wrist. H. D. S. offering an explanation, said the woman kept nagging the man "like a woman will" until he finally turned.

What Did YOU See?

Y. M. C. A. COURTS ARE NEARLY READY

Re-surfaced and Rolled and in Best of Condition.

The tennis courts at the Y. M. C. A. are being rolled and re-surfaced and will probably be open for play about Wednesday, it was announced Saturday by J. P. Seitters, "Y" physical director.

A new clay and sand base and surface has been placed on the courts, and they should be in the best condition of years for the opening of the 1924 play.

H. RUTHRAUFF SOME BETTER

Physicians Do Not Say Need of Operation Is Passed.

The condition of Harry Ruthrauff, commissioner of public works, who was taken to St. Mary's hospital Thursday, suffering from intestinal obstruction, was somewhat improved Saturday morning and it is hoped that the necessity of an operation can be avoided, although the physicians do not say that the improvement yet justifies a decision on that point.

Decatur

Full Time Assessor

There are many arguments in favor of making the assessor of Decatur township a full time official instead of having him, as it has hitherto been the custom, to serve a few hectic weeks with assistants hastily secured for the period in which the assessing is usually done.

An assessor who would conscientiously do his duty throughout the year would unquestionably show a profit to the township on the salary which he would draw.

He would be able to keep in touch with improvements. He would be on the watch for errors in the records.

He would not miss improvements and so carry on the tax books as vacant lots property which has been improved with buildings.

He could study and correct unjust and inequitable valuations.

The city of Decatur has grown to such an extent that the cursory survey which the limited time of the assessor under the present plan makes necessary must be incomplete and very often incorrect.

The assessor and his assistants cannot but be only vaguely familiar with the situation. The work is not their major interest under the present system of making the assessment in a few weeks each year.

Should this important officer become one who is always on duty he could make economies in the force which he must now have for the rush period which would reduce the expense for deputy assessors until the increase in the salary for his own full time would not add to the total expense of the office.

The assessment system as now handled in Illinois is recognized as being as near to imbecility as any governmental feature could well be.

It is not unlikely that a full time, conscientious, hard-working official who would make a study of the situation could help to bring the revenue plan in Illinois to a basis which would not be that absurd misfit that it now is.

A full time assessor could, without adding financial hardships to anyone, actually show a profit to the township of Decatur.

FISHING CLUB CLEAN-UP SUNDAY

Lunches Must Be Brought By Individuals.

The annual clean-up picnic for the members of the Decatur Fishing club will be held Sunday. At that time the men of the club will invade the grounds with rakes, hoes and spades and the women will bring their lunch baskets if lunch is desired. Any arrangements for lunches should be made between individuals as the club house is not prepared to serve meals.

The purpose of the picnic is to get the grounds clean for the coming season. Cottagers take advantage of the day to clean their own cabins for use.

The work in cleaning up the grounds and drives usually takes about three hours. The golf course will not be opened until May 4 and there will be no playing on the links until that time.

LIONS CLUB HAS PERFECT RECORD

One Hundred Per Cent Attendance Last Monday.

The Decatur Lions club is jubilant. Last Monday, the first meeting of the club in the International attendance contest, the club achieved 100 per cent attendance. P. G. Picknell, the only member of the club absent from the meeting in the Hotel Orlando, attended the Lions club luncheon in Mattoon in order that the club would not lose his attendance record.

As a result, offers made by Lion members several weeks ago of dinners, flowers, taxi rides and cakes, are to be taken up. The offers were made providing the club attained 100 per cent.

The club will lunch Monday noon at the Decatur and Macon County hospital.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE MANAGERS

Expect to Complete Organization at a Meeting Friday.

Managers of teams proposing to enter the Y. M. C. A. Commercial Indoor Baseball league will meet Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. for the permanent organization of the league.

At the meeting held last Thursday, representatives of teams from the I. T. S., Muellers, Mueller Fountain and Fixture Co., I. P. & L., Decatur Brass Co., and the Mississippi Valley Structural Steel Co., were present and stated that their firms would have teams represented.

Staley's and the Wabash are expected to enter teams at the Thursday meeting.

TAKE $100 FROM UNION DAIRY

Safe Cracked During Friday Night.

The safe of the Decatur Union Dairy company at 247 West Wood street was cracked and robbed of about $100 in cash some time between 9 o'clock Friday night and 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

The robbery was discovered when the checker went to work at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Appearances were that the job had been done by professionals.

Nothing else was taken, except some insurance papers. The sum of money taken was all the cash that happened to be in the safe at the time.

The police were notified and the National Detective bureau also is on the trail of the robbers.

WOLTZ FAMILY NOW COMFORTABLE

In New Home With New Furniture—Papering Next Week.

All is well with William Woltz and his family. The furniture which was donated was collected by Mr. Woltz the latter part of the week and the family have now moved in and are comfortable settled. The furniture fills the three rooms and makes a cozy home.

Papering will be done next week and the house will then be completed.

SPRING FLOWERS SEEN SATURDAY

Sharon H. B. Unit in Charge of Usual Weekly Sale.

Blooming pansy plants offered for sale in the city stores, and bunches of spring wild flowers in the Home Bureau Thrift Exchange give a real atmosphere of spring to both places.

At the Exchange an unusual amount of fine looking home cooked food was on display. The Sharon unit has charge of the management of business at present, and the display of cakes was particularly noticeable. Buying was brisk during the forenoon.

The plan being used by the units is to have each unit take the management of the Exchange for a period of five weeks. The commissions for sales then goes into the treasury of the unit but the food comes from all units as heretofore.

MARRIED

LORTON-ARMOUD.

Joseph Lorton of Ogden and Hannah Armoud of Decatur were married Friday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Judge J. H. McCoy at the court house.

FINISH CANVASS OF TUESDAY VOTE

Correct Error of 110 Votes in 31st Precinct.

CLARK HOLDS LEAD

Judges Appear Before Canvassing Board.

The canvassing board finished its work Saturday morning. The discrepancy in the total vote in the Thirty-first district, amounting to 110 votes on candidates for the legislature, proved to be the result of a clerical error.

The judges and clerks of the district appeared before the canvassing board Saturday morning, bringing with them the original tally sheet on which they tallied the votes as they were counted for all candidates on the Republican ticket, and they asked permission to amend their returns by including that sheet. State's Attorney Evans was present and said that it was perfectly legal to permit such an amendment at any time before the canvassing board completed its work, so the petition was granted.

DISCOVER ERROR.

The judges explained that they discovered the error of 110 votes that had been given to all candidates and that they had made the correction in one instance but had failed to carry it on down the line.

While John Clark will thus lose 110 votes in Macon county, it was reported Saturday that he had gained 105 in another county, so his place seems in no danger.

As stated in Friday's Review, the mix-up in the Thirty-first was caused by the failure of the judges to tally out the votes for legislative candidates. They put down the total in figures, there being only room on the sheet for tallying 400 votes. Fortunately, James Johnson, one of the judges, retained the original tally sheet, so that matter was adjusted. The other discrepancy was equally puzzling to the canvassing board. The returns showed 304 Republican votes cast in the district. That would make 912 the possible limit of votes that could be cast for legislative candidates. The total of the figures showed 1,022 votes cast. As stated above, that proved to be a clerical error.

NOT TALLIED.

Had the votes been tallied the canvassing board could have discovered if the discrepancy was caused by clerical error. As it was they had no way of correcting the returns. Justice Frank Sawyer of Hickory Point township refused to sign the report of the board unless the totals could be harmonized.

Nothing of this kind ever occurred here before, and efforts to get a legal opinion were fruitless Friday afternoon. County Clerk Patterson was unable to find anything in the statutes covering the situation, and he said the law only requires the canvassing board to report to the secretary of state a tabulated report of the election judges as shown by the returns. He said the canvassing board had no authority to add to or subtract from the totals turned in by the judges, and that if a recount is demanded it must be before some tribunal authorized to hear such cases, and the canvassing board has no such authority.

SIGN REPORT.

There was nothing to indicate whether the discrepancy occurred in the counting of the vote for John Clark or for one of the other candidates, or for all of them. The delay caused by the discovery of this discrepancy made it impossible for the canvassing board to complete its work until Saturday morning. Then all the board members signed the report.

The official canvass of the returns showed the vote for Republican candidates as follows:

F. REINDERS TO MAKE CONTEST

May Be in Only Three Decatur Districts.

It became apparent Saturday morning that there will be a contest over the returns in some of the Decatur districts. Fred Reinders will contest the nomination of John Clark. At any rate he had engaged the law firm of McDavid, Monroe & Hershey to investigate the returns from the twenty-ninth, thirty-first, and one or two of the other districts, with the idea of filing a contest.

Attorney Horace W. McDavid was present Saturday morning when the judges in the thirty-first district were allowed to amend their returns from that district, and he agreed with State's Attorney C. F. Evans that the amendment was legal. Just what claims of irregularity will be made is not yet known, but Mr. McDavid said that Mr. Reinders had retained his firm and that there would in all probability be a contest.

If only three or four districts are attacked it will not take a great while to recount the ballots, and the contest will not be such a long drawn out affair as some election contests held here during the last few years. Only the votes for legislative candidates would have to be counted.

$23.05 On Pledges.

Mrs. Kolp was hostess to the south-east division of the Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist church in her home, 639 South Broadway, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Ross led the devotions. The treasurer reported $23.05 paid in pledges and there was $4.02 in the sunshine collection. Forty calls were made during the last month. The program for the afternoon consisted of music and games. The May meeting will be with Mrs. J. W. Kelly, 827 South New.

A. A. A. AND N. M. A. TALK REUNION

A. M. Kenney of Decatur At the Meeting.

The decision as to whether the National Motorists association and the American Automobile association, the two great organizations which represent more than 1,000,000 motorists in the United States, will join forces to form one organization under one banner, was placed in the hands of a special committee of twenty Friday night in Chicago after delegates from the two organizations had waged a bitter war all during the day, the N. M. A. fighting the amalgamation, the A. A. A. supporting it.

A. M. Kenney of Decatur, a member of the board of governors of the N. M. A. attended the meeting as a delegate.

According to Mr. Kenney, an amalgamation will probably be effected eventually, but the terms of the consolidation and the name which the new body will finally bear, are things that are yet to be decided upon.

SPLIT THREE YEARS AGO.

Three years ago, in a meeting in St. Louis of the A. A. A., a group of delegates from Illinois, Ohio and other states withdrew from the Three A organization and later formed the National Motorists association. The new organization grew rapidly and overshadowed the original order and the battle between the two has been waged fiercely through the ranks of American motorists. The A. A. A. had headquarters in New York, the N. M. A. headquarters was located in Washington, D. C.

TRY TO REUNITE.

Friday, delegates from the two organizations met in Chicago to discuss consolidation. Separate meetings of the representatives were held preceding the general meeting. In the course of the joint meeting, all of the old animosities were threshed out on the floor and the N. M. A. rejected the plan of the A. A. A. for consolidation on the grounds that the A. A. A. had made terms that, if accepted by the N. M. A., would indicate that the new organization was "crawling back to the fold."

It was finally decided by the U. M. A. to leave the matter of decision to a committee of fifteen, made up of a representative from each state and the original committee of five members, which was to meet within sixty days with a committee from the A. A. A.

It is expected that the consolidation will be made at this meeting.

DEATHS

PATRICK McGAUGHEY.

The body of Patrick McGaughey, who died Friday in Oklahoma City, will arrive in Decatur Sunday morning and will be taken to the Moran & Sons chapel. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Isadore's Catholic church near Dalton City, and the burial will be in St. Isadore's cemetery.

Mr. McGaughey was born in Ireland about eighty years ago. He lived in Macon county for forty or fifty years. He is survived by the following children: Frank McGaughey of Decatur, Mrs. John P. Kelly of Oklahoma City, Thomas McGaughey, also of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Hal Foster and Owen McGaughey of St. Louis. There are five grand-children.

CHARLES NESS.

Charles Ness, formerly of Decatur died Saturday morning in Jacksonville. He would have been sixty-six years old in July. He had been seriously ill for a week.

Mr. Ness was born near Bunker Hill, Ill., July 22, 1858. In his early days he taught school at Bunker Hill. During his later years he was a stationary engineer. He leaves the following children: Mrs. Mary Wilkinson and Wallace Ness of Decatur, Mrs. Bertha Green and Miss Lylia Ness of Vileau, Mo. There are seven grand children.

The body was brought to Decatur in the Moran & Sons ambulance. The funeral will be held at the Moran chapel at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The burial will be in Fairlawn cemetery.

JOSEPH CHRISTISON.

Joseph Christison died at 4 o'clock Saturday morning at the family residence, 2608 East Wabash avenue. He was sixty-seven years old last July. He had been seriously ill for a week.

Mr. Christison was born in Atlanta, Ill., July 20, 1856. He is survived by two sons and two daughters: Charles C. Christison and Andrew A. Christison of Decatur, Mrs. M. J. Stewart of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Mary Williams of Argentine, Kan. The body was removed to the Moran & Sons undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Moran chapel. The burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

MRS. E. C. GERMANN.

The funeral of Mrs. Emilie C. Germann will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the residence, 1721 North Edward street, and at 3 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The burial will be in Fairlawn cemetery. The body will remain at the Moran chapel till Sunday morning.

ROBERT H. SMITH.

The funeral of Robert H. Smith will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Bethlehem church. The burial will be in Salem cemetery.

ARTHUR HEA[illegible] IS CONTINU[illegible]

Supreme Court Reverses Its Denial of State's Petition.

Springfield, Ill., April 12.—Because of the recent ill health of Assistant Attorney General Charles F. Mansfield, the supreme court today reversed its stand of Friday and granted a continuance in the case of the People against Opal Arthur.

This ruling will delay a decision until the October term of court. Arthur is under sentence to hang for killing Charles Martin of Monticello, but has been reprieved four times.

WESTLAWN SEWER PLANS REA[illegible]

Will Go Before Council By Next Thursday.

Details and plans for the Westlawn system of sewers, which is to be built to serve the extreme west end of the city, where sewerage has been so much needed for some time, will be completed and ready for submission to the city council by Thursday, so that the date for the formal public hearing can be set and the legal process through which such projects must go be started.

The sewer will be planned amply large enough for the territory to be served. It will be sixteen inches in diameter at the lower end and since most of the territory is on high ground the fall will be enough to get a quick run-off.

It is expected that this will be one of the first jobs to get under way this season.

Church Notes

The Ever-Ready society of the First Methodist church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Susan Bass, 1446 West Macon street. An Easter program was given. The decorations for the meeting were in red and pink carnations.

Largest Chorus.

The Intermediate chorus sang at the revival meeting at the First United Brethren church Friday night. A different choir has sung each evening during the revival. The choir Friday night had twenty-nine voices and was the largest of any during the week.

Because of revision in quantities the contract price in the Peoria county award is not yet available.

SMITH MAY BE STATE CHAIRMAN

Chicago, April 12.—Tuesday's Illinois primaries are expected to largely change the state and county committees. As a result of Governor Small's victory for renomination it is reported that Frank L. Smith of Dwight, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, may become chairman of the state Republican central committee.

Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Cook county Republican committee, has said that he will resign after several years of service. He is understood to favor C. V. Barrett, a close political associate of State's Attorney Crowe.

Thomas F. Donovan, of Joliet, nominated for attorney general by the Democrats, probably will relinquish the post of state chairman, it is reported. Who his successor may be is uncertain. Vincent Y. Dalman, managing editor of the Springfield, Ill., State Register, is being prominently mentioned for secretary of the Democratic state convention.

STATE COLONY BOYS GET TRAIN STOPPED

Springfield, Ill., April 12—(P)—feeble minded boys of the Lincoln state school and colony escaped from the institution early today and in their desire to get away piled ties on the Chicago and Alton railroad tracks and stood quietly by until a freight train crashed into the pile, and then climbed aboard.
